WARSAW IS SAVED, POLES NOW BELIEVE; REDS' MAIN COMMUNICATIONS MENACED; COLBY ASSAILS LEAGUE FOES TO POLES

REDS IN SOUTH FLEEING

Retreat 25 to 50 Miles as Poles Seek to Cut Off Main Forces.

FRENCH GENERALS IN ACTION

Henry and Billotte Personally Lead Left Wing Dash to Clear Danzig Corridor.

BID TO POLISH PROLETARIAT

PARIS, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—Warsaw now seems to be saved from the Bolsheviki. President Pilsudski's armies no longer are obliged to fight a defensive battle, and the bold offensive on both wings has reached the first objectives and the Poles appear to be pausing before attempting to develop their success.

The offensive on the left wing is being personally led by the French Generals Henry and Billotte and already has yielded important results. It has once more put the Poles in possession of the key to the Warsaw defenses—the fork between the Narew and Bug Rivers—while the forces advancing toward Mlawa, which have reached Tsiechanoff, twelve miles to the south of Mlawa, will force the Bolsheviki marching toward Plock and Thorn to beat a hasty retreat and consequently reopen the direct railroad line to Danzig.

But the manoeuvre on the right wing, along the line of Garvolin and Paratcheff, between the Vistula and the Bug, is the most interesting of the two from the strategic viewpoint, because it threatens the communications of the main Bolshevist forces. Swelled by troops freed by shortening the front in the Brody region, the movement already has gained rapid headway, and driven the Bolsheviki back all along the line toward Brest-Litovsk for distances varying from 25 to 50 miles.

The Poles have captured Novo-Minsk, a short distance east of Warsaw, according to a dispatch from the Polish capital today. The battle of Warsaw appears to be favorable to the Poles, the dispatch says.

Berlin Hears of Polish Victory.

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—A telephone message from Posen tonight stated that the Poles had succeeded in forcing the Russians back from the Vistula for a distance of fifteen kilometres.

A Konigsburg dispatch reported success for a Polish counterattack along the line Plonsk-Novo Georgievsk, proceeding from Cjechanow. A Bolshevist attempt to cross the Vistula north of Ivangorod was reported frustrated, and the Poles were said to have resumed counter operations southeast of Warsaw.

WARSAW, Aug. 17.—The newspapers today assert that the military crisis has been passed and assure the public that Warsaw is absolutely safe. The counter-offensive of the Poles is announced in the newspapers in big headlines, and the Council of Ministers has issued a proclamation which has been posted in the streets telling of the victorious attacks against the Bolsheviki, who attempted to outflank the capital's defensive.

The newspapers say that northwest of Warsaw where the Poles have shoved the Reds to the northeast across the Wkra River, the Poles already have taken more than 2,000 prisoners and much war material. Radzymin, which the Poles held three times, is now considered fairly secure from their attacks. The town is being visited daily by residents of Warsaw who have permission to visit the front.

The natives who refused to evacuate Radzymin say that the Bolsheviki robbed the houses, taking everything of value they could find, and also burned several buildings.

One of the Bolshevist officers seen in Radzymin was a German. He wore the usual shiny German steel helmet, many thousands of which were taken to the United States by doughboys as souvenirs when the Germans were driven out of France.

Say Bolshevist Troops Mutiny.

Bolshevist forces are advancing without any concern for their lines of communication, according to statements of refugees gathered by the Warsaw Gazette. They have thus lost all touch with the bases of operation, and refugees state they had not the slightest difficulty in leaving their villages, for there was nothing behind the relatively thin Bolshevist front line. They declared it was possible to travel many

Trotzky Calls for Volunteers to Fight Wrangel; Anti-Red Army in South Sweeps Across the Donetz

MOSCOW, Aug. 18.—In the course of an address today at a meeting in the Opera House, held in honor of Bela Kun, Communist leader and former Foreign Minister of Hungary, Trotzky issued a call for volunteers for service on the southern front. His speech was devoted almost entirely to an exposition of a series of measures by which, he declared, France and England had directly and indirectly aided General Baron Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevist leader in South Russia. It was greeted with much enthusiasm.

Speaking later at a meeting of the Moscow Soviet the War Minister said:

"On General Wrangel's front we are opening the gates wide to our enemies, but we shall assault them in the flank and rear. The fate of the revolution will be decided on the Polish front. This is why we have concentrated our forces in the west and are only leaving posts on the southern front in order to hold up Wrangel's advance."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 16.—An official communication issued Monday from Army Headquarters of General Baron Wrangel reports further advances against Bolshevist forces in South Russia. The anti-Bolshevist forces claim the capture of a number of villages in the Provinces of Taurida and the Don and the crossing of the Donetz River in this region.

Cossack troops are said to have revolted against the Soviet Government and joined forces with General Wrangel, who is also reported to have the support of the entire population of the country.

OUR HELP LIMITED, COLBY TELLS POLES

Many Here Look Upon Crisis in Eastern Europe with Satisfaction, He Says.

FLOUT TREATY MACHINERY

He Repeats Government's Pledge to Do All It Can to Preserve Polish Independence.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Secretary of State Colby, speaking today to the representatives of American citizens of Polish birth or extraction who had called to urge American aid for Poland, told them that the executive arm of the Government as "the source of some measure of initiative and of action" was limited, and for this reason Poland in her day of stress must look to the true sources of power, namely, public opinion as it works through Congress.

The Secretary added that "there are many, many people in this country who are surveying the conditions that now exist in Central Europe with a satisfaction that they make no attempt to conceal." He went on to describe them as people who are "outspokenly opposed to any form of intervention, no matter how desperate the conditions or circumstances may be, that call upon us for active effort."

The delegates, who came from all parts of the country, met on the roof of the Hotel Washington before going to the White House and after that to the State Department.

Secretary Colby was waiting when the delegation arrived at the Department of State. Colonel Fronczak presented the case of the Poles in a short address.

Secretary Colby, who spoke extemporaneously, began by assuring the delegates that he was conscious of the significance of their visit, and he added that he appreciated their desire to "see this country which you have chosen for your own act in a manner that promises effective succor and relief."

No result of the war, the Secretary said, had been received with greater satisfaction in this country than was the creation of the Polish Republic.

Situation "Grave and Critical."

"The situation in Poland," continued the Secretary, "is perceived by the whole world to be grave and critical. The attitude and the feelings of this Government are not left to speculation. They are not open to doubt. Its recent pronouncement on the question must satisfy every one of the depth and genuineness of American interest in Polish independence.

"You must bear certain facts in mind. The United States is a Government of laws. Its officials are created by law. Their powers are defined by law. The law-making power imposes certain limitations upon their freedom of individual initiative and action. This is the Government which you have subscribed to, of which you are a part, and you should bear in mind constantly its constitutional processes. They measure the power of this Government even as the bearers of succor and relief to hard-pressed Poland.

"People are prone to look to the Executive as a source of plenary power, able to do anything that it is prompted to do, able to make any response that it is moved to make by the compelling nature of the appeal that may be addressed to it. It is particularly natural for men not more than one or two generations removed from European forebears to fall into that erroneous assumption about this Government.

"You must bear in mind, however, that this isn't that kind of a Government. You must look, of course, to the executive arm of the Government as the source of some measure of initiative

FRENCH IN BATTLE WITH SILESIA MOB

POLISH LEADER IS LYNCHED

Negotiations for Disarming the Troops Reported by Berlin—Firing Kept Up Many Hours.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Latest reports in Berlin today on fighting between French troops and the inhabitants of the town of Kattowitz, Upper Silesia, give the number of German dead as twenty and the French as seven, according to wireless dispatch from Berlin.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—French troops clashed with inhabitants of Kattowitz, an important mining town of Upper Silesia, yesterday, eleven persons being killed and twenty-six wounded. Polish troops attempted to break up a mass meeting at Rybnik, about twenty-five miles southwest of Kattowitz, and in the resulting disorder one person was killed and four were wounded.

Captain Kleis of the security police was shot dead while trying to pacify an excited crowd at the Kattowitz Railway Station today, says a telegram from that city.

The Interallied Commission is reported to have forbidden the publication of five newspapers in Upper Silesia for a period of one week.

Workers in all the towns in Upper Silesia struck at noon yesterday as a protest against the war between Russia and Poland. All public utilities were halted from 12 to 7 o'clock in the evening, and all restaurants and stores were closed. Meetings of trade unions were held everywhere in the interests of neutrality, and demands were made for the creation of a commission to control the transportation of troops.

A crowd at Kattowitz attacked a detachment of French cavalry, killing one trooper, whereupon the French opened fire with machine guns and grenades, killing nine and wounding twenty-six.

M. Milewski, a lawyer and a local Polish leader, threw a grenade from a window, and was dragged from his house and killed.

Uninterrupted rifle fire and hand grenade explosions were reported to be proceeding at 1 o'clock this morning at Kattowitz.

In view of the seriousness of the situation the French officer commanding at the office of the Interallied Commission was said to be negotiating direct with the crowd, and it was alleged held out the prospect of the soldiers' arms being surrendered.

Another report said the occupational troops were prepared to deliver their arms to the custody of the security police. A trade union delegation at 9 o'clock last night entered into direct negotiations with the Interallied Commission and demanded disarmament of the occupational forces. The delegates offered safe conduct for the troops on their departure. The French military commandant, Colonel Blaucart, said he would rather die than agree to this, according to the report.

CORK MAYOR IN LONDON JAIL

Arrives Under Heavy Military Escort, Ill from Hunger Strike.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Terence MacSweney, Lord Mayor of Cork, arrived here today under heavy military escort, having been deported from Ireland under a court-martial sentence. He has been lodged in prison.

The Lord Mayor was still on hunger strike and was looking ill when he reached the city.

The sentence passed by the court-martial in Lord Mayor MacSweney's case has not been announced.

Open Break Ends Coal Parley at Cleveland; Miners to Confer and Appeal to President

CLEVELAND, Aug. 18.—The joint scale committee of operators and miners of the central competitive bituminous coal fields—comprising Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Western Pennsylvania—adjourned sine die shortly before midnight without reaching any agreement after having been in session five days.

Following adjournment of tonight's conference it was announced that the miners would hold a separate caucus here tomorrow morning, when a telegram will be prepared and sent to President Wilson informing him of the failure of the conference to reach any agreement in line with his request.

The telegram will state that the failure to reach an adjustment was because the operators failed to submit any proposition adequate to meet the requirements of justice to the miners.

At tonight's meeting a motion was offered by P. H. Penna, an Indiana operator, that the conference notify President Wilson of its inability to reach a decision and requesting him to create a commission such as was recommended by the Bituminous Coal Commission to determine controversies between miners and operators, and that the mines be kept at work pending a decision by this commission.

The operators unaniously voted in favor of this motion and the miners voted against it.

Ellis Searles, editor of The United Mine Workers' Journal, said tonight that the failure of the conference to reach an agreement did not mean that there would be a strike of coal miners.

"There is nothing in the present situation," Mr. Searles said, "to cause the public to fear a strike of coal miners. The mine workers still feel confident that before the final chapter is written full justice will be done to them."

"The operators, however, took a different view of the situation, one prominent Illinois operator predicting that the failure of the conference to reach an agreement would precipitate strikes in Illinois.

He said that reports received tonight were to the effect that several mines in Illinois and Indiana had closed down today because of the conference's failure to settle the differences.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ANTWERP, Aug. 18.—One Olympic record was broken today, but the honor performance did not fall to an American. It was the Canadian hurdler, Earl Thomson, who took the palm, beating Forrest Smithson's record of 15 seconds by a fifth of a second. Smithson made his record in the Olympic games at London in 1908. Yesterday both Thomson and the American, H. E. Barron, ran their heats in 15 seconds and the race was conceded to rest between them. Both men went out for it. The start was perfect. Six runners—three Americans, a Swede, a Canadian and a New Zealander—went over the first hurdle together. At 50 meters Barron was leading by half a stride, but the big Canadian began to stretch himself over the hurdles and, with a perfectly timed stride, made up the distance and more before the next to the last hurdle. At the finish there were two yards between him and Barron, who had second place easily from Fred Murray, with Walker Smith, fifth, behind the New Zealander.

Americans in a majority of the other events were out of luck. Sol Butler having lost a place in the final of the running broad jump, owing to his accident on his first jump, when he pulled a tendon, from which he is still suffering. Templeton and Johnson were the only American representatives. Johnson finished second and Templeton was fourth. The longest jump by Peterson measured 7.15 meters, and, amid wild outcries of the Swedish fans, the blue flag with the yellow cross was hoisted for the first time over the stadium gate.

McDonald Finishes Fourth.

Other finals of the day were the sixteen-pound shot put and the 10,000-meter walk. Neither fell to America. Pat McDonald, who was as nervous as a girl at her first dance, fell far short of his former performances, taking only fourth place behind Liversedge. The first two were Finlanders, the longest toss being that of Porkola, 1,481 meters, a distance which McDonald has often far surpassed.

The 10,000-meter walk resulted in a beautiful win for the Italians. For nearly half the way the American, Pearman, led the field with a kind of double-jointed knee action which is peculiarly his own. He kept up almost the same pace throughout, and when the Italian, Frigerio, passed him seemed incapable of speeding up.

The little Italian walked a clean walk all the way at tremendous speed, though once, when indulging in a duel with the Australian, Parker, he appeared on the point of breaking into a run. At the finish he was 250 meters in front of Pearman, who throughout

COX TO EMPHASIZE PEOPLE'S WAR PART

He Asks That Disabled Soldiers and Bereaved Families Have Reserved Seats at Meetings.

MAY SPEAK WITH HARDING

Both Candidates Accept Invitation to Visit Ohio State Fair on Aug. 31.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 18.—In his speeches up to this time Governor Cox has stressed the point that the Republican Party, in its platform, failed to make any reference to the war record of the American people, either in regard to the soldiers or the sacrifices and sorrows of those who stayed at home. He has charged that this was done deliberately in the effort to discredit President Wilson and prevent the Administration, if possible, from obtaining any credit for the winning of the war.

Something of the feeling which Governor Cox has in this matter was shown in a letter, dated Aug. 17, which he sent to Senator Harrison and which was made public today. It read:

Aug. 17, 1920.

Hon. Pat Harrison, Chairman Speakers' Bureau, Democratic National Headquarters, Grand Central Palace, New York City.

My Dear Senator Harrison:

In my preliminary campaign meetings I have noticed an unusual interest in discussing the League of Nations as a means of keeping faith with those who supported the war with their all.

This interest especially is among disabled soldiers and their friends and those bereaved by war. Because of this I would respectfully suggest that in future meetings arranged for by you for me and any other national speaker the local committees be asked to arrange that several rows of seats near the speakers' platform be reserved for disabled and other soldiers and their families, as well as families of those whose loved ones died in the war. Very truly yours,

JAMES M. COX.

Governor Cox spent today at the State House conferring with leaders from various parts of the State and with Senator Harrison. He said he was satisfied Ohio would be in the Democratic column next Fall. He was anxious, he added, to get out into the nation and tell the people the real message.

Governor Cox will go tonight to South Bend, Ind., where he will deliver three addresses tomorrow. The principal address will be before the Indiana Editorial Association.

He will return to Columbus on Friday morning and on Saturday will go to Canton, Ohio, stopping on the way to speak in Orryville, Ohio. It is expected that he will emphasize the League of Nations issue in these addresses.

In their talk over plans for the tour of the West Governor Cox remarked to Senator Harrison:

"That schedule is an easy one. There are only two or three speeches a day arranged. Why, in my fights in Ohio I made eight or ten a day."

Tentative plans are for the Governor to start for the Far West on Sept. 2, which would make it impossible for him to fill an engagement in West Virginia on Labor Day.

There is a chance that Governor Cox and Senator Harding may speak from the same platform on Aug. 31, which is known as "President's Day" in Ohio. Both Governor and Senator have been invited to attend the Ohio State Fair in Columbus on that date. Governor Cox has accepted. It was reported here today that Senator Harding also had accepted.

Governor Cox will leave on Aug. 24 on a trip which will take him into the Middle West and East and get him back here in time for the State Fair.

He will speak at Princeton, Ind., on Aug. 25, at noon, and at Evansville, Ind., in the evening. On Aug. 26 there will be an evening meeting in Pittsburgh. The afternoon and evening of Aug. 27 will be spent in New Haven, Conn., and on Aug. 28 and 29 Governor Cox will be in New York. He will leave New York on the evening of Aug. 29 to return to Columbus.

TENNESSEE COMPLETES SUFFRAGE VICTORY; MOVE TO RECONSIDER IS FEARED TODAY; PARTIES SPUR BATTLE FOR WOMEN'S VOTES

Cox and Harding Hail the Victory for Suffrage; Mothers Will Check War, Democratic Nominee Says

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 18.—When told today of the Tennessee Legislature's ratification of the suffrage amendment, Governor Cox said:

"The civilization of the world is saved. The mothers of America will stay the hand of war and repudiate those who traffic with a great principle.

"The action of the Tennessee Legislature has another significance. It is an earnest of the Democratic policy to pay its platform obligations."

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 18.—Expressing satisfaction with the action of the Tennessee Legislature today in completing ratification of the suffrage amendment, Senator Harding said:

"All along I have wished for the completion of ratification, and have said so, and I am glad to have all the citizenship of the United States take part in the Presidential elections.

"The Republican Party will welcome the response of American womanhood to its appeal to the confidence of all our people."

WHITE AND HAYS FELICITATE WOMEN

See Gains for Both Parties—Women Politicians Plan an Active Campaign.

DEMOCRATS ARE CONFIDENT

Leaders and workers at both the Democratic and Republican national headquarters here were stirred yesterday by the news of Tennessee's ratification of the suffrage amendment and in both camps preparations were started to extend the political campaigns to the women who, unless the Tennessee Assembly rescinds its action, will vote in the November Presidential election.

Both of the parties claim an advantage through the addition of women generally to the electorate and both Democrats and Republicans claim credit for the victory. Dudley Field Malone, third party candidate for Governor, who has long been an ardent suffragist, declared, on the other hand, that "the militant spirit of the women alone has won the victory and this same spirit will prevent them from being herded into any party."

"The women of America have passed through serious trials in their efforts to secure the right of the ballot, and the action of the Tennessee Legislature is the consummation of their hopes and aspirations. Tennessee has responded to the call and holds the proud position of furnishing the vote by which the Nineteenth Amendment has been ratified. The Democratic Party welcomes the women of the nation and awaits their votes in November with confidence as to the results."

Amplifying his statement, Mr. White said to newspaper men: "Whatever the Republicans have tried to do with regard to suffrage they have failed, and it remained for the Democratic leaders to put suffrage through."

Chairman Hays, at the headquarters of the Republican National Committee, issued this statement:

"I cannot too strongly voice the gratitude which I feel that the suffrage amendment is ratified. Both parties recognize that the effects of the approaching Presidential election will influence our national life, for weal or for woe, for at least fifty years. There has never been an election in which it was more important for opinion and sentiment to express themselves.

"[illegible] constitutional right given to the [illegible] of American women, we will liberate a body of public opinion upon the campaign and its issues which will prove itself one of our greatest national assets.

"We want these women in politics. We want them in politics this year more than ever before. Ratification of the amendment clears the political atmosphere and makes possible the functioning of a very great element for good in our political life, and is a final triumph of supreme justice for American women. Again, I say, I cannot too strongly voice my gratitude."

Palmer Sees Gains for Democrats.

Attorney General Palmer, who was a visitor yesterday to Democratic headquarters, predicted that the ratification of the suffrage amendment would aid the Democrats. "Not that the women will vote the Democratic ticket out of gratitude," Mr. Palmer said, "but because the Democratic Party is standing on the right side of the great moral questions that are the issues in the campaign. The women may always be relied upon to take the right side on a great moral question."

Telegrams were sent by the Woman's Bureau of the Democratic National Committee to the Democratic national candidates. The telegram to Governor

COLBY TO PROCLAIM SUFFRAGE PROMPTLY

WOMAN'S PARTY JUBILANT

Chairman Wires Thanks to Cox and Harding — 22,000,000 Women May Vote in November.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Immediately upon getting the news today that the Tennessee House had ratified the woman suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution, Miss Alice Paul, Chairman of the National Woman's Party, and other suffrage workers asked Secretary of State Colby to issue the proclamation declaring the adoption of the amendment as part of the Constitution as soon as official notification had been received of the affirmation given by the State of Tennessee.

Secretary Colby said that, while there had been a suggestion that the proclamation should be issued immediately he thought it would be the part of legal wisdom to wait until the State of Tennessee had certified that it had ratified. All arrangements have been made for proclaiming the new amendment promptly. Under its terms the amendment becomes part of the Constitution as soon as it is proclaimed by the State Department.

All the thirty-five States that had previously ratified the suffrage amendment have certified the fact to the State Department, and all that remains to make the amendment effective is the receipt of the official notification of Tennessee's action. It is asserted that the amendment becomes operative as soon as it is ratified by the thirty-sixth State, and that proclamation by the State Department is a mere detail. According to this contention, the failure of the Secretary of State to proclaim the amendment would not prevent its inclusion in the Constitution. However, as no question has been raised formally in this instance, the State Department will wait for formal notification before the proclamation is issued.

The Woman's Party has wired Sue White, its Tennessee State Chairman, to have the certificate of ratification forwarded at once to Secretary Colby in order that he may have it on hand to sign it the moment the time for reconsideration has expired.

No Fear of Efforts to Reconsider.

"We do not fear the results of the efforts to reconsider," Miss Paul said, "but we shall, of course, do everything possible to prevent such action. We are informed by our workers in Nashville that the forces opposing suffrage, as soon as the vote was taken, began attacks on our men to induce a sufficient number of them to remain at home for the next two days in order that the reconsideration measure might be passed and the amendment defeated.

"They are reported to be saying to our men: 'You have done everything you need to do now to please the suffragists; all you need to do for us is to stay at home for two days.' We are confident that none of the men who voted for us today will agree to such tactics.

"The vote in the Tennessee House today showed that we had one more vote than the necessary clear majority of fifty, since the two men who failed to vote were strong suffragists. One of them was unable to leave his home because of his own illness, the other was with his wife, who is critically ill. Both of these absent men were Republicans.

"In addition to these two men fourteen Republican members voted for ratification, which means that the Republicans have enlisted on the side of ratification more than a majority of their delegation in the House—a record of which they may well be proud."

The United States Attorney General has announced that no legislation will be necessary to make the Amendment operative, since the Suffrage Amend-

TWO DAYS LEFT FOR ACTION

CONVERTED BY HIS MOTHER

Legislator Whose Vote Turned the Scale Is Lionized by the Suffragists.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—The amendment extending equal suffrage to American women was ratified today for inclusion in the Federal Constitution, the lower house of the Tennessee Legislature voting 50 to 46 to concur in the Senate resolution adopted Friday, 25 to 4. The action of the House made Tennessee the thirty-sixth State to approve the amendment.

There is still a possibility that the House may rescind its action. At the last moment Speaker Walker, leader of the anti-suffrage forces, changed his vote form "nay" to "yea," paving the way for a motion to reconsider. Under House rules he can present such a motion within the next two legislative days.

If today's vote is confirmed, or if the House fails to take further action before adjournment Friday, millions of women will be free under the amendment to vote in the Presidential election next November. Only successful litigation contesting the legal right of this Legislature to ratify the section could prevent them. Steps toward such a test of the provisions of the Tennessee Constitution involved already have been taken by the Tennessee Constitutional League.

First Test Vote a Tie.

Ninety-six of the ninety-nine members of the House were present today, and the alignment, until a vote on concurrence was taken, was a tie, each faction polling forty-eight votes on a motion by Speaker Walker to table the resolution. On the ballot for concurrence the lineup was 49 to 47 until the Speaker changed his vote. This apparently would give the suffragists an advantage of only two votes, but their leaders declared tonight that members in favor of suffrage, who were absent today, would arrive probably tomorrow morning.

The motion to reconsider may be carried by a majority vote of the members present, and since Mr. Walker can act without a moment's notice, the suffragists have planned to be on hand in full force during the next two days.

Suffrage leaders said they expected no defections among their forces, but as a precaution were tightening their lines tonight, while opposition leaders were waging an active campaign to increase their strength for a final effort.

The end came suddenly. Debate on the motion to concur had been in progress little more than an hour, and there was no indication that a vote was imminent when Speaker Walker called Representative Overton to the chair and took the floor to reply to a suffragist who had charged that special interests were at work to defeat ratification.

"The battle has been won, and the measure has been defeated," Mr. Walker said. "I resent the iniquitous remarks that special interests are here alone against this measure. I resent this on behalf of the womanhood that is both for and against suffrage. I move that this measure go where it belongs, to the table."

Uproar Follows Motion to Table.

Instantly the Chamber was in an uproar. Suffragists clamored for recognition, while a chorus of "Second the motion" came from the antis. Mr. Overton, however, refused to recognize any one and ordered the roll called. The result was in doubt on unofficial tallies. An appeal to the clerk developed that his tally showed a tie, 48 to 48.

Pandemonium reigned. Members left their seats and crowded around the Speaker's stand, many demanding another roll call.

Mr. Overton, who occupied the chair during the remainder of the session, ordered a second roll call, which showed a tie of 48 to 48, and declared the motion lost for want of a majority.

Instantly the anti-suffragists demanded a vote on the original motion to concur in the Senate action. If another tie resulted it meant rejection of the amendment. When the Speaker put the motion hundreds of suffragists regarded the battle as lost.

Member Breaks from "Antis."

The vote at the outset was on partisan lines, but when the name of Representative Harry T. Burn, Republican, of McMinn County, was called, he voted "Aye." The opposition then virtually conceded defeat, for Mr. Burn had voted with them to table the resolution, and his change gave the suffragists the needed majority.

The attitude of other members was unchanged until the name of Representative B. P. Turner, Democrat, of Gibson

County, was reached, and he passed. Instantly there was a shout of satisfaction from the antis. He had voted against the motion to table, and his failure to vote again balanced the opposing forces; but just before the end of the roll call Mr. Turner requested the Clerk to record him as voting "Aye."

Mr. Turner had said repeatedly that he would vote neither for nor against rati-vote for the amendment.

The suffragists launched an uproarious demonstration before the clerk announced the vote, for there was no question that they had won. Women screamed frantically. Scores threw their arms around the necks of those nearest them and danced, so far as it was possible to do so, in the mass of humanity. Hundreds of suffrage banners were waved wildly, and many removed the yellow flowers they had been wearing and threw them upward to meet a similar shower from the galleries.

There were few tears of joy shed by the suffragists. Some wiped their eyes, but, on the whole, they considered it no time for weeping. Their happiness was far beyond that stage.

A motion to adjourn until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning was offered after the official vote was announced, but in the uproar it was doubted whether any members heard it or whether it was seconded. The Speaker put the question, called for the "yeas" and "nays" and announced gravely that the motion had been carried unanimously.

Talk of Attacks on Legal Grounds.

The announced intention to attack the legality of ratification if the House failed to rescind its action was the subject of conferences held tonight by the suffrage leaders and the leaders of the opposition. The clause of the Tennessee Constitution upon which would be based the test in the courts is Article 2, Section 32. It follows:

"A convention or General Assembly of this State shall not act act upon any fication unless it was evident that his vote was needed, but in that event would amendment of the Constitution of the United States proposed by Congress to the several States unless such convention or General Assembly shall have been elected after such amendment is submitted."

The present Legislature was elected in November, 1918, and the suffrage amendment was not submitted to the State until months afterward.

The article was adopted in 1870 as a result of the ratification by the Tennessee Legislature of the Fourteenth Amendment in the reconstruction days after the civil war. White citizens of Tennessee were not represented in that Legislature, it is said, and to prevent ratification of amendments by similar tactics, the adoption of the article was one of the first things effected after the whites' civil rights were restored.

The Supreme Court of the United States in deciding recently a case originating in Ohio, held void a clause in the Constitution of that State relating to referendums on amendments. Acting on opinions given by W. L. Frierson, Solicitor-General of the United States, and State's Attorney-General Thompson, Governor Roberts called the present Legislature in extraordinary session to act on the Suffrage Amendment, declaring that he had been assured that the Supreme Court's ruling in the Ohio case served to nullify the article in the Tennessee Constitution.

The opponents of suffrage in Tennessee held that the two cases were not parallel, and that action by the present Legislature would be in violation of the State Constitution, and the fight of the opposition from the beginning has centered largely upon this contention.

The Tennessee Constitutional League, of which Judge Joseph Higgins of Nashville is President, which has prepared to place the case in the hands of the courts, is an organization of attorneys, and includes in its membership both suffrage advocates and opponents, according to a statement by Judge Higgins. The purpose of the organization, Judge Higgins said, was nothing more nor less than to uphold and protect the Constitution of Tennessee.

WOMEN ARE WATCHFUL; FEAR RECONSIDERATION

By LOUISE GRAHAM.

Special to The New York Times.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Women ratificationists have resolved themselves into a vigilance committee of the whole. Their ballot is now won, according to the rules of the Tennessee Legislature, but for two days they will be kept between hawk and buzzard, as a reconsideration of the ratification bill may be moved at any time until the time limit expires upon adjournment Friday.

The Speaker of the House, a recent recruit to the anti-ratificationist forces, changed his vote to the affirmative in the nick of time, thereby providing a loophole for more forensic flights.

If the anti-ratificationists should discover that they have enough votes, House bill No. 1, otherwise the Susan B. Anthony Federal Suffrage Amendment, may without notice become the order of the day; hence the importance of continued vigilance.

To women have been assigned certain legislators, whose movements they will cover.

Mrs. Sherlock Holmes, however, works in the open. She watchfully waits while the legislator breakfasts, then wishes him good morning, invites him to join her in the short walk to the Capitol, pilots him up the steps, sometimes signaling a movie man to film the lawmaker in the act of shaking hands with somebody—it is amazing how susceptible solons are to the wiles of photography—then through the corridors past the organized lobby, which makes way, as he is in the hands of a friend, and into the House chamber. Even this is not the end, for there are still the Scylla and Charybdis of red-rose anti-ratificationists, usually in double formation, to pass.

Truly, the way of the legislator is hard. The only refuge some of these men have is the barber shop.

"We have not finished the battle," said Miss Charl Ormond Williams of Memphis, a Vice Chairman of the National Democratic Committee, this afternoon after calling to order a conference of women as Chairman of the Steering Committee. She was elected in an effort to weld the various factions which have nearly caused the loss of the very object they organized to obtain.

With some women suffrage is next to religion and family, but the overzealous operate on narrow margins, and more than once ratification has been jeopardized in Nashville.

"You must be on guard every minute," said Miss Williams. "Don't relax your efforts now. Remember the Democratic Party is pledged to suffrage. Governor Cox has offered to come here, if necessary, to help push ratification. Let us help him pay the promissory note to the women of America which the San Francisco convention indorsed that this might be a true democracy."

Women ratificationists are paying much attention to Harry T. Burn, whose vote, they say, turned the tide today. He was converted to suffrage by his mother.

Plans were laid for a victory dinner tonight with all members of both houses, friends and foes alike, as guests of the combined ratification committees of women. Sub-committees were appointed to decorate the banquet hall of the headquarters hotel, to invite the legislators to dine, to arrange a program of speaking in which fifty men and women were to participate in two-minute talks, to lead the singing and to entertain the lawmakers generally.

A personal invitation was to be taken to Governor Albert Houston Roberts, who called the special session to act upon the suffrage amendment, and Mrs. Roberts, who has been a member of the ratification lobby each day, often joined by her daughter, Miss Helen Roberts, who recently named the battleship Tennessee.

Governor Roberts, however, promptly opposed a victory dinner before victory was an assured fact, and the dinner has been postponed until Friday evening. Faithful ratificationists are hoping that there will be no occasion to serve funereal baked meats as the pièce de resistance.

Although Governor Roberts has been and is still heart and soul for ratification, he is by no means certain that parliamentary devices are exhausted. He stood at the outer entrance to his office this morning as the proponents and opponents of ratification filed out of the Capitol. Smiling and hopeful, he said privately that the legal position taken by the antis was perfectly tenable and that it was folly to exult too soon.

"I trust it will not be reconsidered," he said, "but this is a democracy, and every one has an inalienable right to be heard."

Governor Roberts has had his office work seriously crippled in the last few weeks by the advance guards of lobbyists for and against ratification. Men and women park in his suite. An old-fashioned gentleman, born and bred in the mountains, his code is that women are people, and he can see no reason why there is not room for women in Government. But he does see that ill-timed methods can scrap a cause.

"This ratification bill would have been passed early last week if the Legislature had not been badgered," is the opinion of P. D. Fuller, Democratic State Senator from Memphis. "Attempting to guide the thought of a Southern man in politics is a psychological blunder. They resent what seems to them to be interference, and once that idea lodges it's all over."

He speaks as an adopted Tennessean, having been born in Michigan and reared in Cleveland. He voted for Presidential suffrage both times when the measure was before the State Legislature and was an advocate of ratification in the Senate debate last Friday.

"I do not mean to infer that Mrs. Catt has been unwelcome," said Mr. Fuller. "She has been all discretion and tact and we have nothing but respect for her. But there is a type of out-State agitator who irritates our men by overlobbying."

General Charles T. Cates of Knoxville, for eleven years Attorney General of Tennessee, is certain that ratification is assured. "Men changing their votes would have too much to explain," he told the women this afternoon.

But the latter are not relaxing their efforts, and the Vigilance Committee will take no recess.

WOMEN ARE JUBILANT; ANTIS PROMISE APPEAL

Legal Fight Threatened Over Successful Outcome of Half-Century Suffrage Fight.

Hailing the suffrage victory as bringing added opportunity and responsibility to American women, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, applauded the Tennessee Legislature in a statement issued yesterday.

"Tennessee has thus closed sixteen years of woman's struggle for the right to have their prayers counted on Election Day," said Mrs. Catt. "The ratification of the amendment is more than a victory for us. In the hour of victory there is but one regret and that is that every man and woman in the nation does not share our joy. Today there are those yet too blinded by prejudice to recognize the justice and inevitability of woman suffrage. But tomorrow we know that we shall work together for the common good of this great nation."

The opposing forces expressed their views through Miss Mary G. Kilbreth, President of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage. She told a TIMES reporter over the telephone from her Long Island home that she was "bitterly disappointed," but declared that all preparations for a legal fight against the amendment had been made, and that the right of the Tennessee Legislature to sit in special session on the measure would be questioned in the courts of that State.

"If the amendment has really been passed," she said, "it means that a blow has been struck at representative government, and that the balance of power between the Federal Government and the States has been destroyed. I cannot believe that the members of the Tennessee Legislature, whom we counted upon have allowed themselves to be swayed by petty politics and failed us. But the legal steps we shall take have been carefully formed, and we shall carry our case to the United States Supreme Court if need be."

Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Chairman of the New York State League of Women Voters, expressed pleasure over the suffrage ratification. She likened yesterday to Armistice Day, saying that to her "the great war and the battle for women's votes were very much alike."

The League of Women Voters, according to statements made yesterday, will continue to function as a national body, devoting itself to urging legislative reforms and educating the new women voters regardless of party lines.

The National American Suffrage Association will pass out of official existence in January, 1922, the two years being allotted for the winding up of affairs. It is expected that the rank and file of its workers and many of its leaders will transfer their activities in the future to the National League of Women Voters. The latter is preparing to meet any attacks which may be made on the new amendment, the New York headquarters stated. It rejects as ridiculous the statement that the next Presidential election may be thrown out as invalid by opponents on account of the women's participation.

Nearly 26,000,000 Women of Voting Age In This Country; 29,577,690 Male Voters

Estimates based on the figures of the 1910 census, with allowance made for the increase of population in the last ten years, place the number of women of voting age in this country at upward of 26,000,000, about 3,000,000 below the number of men of voting age, according to statistics which have been compiled by the National Woman's Party. Here are the figures in detail:

ment is identical, except as to subject matter, with the Fifteenth Amendment, and that Amendment has been ruled to be self-executory and to render inoperative contrary provisions of State Constitutions or statutes.

In regard to legislation providing the necessary funds or machinery for the registration of women and their voting, in the majority of States it has been decided that none will be required. Virginia, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Massachusetts and Mississippi have already passed enabling acts.

The Attorney Generals of Maryland, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio and West Virginia have rendered special opinions that no legislation is necessary. The Governor of Missouri has stated that he will call a special session of the Legislature if it is found necessary. The Attorney General of Georgia has announced that there will be opportunity for women to register in October for the November election.

There is still some question as to the necessity for legislation in Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Vermont.

First Submitted in 1919.

The suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution, which its advocates have designated "the Susan B. Anthony amendment," was submitted to the several States in 1919. The House of Representatives in January, 1918, adopted the resolution submitting the amendment for ratification. On May 21, 1919, the House readopted the resolution, and on June 4, 1919, it was adopted by the Senate. The amendment was thereupon submitted to the States.

The text of the amendment follows:

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Section 2. Congress shall have power, by appropriate legislation, to enforce the provisions of this article.

Wisconsin was the first to ratify. Its Legislature completed the ratification on June 10, 1919, six days after the resolution submitting the amendment was adopted by the United States Senate. Michigan ratified the amendment on the same day and before the end of the year twenty-one States had taken favorable action. The last State to ratify before Tennessee was Washington, whose Legislature completed the process by unanimous vote on March 22, 1919.

No statement came from the White House today as to President Wilson's view on the action of the Tennessee Legislature, but it was explained there that the President withheld his comment until the pending motion to reconsider in the Tennessee house had been disposed of.

Telegrams of Congratulation.

Secretary Daniels, who had labored to have his own State of North Carolina effect the thirty-sixth ratification, sent the following telegram to Governor Roberts of Tennessee:

> Congratulations. The Volunteer State has done itself a lasting honor in insuring the women of America an equal voice in government.

Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, gave out a statement in which he said that the new Constitutional Amendment made it easier to enforce national prohibition. The statement follows:

> The ratification of the Nineteenth Amendment makes the fight to maintain and enforce national prohibition much easier. Not all women favor prohibition, but an overwhelming majority of them favor it, and they will naturally favor a Congress to sustain it and enforce it. Liquor interests have always been aggressively against woman suffrage. The women know it and they will naturally not help an outlawed enemy to be reinstated.

To Governor Cox:

> On behalf of the National Woman's Party, representing women in every State of the Union, I wish to express to you our sincere appreciation of your splendid and continued help in the campaign for ratification of suffrage. Your aid has been invaluable in winning today's victory.

To Senator Harding:

> On behalf of the National Woman's Party, representing women in every State of the Union, I wish to express our deep appreciation of your co-operation in the campaign for the ratification of suffrage. Your aid has been of great help in winning the large Republican vote in the Tennessee Legislature.

To Governor Roberts:

> On behalf of the National Woman's Party, representing women in every State in the Union, permit me to offer our hearty congratulations on your splendid fight for ratification and our sincere appreciation of your continued and able work for enfranchisement of American women.

Miss Paul Issues a Statement.

The following statement was made by Miss Paul, as Chairman of the National Woman's Party:

"The victory of women today completes the political democracy of America and enfranchises half the people of a great nation.

"It is a victory which has been won not by an individual or group, but by all those women who since the time of the Revolution have suffered and protested against the humiliation of disfranchisement and proclaimed the equality of men and women.

"All women of the United States are now entitled to vote in the coming elections on the same basis as men. But our work cannot yet end. Ratification must be protected in the courts against the attacks of its opponents. It must be safeguarded, if possible, by the winning of a thirty-seventh State.

"In certain States, also, provision must be made for admitting women to the polls and providing for their registration in accordance with the law. The Woman's Party at once will get in touch with the Attorney General of each State with the object of aiding in this matter, which we anticipate will cause no difficulty or delay.

"With their power to vote achieved, women still have before them the task of supplementing political equality with equality in all other fields.

"In State and national legislation, as well as in other fields, women are not yet on an equal basis with men. The vote will make it infinitely easier for them to end all discriminations, and they will use the vote toward that end.

"The National Woman's Party, organized in 1913 to secure the passage of the Federal suffrage amendment, has accomplished the purpose for which it was founded. It will meet in convention within the next two months to decide upon its future."

Following is the list of the States that have ratified the suffrage amendment, with the dates of ratification and the political affiliations of the Governor and the majority of the Legislature:

The following foreign States and Dominions have granted woman suffrage: Isle of Man, 1881; New Zealand, 1893; Australia, 1902; Finland, 1906; Poland, 1918; Scotland, 1918; Austria, 1918; Czechoslovakia, 1918; Hungary, 1918; Holland, 1919; British East Africa, 1919; Luxemburg, 1919; Uruguay (municipal), 1919; Norway, 1907; Denmark, 1915; Mexico, 1917; Russia, 1917; Ireland, 1918; Wales, 1918; Canada, 1918; Germany, 1918; England, 1918; Belgium, 1919; Rhodesia, 1919; Iceland, 1919; Sweden, 1919.

It is estimated that there are 23,883,566 women of voting age in the United States, of whom about 5,000,000 are aliens. This means that more than 22,000,000 women will be able to vote under the suffrage amendment to the Federal Constitution. The men of voting age in the country are estimated to number 29,577,690, including aliens. About 11,000,000 women citizens of voting age living in States that have not had woman suffrage will be entitled to vote under the new amendment.

On the basis of the 1920 census it is estimated that there are 3,033,273 women of voting age, including aliens, in New York State. The estimated number of men in New York State of voting age, including aliens, is 3,119,773.

About 17,000,000 women are already entitled to vote for President of the United States under State laws. About 7,000,000 already had the right to vote for members of Congress under State laws.

In thirteen States women have the right to vote for President. Barring the States that had previously given full voting rights to women electors, Illinois was the first to grant this privilege. That was in 1913. North Dakota followed suit in 1917, with Nebraska a close third. The others are Tennessee, Rhode Island, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Wisconsin, Ohio and Kentucky.

Two States, Arkansas and Texas, have given women the right to vote in primary elections. Alaska has given women an equal share with men in its government.

LONG FIGHT TO WIN VOTES FOR WOMEN

FIRST VICTORY IN WEST

Wyoming Led Off in 1869, and Other States Were Won Over Slowly.

Although the first agitation for woman suffrage was begun in this country in 1839, when a Pennsylvania Quakeress, Mrs. Lucretia Mott, became aroused because a world's slavery congress in London would not admit her to a seat with her husband, it was not until 1869 that the first American woman acquired the legal right to cast a ballot. Then the right to vote was given to women, not because of the agitation of Mrs. Mott, but because the hardy pioneers of a Western Territory thought that women who shared the dangers and hardships of the trek across the prairies ought also to have an equal voice in the government of the new lands.

In 1869 the Territory of Wyoming decided to give its women the right to vote, and they have exercised this privilege ever since that time, due provision being made in the State Constitution when the Territory was admitted to Statehood in 1890.

The right of women to vote in Wyoming was never questioned in the days of the new Territory, and certain offices within the gift of the electorate always were reserved for the women voters, particularly offices in the subordinate government of the new school system, in which the women were most interested. Taking a lesson from that Territory, many others of those that became the Rocky Mountain States began to consider proposals for giving suffrage to women, and Montana, Utah, Idaho and several more decided early to give the women at least a voice in the management of the schools.

In 1893 Colorado decided to allow women to vote in the State for all offices and on all questions. Three years later Utah and Idaho took the same step, but then for fourteen years the suffrage movement halted, so far as States could be induced to give the ballot to the women. Then the tide turned in favor of suffrage and States rushed to the movement. Washington adopted equal suffrage in 1910, California in 1911, Kansas, Arizona and Oregon in 1912; Alaska Territory in 1913, Montana and Nevada in 1914, New York in 1917, and Michigan, Oklahoma and South Dakota in 1918.

This State Saw First "Convention."

The long struggle to legalize votes for women in this country began in prerevolutionary days, when Mistress Mary Brent of Maryland demanded a place and a vote in the lawmaking body of that colony. The wife of John Adams, in the days of '76, was an ardent suffragist.

Lucretia Mott returned in 1938 to Pennsylvania and began to preach the doctrine that the men had the idea that the mentality of women was inferior to that of men and that the quicker the women rid their homes of that idea the more peace there would be in Pennsylvania. The men of Pennsylvania opposed this view, sometimes being obliged to resort to physical means to defend themselves against these first "militants" of the movement.

Opposition failed to prevent Mrs. Mott and Elizabeth Cady Stanton from calling the first suffrage convention in Seneca Falls, N. Y., and another at Syracuse in 1852. All the men and some of the women were horrified at this and some of them said that Mrs. Mott was "brazen." She was reported to have responded with a strong statement that contained the word "damn."

Another snub to a woman gave suffrage a recruit who worked diligently in its cause for more than fifty years. This was Susan B. Anthony, who was ordered to "take her seat" in 1852 when she attempted to speak her views on the floor of a temperance convention. That is said to have been the first time that the historic phrase was used: "The place for woman is in the home."

Miss Anthony went out over the country to battle not only for the Nineteenth Amendment but for the Eighteenth as well. Her admirers often declared that she spoke for suffrage and against liquor over more miles of railroad, stage coach lines and highways than any man who ever ran for President. In 1872 she had the courage to insist upon casting a ballot in the general election, and she was arrested and jailed.

In 1878 Miss Anthony drafted her suffrage amendment for the Constitution and induced a member of Congress to put it before that body. Thereafter the amendment came up yearly, only to be voted down, though in the face of a steadily increasing army of suffragists who clamored at the doors of the White House and of Congress itself.

Before her death Miss Anthony had enlisted Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who in 1900 became President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association. Mrs. Catt also became head of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, except for two years, when she gave way to the late Dr. Anna Howard Shaw.

It was due largely to the campaigning of Mrs. Catt's organization that nine States passed laws in the last ten years to give the ballot to women. Sage politicians said the Constitutional amendment could not be hammered through Congress and the necessary two-thirds of all the States in less than fifty years. Great card indexes of the foes and friends of suffrage were compiled and recruits continued to pour in.

A more militant element of the movement joined Miss Alice Paul in the organization of the National Woman's Party, and pickets were set at the gates of the White House, only to be arrested and sent to Occoquan jail, where they adopted the English idea of hunger strike. The Woman's Party also undertook a campaign against individual candidates for Congress throughout the country.

Fight for the Federal Amendment.

In 1918, the amendment was passed by the House of Representatives. Blocked in the Senate for a year and a half by lack of one vote, the suffragists organized their forces for the battle with the state legislatures.

At twenty-nine special legislative sessions the amendment was certified for ratification. In twelve of these States the vote was unanimous in both houses. They were Michigan, Kansas, New York, Nebraska, Utah, South Dakota, Colorado, Oregon, Wyoming, Nevada, Arizona, and Washington. In seven other States it was unanimous in one house. Those States were Illinois, Texas, Iowa, Montana, California, Indiana and Iadho.

Three States were virtuly tied for the honor of first certifiction. They were Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois, the last counted out by an error in certification, while the vote of the other two was officially certified on June 10, 1919.

Long fights in many States delayed the result. There was a six months' campaign in California. In Kansas the members of the Legislature paid their own expenses so that a special session could be held. Then eighteen States ratified the amendment in record time since Jan. 1, 1920.

Down to the last State, the suffragists had a hard fight. Defeated in Delaware, they turned to Connecticut and Vermont, where the Governors refused to call special sessions of legislatures that were friendly. Florida's Governor also held back, although in favor of the amendment himself. Special sessions then were called in Tennessee and North Carolina and, aided by Presidential candidates, the fight narrowed to Tennessee—and victory.

Cox follows: "Ten out of twelve suffrage States gave their votes to the Democratic ticket in 1916. The Woman's Bureau expects the same proportion in 1920 by grace of women's political freedom through a Democratic Legislature and your effective support. Congratulations."

The telegram to Mr. Roosevelt said: "The Woman's Bureau sends its appreciation for your share in the loyal Democratic support which today helped win the great victory for all women."

The Democratic Woman's Bureau also issued this statement:

"Tennessee has ratified. The first payment on the promissory note of the Democratic Party (as Governor Cox called the platform adopted at San Francisco) is made. The party pledged itself to urge ratification in time for all the women of the United States to participate in the Fall election. It has kept its word.

"The women of America will remember on Nov. 2 the effective support of the Democratic nominee for President, Governor Cox, and his running mate, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to redeem the promise made by the Democratic National Convention but a few weeks ago. They can never forget the Democratic State that has accomplished their political freedom. The Democratic ticket won with a few women voting in 1916. It will win with all the women in 1920."

Harriet Taylor Upton, vice-chairman of the Republican National Executive Committee, sent this telegram to Chairman Hays:

"Republicans, holding the balance of power, today made ratification possible in Tennessee. Republican legislators refused to listen to false arguments, to be frightened by threats or to accept seductive offers. They stood by the national platform for the party's sake and national justice. Tennessee Republicans are a credit to the country and no one can know to what extent unless that person be on the ground. I am proud o them. The Republican Party, having furnished twenty-nine of the thirty-five States now makes possible the thirty-sixth."

Republican Headquarters also issued a statement containing "the facts about woman suffrage." According to the statement twenty-nine Republican States have ratified and seven Democratic States; one Republican State and seven Democratic States have rejected, and two Republican and two Democratic States have failed to ratify.

Dudley Field Malone declared in a telegram to Chairman White that "genuine friends of suffrage resent the shameless attempt of you and Mrs. Bass to credit the Democratic Party with the suffrage amendment."

COX SEES LEAGUE AID IN SUFFRAGE VICTORY

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 18.—That the enfranchisement of the women voters of the nation will emphasize the League of Nations as an issue of the campaign is the feeling at Governor Cox's headquarters today.

Governor Cox is satisfied that American women are for the League in the effort to bring about a situation which will end the danger of war. He does not believe that the women will accept any move for a separate peace with Germany, the position which he charges was taken by Senator Harding in the latter's speech of acceptance.

The Governor gave expression today to the pleasure he felt in the favorable turn which the fight for suffrage in Tennessee had taken, and then announced that he was prepared to go before the country and endeavor to convince all the voters, women and men alike, that he was prepared to fight their battles and give the best that was in him in convincing them that he was prepared for the entry of the United States into the League and for the cause of progress.

Governor Cox called up Governor Roberts of Tennessee on the telephone this morning and asked him about the situation. The Tennessee Executive replied, the story goes, that he was in touch with a man who could "put suffrage across."

"Remember that the women of America are for the League of Nations and they ought to have a chance to vote for it," Governor Cox is quoted as having said.

Governor Roberts then is said to have given this word: "Boys, I guess we have got to do it."

It is probable that Governor Cox will make the most of the situation, tell the women voters just where he stands on the League, and ask for their support.

Mrs. Abby Scott Baker, political manager of the National Woman's Party, was at the State House today with a band of workers soon after the action of the Tennessee Legislature was known. She and her party posed on the steps of the State House with Governor Cox for the moving picture men.

"Individual men have helped splendidly and we thank them heartily," said Mrs. Baker, "but the American women can take to their hearts the thought that it was the women who won the happy assurance that suffrage would be ratified and the American women enfranchised.

"The party which shows the greatest skill in organizing the women voters will win the election. The division at present is about seventy to thirty, but I don't want to say who is ahead."

Mrs. Baker was asked for some expression about the fight which had been made in behalf of the women voters by Governor Cox.

"The women," she said, "ought to be grateful to all who helped, and Governor Cox certainly helped."

She was asked whether the greater credit would be given by the women to Governor Cox or Senator Harding.

LOSE HOPE IN RALEIGH.

Suffragists Fail to Obtain Reconsideration of Adverse Vote.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 18.—Suffrage supporters were unable to obtain a reconsideration today of yesterday's vote which tabled the resolution ratifying the Susan B. Anthony amendment. The upper house of the North Carolina Legislature adjourned at 1 o'clock, and under its rules the question cannot come before it again except through favorable action of the lower house.

The ratification resolution now in House Committee will be reported out and made a special order of business tomorrow morning. Representatives Neal and Grier, anti-suffrage leaders, claimed to have 70 of the 120 members pledged against ratification and they proposed, Mr. Neal said, "to administer a defeat in the House, just for good measure."

NEUTRALS PROPOSE COVENANT CHANGES

Scandinavian Nations Would Lessen Obligations to Maintain an Economic Blockade.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Headquarters of the League of Nations announced today that four important amendments to the covenant had been suggested by Denmark, Norway and Sweden for consideration at the first meeting of the League Assembly on Nov. 15.

The four proposed amendments were announced as follows:

(1)—Providing for a fixed annual meeting of the Assembly and proposing that ten members of the League can demand and secure a special meeting at any time at the seat of the League.

(2)—Seeking to regularize the methods of selecting the four non-permanent members of the Council. It is proposed to accomplish this by providing that the Assembly, after making the first selections of four to serve respectively three, four, five and six years, shall name a new State yearly after the third year to serve four years and not be subject to re-election for the following period. It is suggested that this method would secure successive representation on the Council of a large number of States and would maintain continuity in the composition of the Council.

(3)—Making the obligation for arbitration more nearly absolute by omitting the word "generally" from Article XIII. in the paragraph beginning "Disputed" and ending "submission to arbitration."

(4)—Permitting the Council to authorize a State in the vicinity of a State against which an economic blockade is in force to maintain a degree of intercourse with the latter, provided the Council considers this necessary in order to prevent the blockaded State from attacking its neighbor.

PAPER GOES OVER TO COX.

Special to The New York Times.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 18.—Declaring that Republican leadership in the country has broken faith with the rank and file of the party, with the American people as a whole, and with humanity everywhere, and that the Democratic platform offers "peace, lasting peace, builded on the justice of the Golden Rule which humanity is praying for," the Norristown Times, a Republican newspaper since its founding in 1881, announces today that, in accordance with the dictates of conscience and in the belief that it is doing a patriotic and humanitarian duty, it cannot do other than support Cox and Roosevelt for President and Vice President.

The Times's denunciation of the Republican platform and tactics has caused a sensation in this Republican stronghold. It sets forth that "for the sake of gratifying hate the Republican leadership would pass over the glory of American boys on the bloody stretches of France and Belgium, breaking faith with those who returned as well as those who died."

Republicans are charged by The Times with premeditating the murder of the treaty, dishonoring the word "Americanism," and ignoring the sentiment of the people of the country with their "double-faced platform." The League of Nations is indorsed, and it is contended that, with the assistance of the United States, lasting peace will be crystallized into an actual fact.

HARDING SAYS START IDEALISM AT HOME

URGES TREE CONSERVATION

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 18.—Bestow idealism, humanity and democracy on America first, rather than waste American lives in forcing these principles abroad, was the answer of Senator Harding to a delegation from twenty-three Indian tribes which visited him today.

Some of the Indians were garbed according to the current fashion, while others wore their tribal dress. They visited the Harding front porch this afternoon to plead with the Senator to pledge the granting of full rights of American citizenship to the "first Americans."

The Indians saw Governor Cox yesterday, and that visit apparently was fresh in the minds of some of them, for Frank G. Smart, one of the red men, addressed the Republican candidate as "Senator Cox."

"I beg your pardon—Senator Harding," he corrected himself, while Mr. Harding and the rest of the Indians laughed.

"I don't blame you," Senator Harding broke in. "He's a pretty live fellow. But that's all right. I'll be President, anyway."

Dr. Carlos Montezuma, a full-blooded Apache from Arizona, told Senator Harding:

"I wish to God that you would have the spirit of a Lincoln and see that there is a race that is not free and your heart will throb with an inspiration from God and say:

"'Before I leave my office here at the White House I will see that the Indians receive their freedom, and that they become equal with all other races that have had the freedom of this great liberty-loving country.'"

Other speakers reminded the Senator that 17,000 Indians had fought in Europe for a country in which they had neither property nor civil rights, and they asked him to express to them his policies regarding full citizenship rights for the American Indian.

Tells of Wyandotte's Record.

Senator Harding reminded his callers that they stood near the site of the Greenville treaty line, which was the home country of William Walker, a half-breed Wyandotte, who became the first territorial Governor of Nebraska.

"I speak of it," he said, "as it is appropriate as an indication of the Indian's ability to care for his own governmental affairs, so far as consistent with popular government. I have heard something, as a member of the Senate, about the dissatisfaction of many of the Indian residents of this country, but it has not been my good fortune to know of it in detail, because, as you know, all members of the Senate do not give their attention to all subjects of government, because it is not within human capacity for one to know all these things.

"I think you and I will agree about one basic principle, and that is that the American Indian is just as much entitled to a square deal as any one else in the Republic, and if we should be called to responsibility he will get it. And I would like to think, while we are talking about democracy and humanity and idealism, that this Republic had far better bestow it on the native American, whose lands the white man took, rather than waste American lives trying to make sure of that bestowal thousands of miles across the sea.

"I believe in the policy of promoting and bestowing and elevating and encouraging and establishing the ideals of democracy in America first, and the American Indian is just as much entitled to that which righteously comes to him as any other citizen of the republic.

"You take that message to your fellow Americans from me, and, whether I am elected to the Presidency or not, I will still be a member of the Senate a little while, and I will be happy to join with my voice in asking for justice to the American Indian.

"I am glad to have your call. I wish I could take you about here and introduce you to the musical names in this section that all come from the Indian days. I was raised along the banks of the old Olentangy.

"By the way, some one in the West has bestowed an Indian name on Mrs. Harding. I think they call her 'Snowbird,' with the suggestion that it means 'hard worker.' You tell the Indians in the West if they are bestowing names for busy workers they should bestow one on me.

"I shall be glad to see you in Washington, the seat of our Government."

Urges Conservation of Timber.

Scientific conservation was the theme of Senator Harding's speech this afternoon to members of an Ohio lumber dealers' association whic hwas holding a picnic in one of Marion's parks. The Senator is one of the Directors of a local lumber firm, and he addressed the delegation as "fellow lumbermen."

"I feel that I am a real lumberman as well," he went on, "for I remember being at the end of a crosscut saw. dad was at the other end.

"The realization of our highest hopes lies in the continued construction and improved character of our homes," Senator Harding continued, "because they have the first influence in the standard of American living. Quite apart from furnishings and the almost limitless numbers of varied utilities, lumber is the first requirement of the prospective home builder.

"At the present time there is a notable halting in the construction of homes because of the almost prohibitive cost. Lumber plays its very conspicuous part therein. Much of this, of course, relates to the increased cost of production, which dates from the changed conditions since our entrance into the World War, but there is a permanent inclination to advance in cost because of the very manifest diminution of supply.

"We ought to have a national policy of preservation and reforestation. No one disputes that lumber prices are in large part responsible for the halting in the housing building movement. Lumber prices have increased very sharply since the war and prices in many instances have gone up 300 per cent. above those of the pre-war period.

"The one thing which the Government may do is to adopt that policy which will assure to future generations the timber which is necessary to our lumber needs. There remains a large supply on the Pacific Coast, but the problem of transportation makes this supply unavailable to the East and Middle West, unless we contemplate a cost of transportation which will continue to discourage building enterprise.

"It is common knowledge that there is ample land in this country of ours, not adapted to other uses, to produce a sufficient supply of timber for all our needs if it is only stocked with trees and nature is allowed to contribute toward our necessities. We must begin to think of timber crops as we do other cultivation in this land of ours, and we must put an end to that carelessness and neglect to which we trace our destructive forest fires.

"With timber growing on the one hand, and forest preservation and protection on the other hand, there isn't any reason why the United States should not be self-reliant in the great essential of lumber for construction purposes."

Impromptu Reception to Children.

An impromptu delegation paid Senator Harding a surprise visit this morning at his campaign headquarters while he was drafting his speech to the lumbermen. A dozen children of the neighborhood, tired of playing soldiers, marched to the Harding home, led by a tiny youngster with a marine officer's cap cocked jauntily over his right ear and a broomstick held in his hand, drum major fashion. Keeping in step to their leader's "Heps," they marched single file up the path, with sticks at right shoulder at the proper angle, one proudly bearing a flag, and another with a snow shovel to which was nailed the candidate's portrait wreathed in bunting.

"They halted in front of the Senator's office and sang a little song of their own composition, hailing the candidate to the tune of "John Brown's Body."

Senator Harding stopped his dictation and went outside to shake hands with them. Then they marched off, only to spy Mrs. Harding across the street talking to some automobile tourists who had stopped to clip some souvenirs from the candidate's hedge.

WANT HARDING SPEECH HERE

State Leaders Would Include New York in Candidate's Itinerary.

Senator Harding is yielding to the importunities of Republican leaders who wish him to quit the porch for the stump, in the opinion of Republican workers here. At the Republican National Headquarters yesterday the opinion seemed to prevail that early in October the Republican Presidential candidate would take to the road.

Speaking dates for Senator Harding are being sought by every State in the Union, it was said, at Republican headquarters. Representative Bertrand H. Snell, United States Senator Wadsworth and George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, have requested the Speakers' Bureau to include New York in Senator Harding's itinerary.

Colonel Thomas W. Miller, head of the Speakers' Bureau, returned to New York from Philadelphia, where he had a conference with United States Senator Boies Penrose.

"Senator Penrose was in good health when I saw him," said Colonel Miller. "He is anxious to have Senator Harding come to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh a little later in the campaign and make some speeches which will materially aid the Congressmen seeking re-election."

Colonel Miller said Senator Penrose would make several speeches in the East.

Governor Coolidge, Republican nominee for Vice President, is in great demand as a speaker in this State, but it was said at the Republican headquarters that he probably would not make any speeches outside of his own State.

United States Senator Johnson, it was announced, would not go to Maine during the State campaign to aid the Republican ticket. He and Senator Borah will be active in the campaign in the West.

The first big meeting in the Republican campaign will be held in Augusta, Maine, Aug. 21. Will H. Hays, National Chairman, will be the chief speaker. Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of the late Colonel Roosevelt, also will speak in Maine on Sept. 8, and United States Senator Lodge is scheduled for a speech later in the campaign.

McADOO AT WHITE HOUSE.

Makes His First Call on President Since the Convention.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—William G. McAdoo called on President Wilson today for the first time since the Democratic National Convention. As he entered the executive offices he was halted by the photographers. He did not like the first snap.

"That was too solemn," he said, "get one while I am smiling. I don't want anybody to think I am unhappy over the outcome at San Francisco."

When Mr. McAdoo reached the White House the President and Mrs. Wilson were attending a moving picture show in the East Room, so he joined them there and remained for luncheon.

COOLING HOME DRINK MADE WITHOUT SUGAR

Housewives are finding an unexpected but by no means unimportant virtue in Grape Ola Concentrate—from which they make the drink that is winning such a place of favor in the home. Grape Ola Concentrate requires no sugar, and in these days of high-priced sugar and little of it, this is a real item.

The Grape Ola Hi-ball to-day is the one real rival of lemonade in the home, the ancient family standby for hot weather. The flavor of grape is a pleasing change from that of lemon. Besides it is easier to make than lemonade, and often it is cheaper. The recipe itself:

4 or 5 parts of plain, cold water
1 part of Grape Ola Concentrate
No sugar required
Shake well

The Grape Ola Hi-ball is the most popular way of making and drinking it in the home, or at the soda fountain.

You never drink Grape Ola Concentrate. You must mix it with water. The proper proportion of water gives the right taste. At the same time, it makes it the most economical home drink on the market.

Grape Ola Concentrate is the foundation of a dozen delightful recipes for fruit punches. It is delightful in lemonade, orangeade, and iced tea.

Grape Ola Concentrate undiluted, however, has many uses in the home. It is excellent for ices, sherbets and as sauces, puddings—in fact, wherever the flavor of grape is desired. It is very popular on your grapefruit. It is a pure fruit product with the natural flavor of grape, and the natural color.

Every household should keep Grape Ola Concentrate in the regular stock of supplies. So sure are we that once you have Grape Ola Concentrate you will not be without it, that we ask you to buy a quart at our risk. It also comes in pint and half-pint bottles.

Go to your grocer, or druggist, or delicatessen store, and get a quart. If it doesn't please you, your money will be refunded. Grape Ola Products Corporation, 13 West 22nd Street, New York, N. Y.

COLBY HAILS STAND OF FRANCE ON REDS

Giving Out Text of Note, He Says It Brings "Powerful Support" to Our Russian Policy.

ANSWERS SOVIET LEADERS

Quotes Their Speeches Promising to Sign Treaties Only to Gain Time to Renew Their War.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The first official expression from the United States Government concerning the French Government's reception of the declaration of American policy toward Russia and Poland was given today when Secretary Colby issued a statement on the subject. Mr. Colby was obviously gratified over the French position when he read his statement to newspapermen. The statement calls attention particularly to the expression of the French Government in opposition to the dismemberment of Russia.

Mr. Colby noted that there was one point of divergence between the American and French positions in that France had acknowledged the South Russian Government headed by General Wrangel. Mr. Colby said, however, that this divergence was not of purpose but of policy, and he practically dismisses it as of no great importance in that the agreement of France with the principles laid down by the United States is of more significance than any single difference of opinion as to procedure.

The text of the French note which was given out today by Mr. Colby was published in THE NEW YORK TIMES of last Sunday in a cable dispatch from Paris. The translation published in THE TIMES and the translation furnished to the press by the State Department today differ only in phraseology and not in meaning.

Secretary Colby's Statement.

Secretary Colby's comment on the French note was as follows:

"The note states without reservation that the French Government is in entire agreement with the principles set forth in the American note. It adopts in almost identical words the views of this Government regarding the Soviet regime in Russia, and declares that France can have no official relations with a Government which is resolved to conspire against its institutions; whose diplomats will be instigators of revolt, and whose spokesmen proclaim that they will sign contracts with the intention not to observe them.

"The French Government further declares without qualification its belief in Polish independence, and its desire for the maintenance of the territorial integrity of Poland.

"Most gratifying is the declaration of the French Government of its desire to help the Russian people, and of its opposition to the dismemberment of Russia. The response is a notable declaration from every viewpoint, and brings to the position taken by the United States a striking emphasis and powerful support.

"On one point there is a divergence, not of purpose or objective, but of policy. This Government has not recognized, as the French have done, the authority exercised by General Wrangel in South Russia. But we are disposed to regard the declared agreement of France with the principles of the United States as of more significance than any divergence of policy involved in the specific action of France in this single respect.

"The importance of the French position is that it discloses that the two Governments have a common objective. A divergence as to the means to be employed for its attainment should not diminish or qualify the satisfaction arising from so complete an accord as the main purpose."

It was said by officals that from what they had seen stated by spokesmen of General Wrangel, they could find nothing of which to complain in the objects he hopes to attain in setting up the Government of South Russia. Wrangel, as his policy is understood here, is not engaged in offensive warfare against the Soviet Government at Moscow. His purpose is to maintain authority over a portion of Russia where a large part of the most intelligent people of the former Empire have sought refuge from the excesses of the Bolsheviki, and his military operations are merely to defend his territory from the Bolshevist forces. General Wrangel, according to this information, has shown a progressive spirit in dealing with the peasants, to whom he has assured ownership of their land, and in other ways has indicated a desire to conduct an orderly government that will be amalgamated with a Central Russia government based on democratic principles when Bolshevism loses control.

Replies to Soviet Chiefs.

Secretary Colby also gave to the press today some comments on statements made by Lenin, the head of the Soviet Government at Moscow, and Tchitcherin, the Soviet Minister for Foreign Affairs. The purpose of Mr. Colby's statement was to call attention to the contrast between remarks of Tchitcherin protesting that Soviet Government spokesmen had never said that they would fail to observe pledges given to other Governments, and statements made by Lenin to the Council of People's Commissaries and elsewhere. In his note to the Italian Ambassador on Russia and Poland Secretary Colby had made reference to the declaration of the Soviet spokesmen that they would not observe pledges made to non-Bolshevist Governments, and had mentioned this attitude as one of the reasons that the United States could have no dealings with Lenin and his following. To refute the denial by Tchitcherin of Soviet purpose to ignore international pledges, Secretary Colby quoted from a statement made by Lenin, the authoritative spokesman of the Soviet cause. This is the statement made by the Secretary of State:

"I notice in today's papers a dispatch from Berlin, in which Foreign Minister Tchitcherin of the Soviet Government of Russia is quoted as saying:

"'Never did our statesmen say that we would fail to observe pledges. We have shown, on the contrary, we strictly adhere to obligations. If we promise you to protect you against agitation of the Third Internationale all our representatives will rigidly fulfill this pledge.'

"I do not suppose that Mr. Tchitcherin has superseded Lenin as the authoritative spokesman of Soviet purpose. The actual words of Lenin are in very sharp contrast to the utterance of his Foreign Minister.

"Said Lenin, before the Council of the People's Commissaries during the negotiations upon the Prinkipo conference:

"'The successful development of the Bolshevist doctrine throughout the world can be only effected by means of periods of rest during which we may recuperate and gather new strength for further exertions. I have never hesitated to come to terms with bourgeois governments, when by so doing I thought I could weaken the bourgeoisie. It is sound strategy in war to postpone operations until the moral disintegration of the enemy renders the delivery of a mortal blow possible. This was the policy we adopted toward the German empire, and it has proved successful. The time has now come for us to conclude a second Brest-Litovsk, this time with the Entente. We must make peace not only with the Entente, but also with Poland, Lithuania and the Ukraine, and all the other forces which are opposing us in Russia. We must be prepared to make every concession, promise and sacrifice in order to entice our foes into the conclusion of this peace. We shall know that we have but concluded a truce permitting us to complete our preparations for a decisive onslaught which will assure our triumph.'

"In the same connection, on Feb. 2, 1919, Zinoviev, the intimate associate of Lenin and Trotzky, said:

"'We are willing to sign an unfavorable peace with the Allies—it would only mean that we should put no trust whatever in the bit of paper we should sign. We should use the breathing space so obtained to gather our strength in order that the mere continued existence of our Government would keep up the worldwide propaganda which Soviet Russia has been carrying on for more than a year.'

"On another occasion he is reported by Mr. Lincoln Eyre to have said:

"'Our propaganda system is as strong and as far-reaching as ever. The Third Internationale is primarily an instrument of revolution. This work will be continued, no matter what happens, legally or illegally. The Soviet Government may pledge itself to refrain from propaganda abroad, but the Third Internationale, never.'

"This statement was printed in The New York World Feb. 24, 1920.

Italy Sends Informal Reply.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—An informal reply to the American note has been received from the Italian Government, Mr. Colby said, "with the promise of a complete and formal reply soon."

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 17.—The Czech newspapers comment approvingly on the American note regarding the Russo-Polish situation, especially its solicitude for Russian integrity.

FRENCH LEADERS OF POLES.

Henry and Billotte Both Distinguished Military Leaders.

The French generals mentioned in the Paris news of the oprations in Poland as leading the offensive of the left wing are rated high in France for their ability.

Major General Henry was sent to Warsaw by the Supreme War Council of the Peace Conference in March, 1919, to aid General Pilsudski with his technical advice and has been there ever since. A year later he was placed in charge of the French Mission sent in order to prepare headquarters staff and liaison officers for Marshal Foch, who was then expected to arrive at Warsaw at any time. One story was that he had actually started and was recalled by the Kopp reactionary revolt in Berlin.

General Billotte succeeded General Henry in command of the French troops in Morocco at the beginning of the Great War. Henry was ordered to join the army of the Orient when it was organized under General Sarrail and later, under General Franchet d'Esperey, he led the French troops in the allied assaults in September, 1918, which forced the capitulation of Bulgaria.

FRENCH RADICAL PROTESTS.

Says Expulsion of British Laborites Favors "Councils of Action."

PARIS, Aug. 18.—The expulsion from Paris of William C. Adamson, labor member of the British Parliament, and Harry Gosling, leader of the English transport workers, would do more for establishment of "councils of action" in France than a year's propaganda, Marcel Cachin, Socialist member of the French Chamber of Deputies, told the Associated Press today. M. Cachin has just returned from Moscow strongly advocating that the French Socialist Party join the Third Internationale.

Referring to the incident yesterday when Adamson and Gosling, who had come to Paris for labor conferences, were requested to leave, M. Cachin said:

"It is the entire British working class which has been insulted. Our British friends had come to Paris in accord with the French workers and in order to consider the most efficient means to prevent war and conclude a definite peace with Russia. If our rulers believe that, by expelling British delegates, they can prevent us from concerted action with British labor, they are mistaken. Nothing can prevent an international union of the proletariat. Decidedly, were our Ministers in the pay of the Bolsheviki, they could do little better work for them than by exasperating the working classes of both France and Great Britain."

DEBATED IN BUENOS AIRES.

Deputy Presents Resolution indorsing Franco-American Policy.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 17.—Julio A. Costa, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, presented at today's session of that body a resolution indorsing the stand of the United States and France relative to Poland. He was applauded by the Deputies as he spoke in support of his motion.

"The Chamber of Deputies of the Argentine Republic," said the resolution, "hopes for the salvation and independence of Poland, and applauds the attitude of the two Republics of Europe and America in supporting the rights of weak nations and helping to guarantee the peace of the world."

The Socialist Deputy Tusto objected to the resolution, declaring Poland was the aggressor against Russia. After Deputy Tusto's address the resolution was referred to committee.

STEPS TO RESCUE AMERICANS.

Officials Will Try to Get Them Out of Russia Before Winter.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Every effort will be made by the American Government to get marooned Americans out of Moscow and other parts of Russia before Winter sets in, it was stated today at the State Department. Thirty-five Americans are now at Moscow and they virtually are held as hostages while the Bolsheviki attempt to force the United States to negotiate officially with Soviet agents.

The steps which the Government will take to obtain release of these citizens have not been disclosed.

POLES AT MINSK GET PEACE TERMS

Bolshevist Chairman Emphasizes Russia's Respect for Poland's Sovereign Rights.

PRESS IS TO BE ADMITTED

Conference Expected by Warsaw Government to Continue for a Week or Longer.

MOSCOW, Aug. 17 (Associated Press).—The Russian Soviet peace terms were read to the Polish delegates at their first meeting with the Soviet representatives in Minsk today. The Polish answer will be returned tomorrow.

An official statement with regard to the meeting of the delegates says:

"The Minsk conference opened today at 7 P. M. with a speech by Chairman Danishevsky, after which credentials were exchanged. Danishevsky emphasized Russia's respect for Poland's independence, sovereign rights and right to determine her own form of government, and said Russia accorded Poland more territory than the Entente.

"Danishevsky said Russia must demand from the landlords of Poland such guarantees against renewed attacks as would not be necessary from the workers and peasants of Poland.

"The Polish delegates proposed to hold the next sitting Aug. 19, but the Russians insisted it be held on Aug. 18, which was agreed to."

WARSAW, Aug. 18.—The Foreign Office on Tuesday started a courier for Moscow with important documents for the Polish delegates attending the conference with the Bolsheviki at Minsk. As Warsaw is not in communication with Minsk, M. Tchitcherin, the Bolshevist Foreign Secretary, will be requested by the courier to forward the documents immediately.

At the Ministry of Foreign Affairs today it was said that no word had been received from Minsk, but that it was expected a courier would reach here late today or on Thursday.

The indications are that the Minsk Conference will continue for a week and possibly longer.

Four newspaper correspondents—one American, two Englishmen and one Italian—departed today for Minsk. The Foreign Ministry arranged for the trip after receiving M. Tchitcherin's note with reference to journalists.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Russian Bolshevist peace delegates at Minsk have been instructed to fully recognize the national existence of Poland and not to interfere in the domestic affairs of that country, says a Minsk dispatch to The Herald, organ of labor, quoting an interview with M. Danishevsky, President of the Russian peace delegation. The terms of peace made public by the Soviet Government of Russia are not final, according to the dispatch, but may be modified at the conference.

"All general meetings of the conference will be public," M. Danishevsky is quoted as saying. "We do not intend to imitate the Versailles procedure of secrecy and dictation. We will listen attentively to all Polish arguments, and while keeping close to the published terms, have no intention to refuse reasonable modifications. The general principle of Russia's policy is base upon fullest recognition of Poland's independence, and we will avoid any interference in her internal affairs. The crucial points are those giving us security against Polish aggression. No new demands will be added to those already made public."

French Seek Accord Between Hungary and Rumania.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Aug. 17.—It is learned from a reliable Budapest source that French endeavors to bring about cooperation between Rumania and Hungary have been renewed with redoubled vigor.

Regent Horthy lately received a note from Premier Millerand and the Polish President, General Pilsudski, offering their services toward effecting a Roumanian-Hungarian rapprochement directed against the Bolsheviks. The arrival in Paris of Horthy's aide-de-camp Baron Lang and the Count Csaky is reported to be connected with these aims.

FIRST CLASS POWER, SAY REDS

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 18.—A dispatch from Moscow says the Pravda, a Soviet organ in an editorial under the heading "New Times," says:

"No period ever was in Russian history when the international importance of Russia was so great as now. Never was the Russian Government able to act wit hsuch audacity toward foreign Governments. We are a power of the first rank before which the capitalistic tyrants have commenced to tremble.

"It is not because our country is Russia, but because we are a proletarian State, and from all sides the millions of labor are extending their hands in support. The Russian-Polish war is developing into a gigantic fight between labor and capital."

WON'T ABANDON POLAND.

Millerand Tells Knights of Columbus She Shall Not Be Entombed.

RHEIMS, Aug. 18.—Passing through here today on a tour of the devastated regions, Premier Millerand presided at a luncheon given the Knights of Columbus delegation on its second trip over the battlefields and conducted a ceremony promoting Supreme Knight James A. Flaherty of Philadelphia to be an officer of the Legion of Honor.

In an address to the Knights of Columbus, the Premier said:

"The forces of America, joined with the Allies, have enabled Poland to come out of the tomb, and we will not permit her to be reinterred."

Mr. Flaherty said he would take back to America the message, "France is at work."

Cardinal Ludovic Henry Lucon, Archbishop of Rheims, guided the party through the cathedral and presented a stone from the building as a token to be given to St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York.

Princess de Polignac entertained the Knights when they visited the famous champagne cellars. Speaking in English, she said:

The delegation has decided to postpone its Belgian trip until its return from Italy.

TROTZKY BELITTLES REVERSE.

Tells Moscow Soviet It in No Way Alters the Situation.

MOSCOW, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—Soviet Russia's position on both the Polish and South Russian fronts was pronounced "generally satisfactory" by Leon Trotzky, Bolshevist War Minister, in an address here today. The speech was delivered at a meeting of the Moscow Soviet.

Discussing the military situation, Trotzky declared that "on the front against White Poland our Red troops have fulfilled the fundamental part of their task. The holding up of our advanced troops before Warsaw in no way alters the state of affairs, all the more as the Polish front is now divided into two parts—military and diplomatic—and possesses two centres—one in Warsaw and the other in Minsk."

"The peace negotiations at Minsk are of exceptional importance," continued the War Minister, "because they are developing on the unstable foundation of a stormy movement among the workers. Great Britain also is passing through an unheard of display of excitement among her workers in connection with the peace negotiations between Russia and Poland."

It is constantly apparent that there is a growing solidarity of all elements against any foreign intervention.

An article in today's Izvestia by Professor Gregescul, former member and Vice President of the Duma cadets, states that the intellectuals, "recognizing the necessity for a new social order," are adapting themselves to the changed conditions. The writer says the process is taking the form of a well-defined social movement, amounting to an intellectual revolution.

RED CAVALRY FIERCE FIGHTERS

Copyright, 1920, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

WITH THE THIRD CAUCASIAN CAVALRY, Aug. 17.—I have been allowed to spend the day with 25,000 Tcherkess-Circassian riders, the pride of the Russian army, and the men who crushed the Polish right wing, captured fortresses, defeated tanks, won every battle, from Kiev to Grodno, and are now within sight of Graudenz and Thorn.

These cavalrymen know nothing about Bolshevism. They are simple, sentimental, half savage natives from the Caucasus and to them war is a pleasure.

"Are you a Bolshevik?" I asked one of them.

"I don't know," he replied.

"Why are you fighting the Poles?" I then asked.

"Because they are low down folks who tried to conquer our great Russia. After we are thorugh destroying them we shall destroy England. We hate England more than we do the Poles because England is trying to conquer Caucasia and is trying to steal the liberties from free Caucasian tribes, such as Georgia."

General Gayda is the commander of the Third Cavalry. Like General Budenny he is a former Czarist and he likewise rose from the rank of a non-commissioned officer to his present grade because of his personal courage.

The Tcherkess cavalrymen no longer wear the picturesque national uniforms which Americans see in circuses. Now only the familiar curly woolen caps remain. They carry the curved Caucasian dagger in their belts, and also rifles and automatic machine gun pistols, firing a hundred shots, which the German machine gunners carried in the great war. Each Cossack slings a bag of clover and oats over his shoulder because his first thoughts are for his horse.

They usually fight in small groups of from twenty to fifty and these groups are rarely larger than a hundred. They have no officers at all, their leaders being simply the braver fellows, who naturally command in the same way as is done in wharf gangs in American cities. Sometimes a youth leads because he comes from one of the best of the Tcherkessian families.

Although they fight like wild men, uttering blood curdling yells while in battle, they are simple, gentle fellows when off duty. I have heard them singing home songs and sentimental love songs in strange choruses while lying around a fire cooking their meals.

ITALY URGES BRITAIN TO AMEND OIL POLICY

Report She Advances Her Support Since the Armistice as Worthy of Reward.

LLOYD GEORGE SEES ENVOY

Will Also See Italian Premier, but His Attitude Is Unknown—American Questions to Wait.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—Italy, in return for her constant support of Great Britain since the armistice and principally at the recent Summer resort conferences, is urging Great Britain to alter her oil agreement with France so that Italy may get a larger share of oil from the territories over which Great Britain holds mandates.

The Marquis Imperiali di Francavilla, Italian Ambassador to Great Britain, conferred with Premier Lloyd George yesterday on the eve of the Premier's departure for a three weeks' holiday. It is reported that the Ambassador urged upon Mr. Lloyd George Italy's need for fuel, pointing out, if only inferentially, that Italy considers that she fared badly in the Spa coal decision, and now she is the only one of the Allies openly backing great Britain's policy in Russia, notwithstanding the fact that Italy has less interest in Russia than any of the other Allies.

What promises, if any, the Premier gave the Marquis Imperiali are unknown, but when he departed from London it is stated that Mr. Lloyd George expected to see Signor Giolitti, the Italian Premier, at Lucerne, when oil undoubtedly will be one of the foremost subjects for discussion.

While Mr. Lloyd George is listening to Italy's plea he also has before him the uncompleted exchange of communications with the United States Government on the subject of oil. The United States is adhering to its general policy regarding oil, that the League of Nations should decide finally on the distribution of the products in mandatory territories, and several communications have been exchanged between the United States and Great Britain on the subject of oil alone. Should Italy finally decide to take the same stand as the United States, it is unlikely that the matter will be settled quickly.

There is a growing disposition at No. 10 Downing Street, the Premier's official residence, and at the Foreign Office, against reaching final agreements with the United States on the many subjects that constantly are arising until after the Presidential election in America.

The view taken is that the incoming Government in the United States, no matter which party wins, might be disposed to change agreements made now, so that it is better to postpone any but the most pressing matters until next March.

7 KILLED IN ITALIAN RIOT.

Crowds Attack Churches After Socialist Mass Meeting.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Serious rioting has occurred at Abbadia, near Siena, Italy, resulting in the death of seven persons, and the serious injury of several others, according to a Central News dispatch from Rome.

Following a speech at a mass meeting by Signor Mascagni, a Socialist Deputy, disturbances developed among the crowds and peasants broke into churches in the town. A monk, a child, one soldier and four Socialists were killed.

A report to the Exchange Telegraph Company says some intoxicated miners clashed with a religious procession and that five persons, including one girl, were stabbed to death.

Sierra Leone Sends Agents to Collect Funds for Negro School.

The American liner New York arrived yesterday from Southampton and Cherbourg with $2,000,000 in gold in her specie room and a big quantity of mail.

Among the cabin passengers were two negro women, Mrs. Adelaide Hayford and Miss Kathleen Mary Easmon, who had been sent by the Government of Sierra Leone, British West Africa, to collect funds in the United States for the establishment of technical and domestic training schools in Freetown, the capital of the colony, for the education of negro girls. Mrs. Hayford said that so little is known in their country of the domestic arts that English officers have to send their collars to London to be laundered.

KEMAL PREDICTS DEFEAT OF GREEKS

Turkish Nationalist Leader Talks of His Movement for Americans.

ANGORA, Asia Minor, Aug. 4 (Associated Press).—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader, apparently is undaunted by the Greek advance in Asia Minor. Today he told the Associated Press that the Entente had underestimated the Turkish strength and intimated that disaster lies ahead of the Greek forces which are massing for a movement against the Anatolian railways.

Mustapha Kemal also frankly admitted co-operation of the Turkish Nationalists with the Bolsheviki. He declared that Bolshevism was not incompatible with Islamism and expressed the belief that Turkey could not possibly suffer a worse fate than the "destruction" arranged for her in the peace treaty.

These views were expressed to the correspondent by Mustapha Kemal after he had submitted the correspondent's questions and his answers for the approval of the Cabinet. Consequently the interview was fully authorized by the Nationalist Government, which expressed its gratitude in advance to The Associated Press for communicating the Nationalist position to the American public.

"What is the ultimate aim of and what result is expected from the recent Greek offensive?" Mustapha Kemal was asked.

"To us the Greek offensive, with Great Britain at its head, is an allied offensive," replied the Nationalist leader. "It aims to shake the moral force of Turkey. The motive that led to or set Greece on this erroneous path is her underestimation of the national forces, which are thin along the Smyrna front.

"Greece thought that was all she would meet. But time will show the real strength of the nation and of the country."

"Will the Turks associate themselves and co-operate with the Bolsheviki fighting against Europe?"

"Since we are equally warring against European and British imperialistic capitalism," Mustapha Kemal said, "it naturally follows that we are co-operating with the Bolsheviki."

"Are the promises of the Bolsheviki worth more to Turkey than European promises?"

GIVE 15 WAR CROSSES; FIVE FOR DEAD HEROES

Capt. L. S. Breckenridge Among New Yorkers Who Receive Medals at City Hall.

Fifteen Distinguished Service Crosses were presented yesterday at City Hall, five of them posthumously, for extraordinary heroism in action during the war. Colonel B. W. Atkinson, United States Army recruiting officer, made the presentations. The Twenty-second Infantry Band played during the ceremonies.

Lucien S. Breckenridge of 10 West Eleventh Street, ex-Assistant District Attorney, who was a Captain in the 308th Infantry, was among those who received the decoration. His citation said:

"For extraordinary heroism in action near Grand-Pre, France, Oct. 14, 1918. All the bridges over the Meuse River having been destroyed by artillery fire, Captain Breckenridge, who had been ordered to cross the river with his battalion, personally reconnoitred the banks of the river in utter disregard for his own safety until he found a ford. He then led his command across the stream under intense machine-gun and artillery fire and established a position on the heights of the opposite bank."

The others who received crosses were John T. Harman, First Lieutenant, 26th Infantry, 279 West End Avenue; Louis Cappadocia, Sergeant, Co. F, 38th Infantry, 425 Fifth Avenue; Thomas Roden, Sergeant, 38th Infantry, 4,585 Park Avenue, the Bronx; Julius De Witt Williams, Sergeant, Co. L, 107th Infantry, 850 Woolworth Building; Solomon Catalano, Corporal, Co. C, 305th Infantry, 164 East Ninety-fourth Street; Fred Schick, Corporal, Co. H, 305th Infantry, 48 Edgewater Street, Rosebank, Staten Island; Isaac Rabinowitz, private, first class, Company A, 107th Infantry, 510 West 146th Street; James Caddle, private, Co. E, 308th Infantry, 61 West Ninety-eighth Street, and James A. Lee, private, Co. D, 107th Infantry, 201 Bronx Avenue, the Bronx.

Posthumous awards were made to relatives of William Roth, Corporal, Company A, Seventh Infantry, 219 East Seventh Street; Harry L. Lewis, Private, Machine Gun Company, Thirty-eighth Infantry, Fairport, N. Y.; John R. McGlue, Private, first class, Company B, 107th Infantry, 2,619 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn; Edwin E. Paul, Private, Company L, 107th Infantry, 8 Barker Avenue, White Plains, and William J. McNamee, Private, Company C, Third Ammunition Train, 2,465 Eighth Avenue.

miles without seeing a single Bolshevist soldier.

"A vigorous effort on the part of the Poles would be sufficient to inflict a decisive defeat upon the Soviet armies," the newspaper declares. "That is why the Bolshevist high command is so anxious to finish the struggle against Poland as quickly as possible. Soviet officers who have been taken prisoners confirm this information, adding that the successes gained by General Wrangel in Southern Russia are causing considerable anxiety in the ranks of the Bolshevist Army. The Russian Bolshevist Government, therefore, wants to finish with the Poles so that it may turn its attention to General Wrangel before the Autumn rains make campaigning in Southern Russia impossible.

"The Bolsheviki believe the capture of Warsaw will end the war with Poland, a belief which is by no means shared by the Poles. Soviet commissars, for the purpose of encouraging their soldiers, are holding out dazzling prospects of rich booty in Warsaw. Little impression upon the men is being made, however, for the morale of the army is decreasing. In the region of Brest-Litovsk a number of worn-out and hungry detachments have refused to obey orders, and it has been necessary to replace them with fresh troops. Summary executions had no effect upon the men. The Soviet soldiers are tired of the war."

Father Ignacy Korupka, who was killed in battle while leading the attacking Polish forces with a crucifix in his hand, was buried Tuesday with the fullest military honors, General Haller paying a tribute to the dead priest's bravery. Father Korupka was shot and then bayonetted by Soviet soldiers, according to the Warsaw newspapers, while leading his soldiers upon the attack upon Radzymin, the priest having assumed the leadership when all the officers of his detachment were killed.

Moscow Still Claims Successes.

MOSCOW, Aug. 18.—The Bolshevist forces northwest of Warsaw captured 1,200 prisoners and seven guns in a battle in which they lost and regained the town of Ciechanow, 53 miles from the Polish capital, according to Tuesday's official communiqué issued by the Soviet Government.

Occupation of a number of points in other sections is announced in the communiqué, which reads as follows:

"The enemy broke through to the Narew and occupied Ciechanow, but was driven back by our counter attack and we reoccupied Ciechanow. We captured 1,200 prisoners and seven guns.

"Fierce fighting continues northeast of Novo Georgievsk and Warsaw. West of Vladimir-Volynski, we occupied Grubeshov and a number of villages south of Grubeshov. In the Tarnopol region, we occupied a number of points and advanced to Zboroff."

DANTZIG CORRIDOR REGAINED.

Paris Hears Polish Army Has Fully Recovered Morale in Big Offensive

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—The recapture of the Danzig corridor by the Polish counter offensive from the Fortress of Thorn is the most important news from Poland today. According to the latest dispatches the Poles are rapidly advancing eastward along the frontier of the plebiscite area and hope shortly to effect a junction with the other Polish army moving northeastward between the Rivers Narew and Bug.

The victory not only means that supplies and munitions can again reach the Polish front from Danzig, but also that the new Posnian army is now in action. These troops, though ardently patriotic Poles, served in the German army during the great war, as Posnia was then attached to Germany, and their military value is, I am informed by competent allied officers, much higher than that of the Russian or Austrian trained units or even of the divisions trained in France which saw no active service here and were, moreover, dislocated by the return to America of a large number of their volunteers.

The clearing of the corridor will probably settle automatically the diplomatic incident caused by the refusal of the Allies High Commissioner, an Englishman, Sir Reginald Tower, to allow ships carrying munitions for Poland to enter the port of Danzig. Tower is taken vigorously to task by the French press, which has frequently accused him of partiality for the Germans. The Débats goes so far as to remind him that he is not there as an Englishman but as an allied representative, and adds that he has no shadow of justification for his action, as the purchase of munitions by a belligerent from the Allies or even neutrals is a recognized principle of international law.

The French critics fail to appreciate that while the Reds held the corridor and threatened to occupy Danzig unless the allied authorities maintained the strictest neutrality, it would have been to court disaster to allow the disembarkation of munitions which at best seemed likely to fall into the hands of the Reds or Germans.

Success is also reported from other sectors of the Polish front, both east of the city, which, say the French press dispatches, "is now quite safe from capture," and further south, where Pilsudski in person is commanding a counter-stroke on a wide front. The Polish recovery is due especially to two causes: First, that the French advisers have at last persuaded the Poles that military considerations must dominate political. I refer to the shortening of the Polish line in Galicia, which involved the abandonment of Brody and considerable territory, but which rendered several divisions available for a counter-stroke further north and for the defence of Warsaw. The Poles were convinced that even should Warsaw fall the Allies would insist on its restoration as one of the peace conditions, whereas anything they might lose in Galicia would be lost forever.

They are reported to have said they would sooner give up Warsaw than Lemberg, and it was their refusal to move troops from Eastern Galicia that was the real cause of the disaccord between them and General Weygand.

The second reason for the recovery is an improvement of the morale of the Polish troops. Instead of running away they have begun to fight again. The Bolsheviki are ill-equipped and overscattered. Polish refugees have stated that regular lines of communication behind the Red Army hardly exist. There are areas a hundred kilometers deep in places where there is not a single red soldier behind the advancing wave of cavalry, which is living on the land as it goes forward.

A French Colonel just back from Poland says that he saw one troop of 400 Red horsemen who had only 200 carbines among them—others had sabres and clubs—and that of these more than half were so rusty as to be quite useless. A majority of the troopers were barebacked and as spurs were using telegraph wire wound round boot or bare foot and sharpened to a point at the heel. Their clothing was ragged and varied, but their discipline and spirit semeed to be fairly good and they were carrying plenty of food looted from abandoned farms.

and of action. It has certain powers despite the fact that they are defined and limited, but you must realize that they are defined and limited, and you must look to the true sources of power in the country. In the final analysis, it is public opinion. In the less remote view, it is your duly elected members of Congress. In a very important sense, it is the political party with which you are affiliated.

"I am recalling to you nothing with which you are not entirely familiar when I mention the fact that there are many, many, people in this country who are surveying the conditions that now exist in Central Europe with a satisfaction that they make no attempt to conceal. They are outspokenly opposed to any form or degree of intervention, no matter how desperate the conditions or circumstances may be that call upon us for active effort. They have flouted and rejected the enlightened machinery that was devised in conjunction with the Treaty of Versailles to cope with such conditions as now unhappily exist in the world, and are content to voice their feeling of relief that whatever may be happening to other mortals it is not happening to them.

Political Questions Involved.

"We cannot go to the relief even of Poland, provided the view prevails in this country that we have no concern with anything beyond our national borders. The question, you see, in its larger and true aspect is a political question. The appropriations which relief measures imply, and without which action on an adequate scale is impossible, must be made by Congress. You, each in your own community, in your daily contacts, are chargeable with a responsibility for the creation of a sound patriotic and humane public opinion as a background for legislation such as the emergency demands.

"The declaration which this Government made of its belief in Polish autonomy and independence was as unqualified as language can be. To the full extent of the constitutional power confided in the Executive, every measure that can legally be taken will be adopted to render effectual the position of this country, and many steps, of which you are aware, have already been taken."

In the resolutions left with Mr. Tumulty for the President the Committee for the Defense of Poland, which is the official name of the Polish organization, declared that with Poland's downfall there would follow a great danger of the collapse of Western culture and civilization, a danger that would threaten not only France and England but also the United States.

The Polish resolutions thanked the President for the "moral aid" of his recent note and added:

"Poland and her armies need material aid, and that aid, in the form of ammunition and food, can only be obtained from countries that possess those things in abundance. This country possesses these things in abundance, and we ask you, Mr. President, to help our sister republic of Poland, to give to her such credits as are needed, in order that she may drive the enemy from her territory, feed her unfortunate women and children and care for those who are sick and in distress."

LODGE REPLIES TO POLES.

Says President Has Power to Take Action Short of War.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 18.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge replied today to a telegram from a committee of Fall River citizens of Polish extraction urging his co-operation, as Chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, in a move to extend aid to Poland. The Senator expressed sympathy for the Poles, but said that the American relation to the situation were in the hands of the President. His telegram read:

"I have always felt the deepest sympathy with Poland and was most anxious for the establishment of Poland with more liberal provisions than those adopted by the Peace Conference. I sympathise more keenly than ever with Poland in the misfortunes which have recently befallen her. Our relations with the Polish situation are now entirely in the hands of the President, who is dealing with the question in concert, I assume, with the European powers associated with us in the war.

"He is in possession of all possible information in regard to the situation and I am not. He has stated the position of the United States in the letter signed by Mr. Colby, which you say meets with your entire approval, and press dispatches announce that he has sent warships to the Baltic to protect American lives and property. If he feels that the situation demands action by Congress in the direction of taking measure to aid Poland in carrying on war, or of entering upon actual war with Russia—the only purposes in this connection which would require the presence of Congress—he will call Congress in special session, which he alone has the power to do."

CONFERENCE TO SIFT HOUSING MEASURES

Gov. Smith Calls Meeting of Officials and Legislative Leaders to Shape Program.

EXEMPT LAND BANK BONDS

State Banking Department Suggests Bill to Induce Mortgage Investment.

Governor Alfred E. Smith has called for a conference of officials dealing with the housing situation and the Republican and Democratic leaders of the Senate and Assembly to begin on some day next week for the purpose of putting into shape a definite program of legislation in order that the special session of the Legislature will not have to deal separately next month with the hundreds of housing bills which individuals and committees are prepared to offer.

Senator Lockwood, Tenement Commissioner Frank Mann, Chairman Abram I. Elkus of the State Reconstruction Commission, Secretary Edward P. Doyle and other officials of the Mayor's Committee on Housing will be among those called into conference. The State Banking Department will suggest a bill placing the bonds of State Land Banks under the head of "State instrumentalities," which automatically exempts them from income taxation, thus offering a special inducement for the investment of capital in mortgages.

The housing situation, while bad, is not as bad as it is generally painted, according to Secretary Doyle of the Mayor's Committee. It has not resulted so far, he pointed out, in causing ejected families to live in the streets or parks.

"It's worst effect," he said, "has been in overcrowding. So far, evicted families have all managed to find lodgings with other families, compelling them to live in an unsanitary way, and often forcing men and women, boys and girls to live under improper, mixed conditions. As families come back from their vacations and as moving takes place on a large scale around Oct. 1, this condition will be aggravated, but no one will be rendered absolutely shelterless.

"One effect of the congestion recently has been to bring into sudden popularity the disappearing beds and to cause also a widespread building of upper and lower berth arrangements in apartments and tenement houses. I am informed that about 50,000 disappearing beds have been installed in this city in the last few months, in order to increase sleeping accommodations in crowded tenements and apartments.

"There are several buildings being erected now in which the builders are putting in double-deck staterooms for bedrooms. Between $10,000,000 and $15,000,000 is being spent today in remodeling apartments, so that a five or six-room apartment becomes two three-room apartments and a three-room apartment becomes two two-room apartments.

"There is not quite as much congestion among the cheaper apartments that there was a few weeks ago. There are at present a few available cold-water apartments. The shortage here has been overcome temporarily, at least, by migration from the most congested districts into the Bronx, Westchester County and parts of New Jersey.

"Thousands of people, who are out of the city for the Summer, will not come back. Many who have been living in bungalows at places on Long Island and in New Jersey, which are normally Summer resorts, have been putting in stoves and furnaces and preparing to stay there for the Winter.

"The two great obstacles to home-building at present are labor and materials. Material men are still keeping prices high. If materials can be obtained at a fair rate and if labor will do a full day's work for a full day's pay, the situation will begin to be solved."

FORMER ARMY DOCTOR HELD

A man who described himself as Dr. Lee Baylies Saunders, in the war a Captain with the Medical Corps attached to the 91st Division, was held at Police Headquarters last night on the charge of being a fugitive from justice in Maryland. According to the police, a call for the arrest of a man of the same name and description was sent out by Lee Carter, Baltimore Chief of Detectives, on complaint of Dr. George Clark Peck, superintendent of the Maryland General Hospital, that $2,000 had been stolen from the institution by a Dr. Saunders.

The prisoner was arrested in a department store yesterday by Detective William Quinn after the managers had complained that the man had attempted to pass a check that was not covered by funds in the Chelsea Exchange Bank. Similar complaints had been made by other department stores and clothiers, and the additional charge of grand larceny was entered against him. He will be taken to the Jefferson Market Court for a hearing this morning.

According to the story of the prisoner, his wife died about a year ago and he became upset. He said he came to this city a month ago from Baltimore and had been living at 325 West Thirty-fourth Street. He told the police he was 31 years old and before the war had practiced medicine in Los Angeles.

INSURANCE MAN ENDS LIFE.

Samuel Shmukler, 38, head of the claim department of the Travelers' Insurance Company in Newark, committed suicide yesterday afternoon in his room at the Hotel Aberdeen, Newark, after a quarrel with his wife over "another woman." Shmukler shot himself with a revolver purchased fifteen minutes before.

Mrs. Shmukler had been living at Bradley Beach with their two children since June, when she separated from her husband and they closed their home at 145 Milford Avenue. She came to Newark yesterday and went to her husband's office to plead with him to reestablish a home and leave "the other woman." They left the office together.

At a sporting goods store he stopped and, telling her to wait, went in and bought a revolver. When he rejoined her he said he intended to "end it all," and hurriedly boarded a street car. Mrs. Shmukler returned to her husband's office, got his address, and went to the Aberdeen Hotel in a taxicab. The manager accompanied her to the husband's room. They broke open the door and found him dead on the floor.

A Sales Manager
Who Has Managed Sales

That is what we want

A man who knows he can handle and direct a sales force—because he has done it somewhere else:

Who is the type of executive who can reorganize and put men to work on the basis of getting the business because they like it and believe in their product:

A man who knows how to merchandise and market a specialty that is already a national success:

Who knows the copper and brass ware trade that has its outlet through hardware dealers, house furnishings and department stores.

If you are certain these qualifications are a recital of your own—even if your experience has been in some other line—and are interested in the proposition on a straight salary basis—

You might write us as fully as possible in confidence. If we're interested we'll arrange an interview. W 372 Times.

SCOTTISH DRYS OPEN A LIVELY CAMPAIGN

"PUSSYFOOT" TO AID LATER

Ten Per Cent. of Population Must Approve Before a Referendum Can Be Held.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GLASGOW, Aug. 17.—The Scottish national dry campaign was opened in earnest here today and will continue to the end of the year. The thousand voting areas all over Scotland are concerned, though at present 250 voting areas are already dry owing chiefly to the action of the landed proprietors. If 10 per cent. of the citizens declare for a ballot, that will be taken in due course on three options—no licenses, fewer licenses, or no change.

Today I visited the headquarters of the dry faction, centred in the National Citizens' Council. Telephone bells were ringing all day long, feverish excitement prevailed and stacks of literature and pamphlets were being poured out.

Colonel Kyle of the Highland Light Infantry is field marshal of all the dry forces, and in conversation with him and his aide de camp, Mr. Bennett, I learned the plan of operation.

Colonel Kyle has a battalion of working men as speakers, who are already addressing hundreds of meetings all over Scotland. Supporting them are a few big temperance leaders such as Leif Jones of the United Temperance Alliance, Dr. Henry of the Anti-Saloon League of America and Miss Green, also from the United States.

This, however, the Colonel assured me, is not a "pussyfoot" campaign. Not one penny of money or literature for the Citizens' Council has come from America, he declared. "Pussyfoot" Johnson, however, is coming in October for a big demonstration, but otherwise the Scottish drys are fighting a lone hand.

Special appeals are being made to home life by the drys along the following lines: "For the sake of home, have you ever thought what lurks behind the lure of drink? Women, fight woman's enemy! Vote 'No license.'"

Hard Fight in the Highlands.

Colonel Kyle tells me that the drys' sheet anchor is woman and home. "We have also," he said, "the support of the churches, many industrial magnates and some of the labor forces."

The Colonel is concentrating his forces upon large industrial communities. Places like Inverness and Barrhead are believed to be in line on the dry policy, and five wards of Glasgow's thirty-seven are said to be safe for no license.

"In the test canvass," said the Colonel, "we found one Glasgow street of artisans polling 75 per cent. dry, but the distillery strongholds further north are difficult to tackle. Whisky dies hard in the Highlands.

"The wets are not going to be obliterated easily. Big sums of money are being spent by the trade in support of the wet policy. They have posters and advertisements, speakers and meetings, and are making use of every available form of propaganda."

One good point has been scored by Colonel Kyle. The wets advertised that a Canadian doctor had been proceeded against for issuing 12,274 whisky prescriptions in eleven days. When he recovered from this staggering statement of the wets' leader, the Colonel got his head statistician to work it out and found that it would take the Canadian sixten and one-half hours a day at the rate of one a minute, and no stops for meals, to prescribe this number. On challenge, the actual number was discovered to be 1,274, so today the Colonel comes out in big type with "Have you noticed the sudden slump in the Canadian doctor's whisky prescriptions?"

And so it goes merrily on. If Scotland votes with the drys, bars and grocers' licenses will practically be wiped out next April.

CHARGE NEW KOREAN PLOT.

Japanese Report a Conspiracy to Kidnap American Congressmen.

TOKIO, Aug. 18 (Associated Press)—Press advices from Seoul, allege widespread Korean plots to hold the party of American members of Congress at present visiting the Far East, for the purpose of creating complications between Japan and America.

The advices report the arrest of Yang-keui-taik, who was once convicted and imprisoned for an attempt to assassinate ex-Premier Field Marshal Terauchi, and also ten other Koreans, charged with political anti-Japanese intrigue and participation in the plot against the Americans.

The Governor General of Korea has issued a long statement reviewing the recent disorders in that country, and particularly the military efforts of Koreans on the Manchurian frontier. The statement says the situation is well in hand and declares that numerous arrests of insurrectionary agitators have been made.

The American Representatives are at present in China, returning from an inspection of conditions in the Philippine Islands.

HONOLULU, Aug. 18.—A plan to present a memorial to the American Congressmen touring the Orient, protesting against Japanese rule of Korea, has been defeated by Government authorities, according to a Tokio cable to the Nippu Jiji, a Japanese language newspaper here, quoting dispatches from Seoul. The memorial had been drawn up by Korean Nationalists in Shanghai and forwarded to Seoul for presentation to the Congressmen. Governor General Saito suppressed it, the dispatch said.

MARCONI RESTS AT NAPLES.

Reports Progress in Wireless Experiments—To Continue His Voyage

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Aug. 17.—Senator Marconi is now living near Naples in a beautiful villa at Posilipo called the Villa Beatrice, after his wife. He spends part of his time aboard his yacht Electra, which has been the scene of many of his valuable labors and discoveries by which he is perfecting his system of radiography.

To a correspondent of the Messaggero Senator Marconi explained that for the experiments now in progress the sea afforded specially favorable conditions. Having started from Southampton and sailed to Gibraltar, Malaga and Naples, he intends later to visit Spain, Italy and Egypt. He added that he was engaged in working out various technical improvements which would be useful and important, but the details of which would be interesting only to experts.

PACIFIC FREIGHTS TO RISE.

Shipping Rates from Japanese Ports to be Advanced 20 Per Cent.

TOKIO, Aug. 17. (Associated Press.—Representatives of all shipping lines operating out of Japanese ports who have been in conference at Yokohama, have decided that the standard freight rate for ocean traffic shall be 20 per cent. higher than the present rate.

R. O. Baker, representing the United States Shipping Board, one of the participants in the discussion, proposed a 50 per cent. increase, but Japanese delegates refused to agree to his suggestion. The settlement is in the nature of a compromise, and details of the new tariff schedule are being worked out.

New Way to Curl Hair Fine for Outdoor Girl

The silmerine method of curling the hair is the proper thing before going motoring, boating or golfing, or indulging in any outdoor sport or exercise. This will not only give the hair the most beautiful wavy and curly appearance imaginable, but wind or heat will not take the curl out. The curliness is quickly acquired and lasts much longer than where waving tongs are used. Besides, the hair will be bright and lustrous, instead of dull and dead looking. When combed out it will be as nice and fluffy as if it had just been shampooed. Just get a botttle of liquid silmerine at any drug or department store, follow the accompanying directions, and you will be simply delighted with the result. This product is of course perfectly harmless and there is nothing sticky, greasy or unpleasant about it.

MYSTERY OF CERF'S INJURIES CLEARED

Insurance Man's Skull Was Fractured in an Altercation Over Jostling in Tube.

JEWELER HELD IN TOMBS

Charged with Assaulting Cerf on Way to Police Station—Victim's Recovery Expected.

The mystery surrounding the manner in which Louis A. Cerf, general agent of the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, received the fractured skull that resulted in his removal to the Broad Street Hospital on Tuesday morning, and a seven-hour search for him by anxious relatives, has been cleared.

The police said yesterday that the explanation was simple enough. Mr. Cerf was in a rush for seats in a tube train bound for Newark in the Hudson Terminal Station at 9:10 o'clock Tuesday morning. There was an argument about jostling. Cerf exchanged angry words with a young man, who later said he was Solomon Pincus, a jeweler, of 1,678 St. John's Place, Brooklyn.

After the words came blows, the police said. And after that Cerf called Special Railroad Officer McGaskin, and complained that Pincus had struck him. By direction of Cerf, McGaskin started to take Pincus to the Old Slip police station, Cerf following.

At Greenwich and Cortlandt Streets, the police story has it, Pincus hit Cerf in the face. Cerf's head, knocked back by the blow, struck an elevated structure pillar, and he sank unconscious to the sidewalk.

Pincus was then arrested, charged with felonious assault. He was in the Tombs yesterday, and it was said he would be held until the outcome of Cerf's injuries was known. Pincus said he was innocent of the charge against him, and that he had hit no one.

At the hospital Cerf's condition was described as "fair." It was said that, although his skull was fractured, there was no pressure on the brain and his recovery might be expected. It was added that he would be kept under close surveillance for several days.

Cerf, whose annual income is said to exceed $100,000, had a day filled with important appointments when the alleged assault occurred. In fact, it was when he failed to keep a business engagement with E. R. Stettinius at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., that the alarm first was sent out.

SEEKS TO AVERT CAR STRIKE

Mayor's Mediator Plans Conference with Garrison and Employes.

Transit Construction Commissioner John H. Delaney, who has been chosen by Mayor Hylan as the mediator in the labor troubles between Lindley M. Garrison, receiver of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company, and the three locals of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, hopes to be able today to arrange a conference for a general discussion of the differences. Mr. Delaney tried yesterday to find Mr. Garrison, but he could learn nothing further than that the latter was expected to get into touch with his office today and that a date for the conference might then be made.

Mr. Delaney said there was no need of haste because the company's employes could not strike for at least another month without violating their agreement. Mr. Delaney expressed hope that a conference would result in composing the differences, which he said appeared to revolve around the questions of wages and a closed shop.

At the request of the State Industrial Commission, James Sheridan, Chairman of Local 918, and P. J. Shea, Organizer and executive member of the Amalgamated Association, called yesterday at the office of Colonel M. J. Regan, State Industrial Mediator.

Denies Evelyn Nesbit's Charges.

Miss Juanita Hansen, film star, who was one of the two co-respondents mentioned in the counter suit for divorce brought by Evelyn Nesbit against Jack Clifford, her dancing partner, yesterday filed a complete denial of the charges against her. Melvyn G. Lowenstein, attorney for Miss Hansen, explained, in filing the paper, that she had delayed her answer because she believed that "Miss Nesbit would see the injustice of the charges and would retract them." Miss Nesbit is the former wife of Harry K. Thaw.

Bacon; Once an Aversion, Now a Luxury

THERE was a time when some of us ate bacon simply because we could not afford anything better. Somebody had to eat it. It was there with the hams and spare ribs and it was a sin to waste it. But now look. Bacon costs all the way from 35 cents to $1.50 a pound. It's a delicacy. A fair average price is 50 cents a pound. 17% of what you buy is waste. What you eat contains 27% water. If you pay 50 cents a pound at the store, the actual food content of that bacon costs you 82 cents a pound. Sheffield Milk, the finest food in the world, supplies net solid food at 50 cents a pound.

The milk you buy at the 190 Sheffield stores is exactly the same in quality as the milk we deliver in bottles. When you get milk at a Sheffield store you are sure of its quality, safety and cleanliness

You must have accuracy

ABSOLUTE accuracy is as vital in the office as it is in the machine shop or laboratory. You know what a single mistake may mean in an estimate or important calculation.

To users of the International Visible Adding and Listing Machine, accuracy is a matter of course. Even in the hands of careless or inexperienced operators the International is safe.

It cannot print one number and add another because the adding and printing mechanisms work together and at the same time. No chance of a slip-up between the two operations.

Besides this absolute, unfailing accuracy, the International Visible has some remarkable time and labor saving features such as one hand control, self correcting keyboard, quick total and others. Its simple, durable construction assures long life and low upkeep.

Full particulars without obligation. Write direct or phone any International Agency.

PROHIBITION AGENTS QUESTION M'GRAW

Counsel for Giants' Manager Interposes and Arranges to See Shevlin.

SLAVIN STILL DELIRIOUS

"Thank God, My Skull Wasn't Fractured!" Giants' Manager Exclaims to Callers.

The condition of John C. Slavin, funmaker in Broadway musical comedies, who was taken to St. Luke's Hospital suffering from a fractured skull, early on Sunday, Aug. 8, was reported "unchanged" last night. This meant, it was explained, that Slavin was still unconscious and delirious, but that, although he was in "serious" condition, there was still hope for his recovery.

John J. McGraw, manager and part owner of the Giants, who Slavin and former Lieut. Commander Winfield Liggett, had taken home from the Lambs in a taxi, and whose departure into the house from the taxi occurred at about the same moment that the taxi driver and Liggett discovered Slavin unconscious on the sidewalk, saw representatives of James S. Shevlin, Chief Prohibition Enforcement Officer.

The representatives of Shevlin were August Hassenflug, chief counsel, and Louis Eilterin, an agent. Present also at the meeting in McGraw's apartment, which was arranged by telephone request of Dr. William F. Bender, the baseball manager's physician, were William J. Fallon and Eugene McGee, his counsel, and City Magistrate Francis X. McQuade, treasurer of the Giants.

Sought Light on Whisky Purchases.

What the prohibition agents wish to learn about was McGraw's statement, as detailed by the District Attorney, that he had bought several quarts of whisky in The Lambs, before he got into the argument that resulted in his own injuries and the taxi ride home with Slavin and Liggett.

McGraw, who sat in a morris chair, with his head swathed in bandages, said very little except to make a statement that his only lawyers were Fallon and McGee, and that if any lawyer claimed to have represented him previously in the matter, either to the District Attorney or to newspaper men, he was in error.

Hassenflug told McGraw the only question that interested him was the reported statement concerning the purchase of whisky at The Lambs. Before McGraw could reply, Fallon said:

"At this time I would much prefer to take this matter up personally with Mr. Shevlin. I understood that he had been in Washington, and it has been my intention to call upon him as soon as possible.

"Mr. McGraw is not averse to talking, but I believe that Mr. Shevlin and I can adjust this matter satisfactorily, and I think such a course will be better. Of course, Mr. McGraw doesn't want to be placed in the position of an informer. However, he has nothing to conceal and if he must testify he will consider the matter when the time arrives."

Makes Appointment for Shevlin.

Hassenflug said he was perfectly agreeable to Fallon's plan, and on Fallon's promise of an appointment at 11 A. M. today the first public interview with McGraw since the eventful Sunday was ended.

"Thank God, my skull wasn't fractured," were the only words McGraw spoke, except those referring to another lawyer who he said had been represented as his counsel. That question appeared to worry him exceedingly.

District Attorney Swann reiterated his intention to proceed as "I think best" in the inquiry, despite Fallon's request to indict McGraw so that he might protect himself against "insinuations."

L. Ernest Smith, night clerk of The Lambs, who is under $500 bail on a charge of having tried to remove fifteen cases of alcoholic beverages from the club after the McGraw party, pleaded not guilty on arraignment before United States District Judge Holmes yesterday. His case was continued after his lawyer said he would not permit The Lambs to make Smith "a goat in the shifting of the responsibility for the sale of liquor."

CITY BUS DRIVER HELD.

Witnesses Say Car That Killed Woman Went 25 Miles an Hour.

Wolf Brodsky, 42 years old, of 157 Madison Street, driver of the city bus that ran up on the sidewalk and killed Mrs. Fannie Solak of 21 Rutgers Street, on Aug. 9, was held in $1,000 bail for the Grand Jury on a charge of homicide yesterday by Magistrate Tobias in the Essex Market Court. Witnesses testified that Brodsky had failed to stop as usual at the southwest corner of Jefferson and Market Streets. The accident happened a few yards beyond this corner.

Hyman Greenberg of 164 Essex Street, one of those who testified the bus had failed to stop at the corner, said he had just come out of a restaurant a few feet from where Mrs. Solak was killed when he noticed the bus coming at a high rate of speed through Madison Street. He said it appeared as though the driver had lost control of his machine. Max Klinger, another witness, said he calculated Brodsky was driving at between 20 and 25 miles an hour. Herman Goldberg of 256 South Fourth Street, Brooklyn, testifying for Brodsky, said he was driving an automobile directly behind Brodsky's bus and he thought the bus driver had stopped his machine at the corner of Jefferson Street as usual.

TAKEN OFF SHIP, SHE SUES.

Artist, Demanding $100,000, Says Official Offered Passage.

Maxine Sikes Douglas, an artist, who on Aug. 5 was removed from the transatlantic steamer New Rochelle en route for Danzig and who was taken ashore on the police boat John F. Hylan at the request of the purser, who was said to have asserted she was a stowaway, has begun a suit in the Supreme Court against the Baltic Steamship Corporation and Charles G. A. Pfitsch, its President, for $100,000 damages. In her complaint she declares that although the charges were later withdrawn, she has suffered deep humiliation, scorn and ridicule and her health has been seriously impaired as a result of her experiences.

Miss Douglas sets forth in her complaint that a few days before the New Rochelle sailed Mr. Pfitsch, knowing that she wished to go to Europo, asked her to accept a first class cabin passage as his guest and the guest of the corporation. On Aug. 3, she alleges, she went on board the steamer and was treated by the employes of the corporation as a first cabin passenger. After the New Rochelle left the pier, she maintains, the defendants removed her from the steamer and had her arrested and detained for a time.

TRAINS GRAZE, THREE HURT.

Manhattan Limited Mail Clerks Injured Near Altoona.

ALTOONA, Pa., Aug. 18.—Three men were injured early today when the Manhattan Limited, westbound, sideswiped a wrecked freight train one mile west of here.

The injured men were employes on the mail car, which was destroyed, as was an express car.

HOLD WOMAN IN AUTO SALE.

Mrs. Alexander Arrested at Riverside Drive Home for Larceny.

Mrs. Beatrice Alexander, of 620 Riverside Drive, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant issued by Judge Burt J. Humphrey of Queens County, on an indictment found by the Queens Grand Jury, charging grand larceny in connection with the sale of an automobile.

Mrs. Alexander pleaded not guilty and was held under $2,000 bail, which was furnished by a surety company after she had been detained in the court room until late in the day.

Mrs. Alexander refused to give the name of her husband or his business. Her attorney said she was a native of Atlanta, Ga., but he would give no further information about her.

The indictment charges that, on June 14, last, she sold to Martin G. Knorr, of 1116 Wyckoff Avenue, Ridgewood, for $3,000, an automobile which she represented as a 1917 model for which she had paid the Pierce-Arrow Company in Philadelphia $7,600. Knorr paid $3,000 cash, and Mrs. Alexander gave him a bill of sale made out by a Commissioner of Deeds in Manhattan stating that the automobile was a 1917 model.

The indictment says it was later discovered the automobile was a 1914 model, and had been purchased from the Pierce-Arrow Company by a W. M. Johnson, and that its value was $2,000. The indictment alleges that the taking of the $1,000 by Mrs. Alexander over and above the real value of the car constituted the grand larceny.

Convicts Released for New Trial.

Judge John F. McIntyre in General Sessions issued an order yesterday for the release from Auburn Prison of Frank Pezzulich and Frank Sgliirach, in accordance with the granting of a certificate of reasonable doubt by Supreme Court Justice Burr, providing for a new trial for the convicts, who are believed to be innocent of a robbery for which each was sentenced to eight to sixteen years last November. A jury convicted them of complicity with seven armed men who robbed sailors in a boarding house at 36 Beach Street on March 22, 1919. Assistant District Attorney Owen Bohan, who prosecuted the two men, says new evidence indicates their innocence.

Be at Home When You Like, Here

How the Flowers Love the Sunshine

All the way along the turnpikes leading away from town there seems to be, just now, an old-fashioned flower festival. There's old Grandmother Hollyhock, that your mother loved and talked about so much, and nearby is Grandfather Sunflower, tall and dignified, as if on guard. Gladiolas, phlox, marigolds, bachelor buttons, and rosy zinnias, larkspur, cockscomb, foxglove, four-o'-clocks, roses of Sharon are abundantly spread before you to remind you of your old country home.

Take a day off and go back to the happy days when you and mother made garden together.

It might be the best way to get a new action started in your life.

(Signed)

Advance Sale of Men's

in the Main Store, Burlington Arcade Floor.

51 size 34
72 size 35
67 size 36
40 size 37
6 size 38

(Quantities specified will be here at store-opening.)

We carried these overcoats over from last season. Now we are beginning to get in our new Fall clothing. So we may as well get these overcoats out of the way—seven models of double-breasted ulsters and ulsterettes, knee-length box overcoats, and double-breasted self-collar overcoats—not all in every size of course.

The general hope is that prices of clothing will come down soon, but we—and other stores, too—are paying today, at wholesale, for new overcoats of similar grade of cloth and workmanship for next season's wear, more than $39.50 on the average.

Men's new Fall Suits, with two pairs trousers, $57.50.

SUDDEN SENSITIVENESS.

Some Republicans are complaining that Governor Cox and Franklin Roosevelt are not ladylike in their campaign speeches. Particularly resented are their references to leading Republican Senators. To speak of Lodge and Smoot and Penrose as a "clique," an "oligarchy," or as "plotters" is the height of impoliteness. But these sensitive-plant Senators cannot be killed by epithets. If they could, they would have succumbed in 1912, when another Roosevelt was laying about him with words that were worse than blows. He attacked these same Senators in his full-blooded way as "second-story men," "porch-climbers," "thieves," "receivers of stolen goods." Senators who lived through being bethwacked by the vocabulary of Theodore Roosevelt have nothing to fear from reviling at once less vigorous and less picturesque. The classic Lodge ought to comfort his brother Senators by quoting "Graviora passi," which being interpreted means: "You who have been bludgeoned over the head by Theodore ought not to wince when tapped on the wrist by Franklin."

ANOTHER AMENDMENT RATIFIED.

There is still a bare possibility that the Tennessee Legislature may reconsider its ratification of the Suffrage Amendment. It is probable, too, that the legality of its action—the Constitution of the State distinctly forbidding ratification in the way followed—will be challenged in the courts. But there is no doubt that its vote of yesterday will be almost universally taken as ending the long struggle for woman suffrage in this country. In the main, the result will be accepted in good American fashion. The minority will submit to what it does not like and has fought, and will try to make the best of it. What has now come about has long been felt, even by opponents of woman suffrage, to be certain to be achieved in time. Already sixteen of the forty-eight States had granted the full rights of voters to women. In addition, fourteen States had by law given to women Presidential suffrage. A movement gathering such momentum was bound to succeed in time.

It cannot be said that the Tennessee Legislature decided the question on its merits. The members were not swayed by suffrage arguments pure and simple. The contest became a competition between parties. Tremendous pressure from the outside was brought to bear upon the luckless Legislature, and it was pressure of a partisan sort. President Wilson and Governor Cox made appeals in the name of the Democratic Party; Senator Harding and Chairman Hays sent messages to the Republican members of the Legislature. It certainly is a tribute to the shrewdness of the women managing the campaign that they were able thus to induce the two parties to bid against each other for the honor—or partisan advantage—of having settled the suffrage question. And there was the adroit allurement dangled before Tennessee to become "the thirty-sixth State" and win all the glory of passing the Suffrage Amendment. Strictly speaking, of course, Tennessee's decision was no more vital than the ratification by the first States, Wisconsin and Michigan, which acted more than a year ago. But the clever lady politicians made use of this and every other weapon upon which they could lay their hands and showed that they, at least, are not innocent of the wiles of politics. Veteran male political manipulators will take off their hats to them, in both admiration and envy.

There will naturally be an outburst of jubilation by suffragists over their hard-won victory. But that mood ought not to be lasting or dominant. It is a great experiment upon which the nation is entering. Its difficulties and dangers should be uppermost in the thoughts of serious-minded citizens of either sex. In winning over the country to woman suffrage a concrete state of facts has probably had more influence than abstract arguments about the inalienable rights of the individual, or about the nature of a democracy. We had a large and growing body of citizens who were dissatisfied with their political conditions. And in a democratic government it is expedient to eliminate such dissatisfaction, if it can be done without violating any vital principle. That, it would seem, has been the chief moving cause in bringing America round to the idea of woman suffrage. But discontent does not necessarily become intelligent by the act of being enfranchised, and the new political privileges now bestowed upon women carry with them the gravest responsibilities. It is no longer a question of sex, but of country and the common weal. And Americans, whatever their doubts and fears in all this matter have been, will hope that the new voters may blend easily in the already great electorate. For a time, our elections will be made more dubious and cumbrous, as they certainly will be more costly. But we do not doubt that the cheerful and indomitable American spirit will apply itself to making our institutions "work," as Gladstone phrased it, even under novel and arduous and what may almost seem revolutionary conditions.

A QUEER EULOGY.

Mr. John W. Weeks, sometime Senator from Massachusetts and now a member of the Steering Committee of the Republican National Executive Committee, is a plain, blunt man that loves his friend. "You know the ablest man does not always get the nomination," he says. Mr. Harding's "name is not connected with any great measure of legislation." "Harding has never really attracted the attention of the public, but that does not mean that he would not make a good President. There are hundreds of men in New York who would make good Presidents if they had given the same attention to matters of Government that Senator Harding has given."

Call you this backing of your friend? Is it Mr. Weeks's plan to show that Mr. Harding is a mediocrity, just an average man; that there are hundreds of other men right here in New York, and by necessary implication thousands of men in the whole country, who would be just as qualified to be President if they had happened to serve inconspicuously in the Senate? By denying any special qualification in Mr. Harding, does Mr. Weeks expect to flatter the vanity of the average man and woman? If he does, he makes a serious mistake. To feel any enthusiasm for a candidate he must possess, in fact or in legend, some pre-eminent gift, eloquence, intellect, will, courage, a genius for administration. Mr. Weeks, instead of painting an idealized picture wherein the candidate's intellectual stature is heightened, exhibits something very much like a blank wall, and seems to expect that it will be much admired.

To be sure, it is rather a Doge, controlled, as he was named, by a junta of Senators, whom the Republicans are trying to elect. If Mr. Harding be not great himself, he proposes to surround himself with greatness. "Our vision," we heard from Marion the other day, "includes more than a Chief Executive. We believe in a Cabinet of highest capacity, equal to the responsibilities which our system contemplates, in whose councils the Vice President, second official of the Republic, shall be asked to participate." Well, Mr. Coolidge is a "smart" Yankee, and we may believe, if we like, that if Mr. Harding should be elected he would pick a Cabinet composed of supereminences, whose names, in the prevailing intellectual stagnation of the Republican Party, it is not easy to think of. Still, granting all that, Mr. Weeks is a singular panegyrist.

RATES, WAGES, DIVIDENDS.

When the Esch-Cummins Railway bill was on passage Senator Cummins said that any statement that it guaranteed the railways anything except what they earned by economy and efficiency was stupidly ignorant or maliciously false. The adjectives are useful in connection with some of the arguments that the States should take away the rate advances which the Interstate Commerce Commission allowed. It is said that because some of the roads pay 20 per cent. dividends they should not have the increases allowed. The protesters add that they would not complain of increases to pay railway wages. According to the best estimates now possible, the increases for five years in both passenger and freight revenues aggregate $2,276,346,086 and the total payroll increase is $2,278,031,563. Virtually all the increases have gone to meet wages. Except for the increase in passenger fares and sundry minor income, the entire net operating income for 1920 would have been wiped out. In 1916 the roads earned net over a billion, against the estimate for 1920 of $600,000,000. This is the result of the increase of the payroll from $1,403,968,437 to $3,682,000,000.

It is fact, not theory, that rates have much to do with wages, and nothing at all to do with dividends. The earnings of a maximum 6 per cent. on property value will work out into all sorts of dividends, from nothing to an amount not capable of statement. Yet the railway employés who received a royal ransom are dissatisfied. They formally resolved that "this act makes the public and labor subservient to capital," and "is a betrayal of the public interest." "Dollars, not men, protected" was the caption in the Federation organ, and "it hurls defiance in the face of 2,000,000 railway men," according to the statement of a member of one of the brotherhoods, who also is a Republican member of the union-card group of the House. Already these things are forgotten, and those who think that the roads are enriched publicly express the view that the line should be drawn at raising rates enough to pay wages, but that there should be no increase of passenger fares, without which the roads would earn nothing from operation. Senator Cummins's adjectives were intended as description, but events have turned them into a prophecy.

REPUBLICAN IRREGULARS.

It is good to see some of the undesignated and unfavored at Saratoga filing their petitions and committing themselves to the primaries. That is what the primaries are for, in part; and it is always refreshing to see the joy of battle and the hope of success brighten miscellaneous Republican bosoms. Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara has found more than 5,000 sympathizers with his ambition to be the Republican candidate for Governor. One hates to think of him as a victim of suppressed longing for a post that he is so conscious of his ability to fill, and even to overflow in. From suppressed ardent oratory he will never suffer.

A hearty greeting, too, to our old friend Mr. William M. Bennett. No primary is complete without him. This year he is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor. Mr. George Henry Payne seeks to snatch the nomination for United States Senator from Mr. Wadsworth, comparatively young in years but in Old Guardism old. Mr. Wadsworth's Republican opponents have been fervent and vocal. It will be interesting to see if they fare as well with addition as with expression. Mr. Francis M. Hugo, the Secretary of State, has unfortunately given up the delight of primary contest for the welfare of unborn, and probably ungrateful, generations.

FRENCH AND BRITISH OIL.

The text of the Anglo-French oil agreement, lately laid before the House of Commons, does not altogether confirm our State Department's recent fears that all foreigners are being excluded from British oil fields. The French are being let in. A semi-official statement issued at the time says that "the negotiations were in no way aimed at the acquisition of exclusive rights," but merely at enabling French and British interests to work together. In Rumania the two Governments, recognizing the complete authority of the Rumanian Government to dispose of all rights, were to "support their representative nationals in any common negotiations" for the acquisition of former German properties, or concessions over oil lands belonging to the State. All advantages resulting from such negotiations were to be divided equally, as was stock ownership and executive control of any companies formed.

In British crown colonies French investors are to have the same rights as British investors in French colonies. In "territories which belonged to the late Russian Empire" the two Governments will give "joint support" to the "joint efforts" of French and British oil men. Baku has fallen from Britain's hand, and it is still to be seen how far joint efforts will succeed in getting anything out. But this, too, merely means that in Russia France and England work together against the field.

Sir Auckland Geddes, in defending his Government against the charge of monopolizing oil rights, said:

> I see Mesopotamia and Palestine mentioned. Britain does not own either Mesopotamia or Palestine. As regards these two countries, the British Government, as trustee representing the League of Nations, has forbidden all surveys and the acquisition of oil rights until the new Governments have been constituted and can deal with these problems for themselves.

However, the agreement provides that France is to have one-fourth of any oil which the British Government may get out of Mesopotamia—this to make up for the loss of Mosul, once in the French sphere of influence—and if the exploiting is done by a private company the French are to own a quarter interest. As for the native Governments which are to "deal with these problems for themselves," if they so desire they can have a twenty per cent. interest in the company, the British presumably keeping fifty-five. In exchange for free passage of pipe lines from Mesopotamia and Persia across the French sphere of influence in Syria to the Mediterranean, France is to have a right to one-fourth of the oil so piped from Persia, where the Anglo-Persian Oil Company is in control. In North Africa "the French Government will give facilities to any Franco-British group or groups of good standing," subject to the provision of French laws which require that a two-thirds interest in such companies must be French.

Aside from Mesopotamia and Persia, then, it appears that American or other outside capital has a fair chance. Those of us who own neither oil wells nor automobiles may think that perhaps the most important phase of the oil question is not Mesopotamian or Persian production, but American consumption.

OLYMPIC VICTORS.

It is perhaps too early to celebrate an Olympic victory, in spite of the clear lead which Americans have achieved; but there can be no doubt as to the excellence of individual performances and the keenness of the contests. Meanwhile the young athletes of the world are rubbing elbows with one another in a very literal sense—not the worst of all ways to engender mutual good-will and a hearty respect.

The Olympic record in the high jump, made by Richmond Landon of the New York Athletic Club, is a highly creditable performance, but has often been surpassed in local championships. As against his 6 feet 4 1-5 inches (1.935 meters) the amateur record is 6 feet 7 inches, made by an American, G. L. Horine. In the 110-meter hurdle race, Earl Thomson of Dartmouth and Canada finished in 14 4-5 seconds—one-fifth of a second better than the previous Olympic record, which was also the world's record. The distance is about a yard longer than that of the more frequently contested 120-yard hurdle race, the amateur record for which is a flat 15 seconds. The world's record in the 400-meter hurdle race, 54 seconds, made by Frank Loomis, Jr., of Chicago, compares almost equally well with the world's record in the 440-yard hurdle race, 54 3-5 seconds, made by W. H. Meanix of Boston, though it must be added that the quarter-mile hurdle race, unlike the 120-yard race, has not been a frequently contested event.

The excellence of the Finns with the weights and the javelin is a phenomenon still to be explained. These contests call for a high degree of muscular force in combination with a maximum explosion of nervous energy; but, contrary to the popular opinion, they call for much more than that. There is a knack in the body swing of applying the power in crescendo, so that the projectile receives the maximum impetus. It is a knack which is acquired only by infinite practice and is not infrequently lost, at least temporarily. More than most contests, weight throwing offers opportunities for the genius of the coach.

As a sheer contest of headwork, speed and grit, the 800-meter run has seldom or never been surpassed. The time, 1 minute 53 2-5 seconds, fell behind that of 1 minute 51 9-10 seconds made by Meredith in 1912; but the difference is fully accounted for by the heaviness of the track. At the finish the three leaders might have been covered by the proverbial pocket handkerchief. The American, Earl Eby of Chicago, is said not to have fully recovered from the effect of the trip across the Atlantic. However that may be, the Englishman, Hill, will be remembered as victor in perhaps the most superbly fought half-mile race ever run.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Roosevelt in the Spirit Land.

The American Metaphysical Association of Sioux City, whatever that may be, has published a volume entitled "Post-Mortem Opinions, by Theodore Roosevelt," written down by one Augusta Erwin under the influence of her spirit control. Everybody on earth was writing a book about Colonel Roosevelt, so it is not altogether surprising that the spirits are trying it. The publishers do not go so far as to say that the spirit in question is the late Colonel; they merely say he says he is the Colonel, and "this volume is the only proof we have to offer."

The Kansas City Star thinks, and we agree, that the "proof" need be studied no further than this sentence: "I want to thank the sincere friends who wept for my departure from amongst their midst." Whatever is in the rest of the book, that alone ought to disqualify it. But there will be those who believe; there are those who believe anything, particularly if it purports to come from the other world.

Nor does there seem to be any way of protecting the illustrious dead. The ouija board, or some other medium, brought down to us a book which purported to be by the ghost of Mark Twain, and which seems to have been poorer stuff than the worst work of the living Mark, which was bad enough. If we believed these reports from the "other side," the intellectual life there must be about as unsatisfying as are those physical comforts with which some optimistic spiritualists have tried to reassure us. Sir Oliver Lodge tells of celestial cigars made out of "some sort of essences," but there seems to be none of the essence of Colonel Roosevelt in these "Post-Mortem Opinions."

Standardizing the Teaspoon.

Nothing is too small, as nothing is too great, for the attention of a truly paternal Government. It might seem like a descent from the sublime to the ridiculous for the Department of Agriculture to turn its attention from soils and crops to teaspoons; but this is what it has been doing. Everything having been standardized, the teaspoon must now be. Elaborate inquiry and tests have shown that the teaspoons of the American home vary by as much as 20 per cent. in their cubic contents. Even wider is the variation in the "teaspoonful." Some cooks and dispensers of household remedies manage to pack much more into a teaspoon than do their lighter-fingered sisters.

All this must be remedied. The Bureau of Standards must give out specifications for the teaspoon which will make it exactly the same thing in all parts of this beloved land. And then the Department of Agriculture must give all and sundry to understand that by a teaspoonful is meant not "heaping," but just "level." Little trifles like these help to make perfection in government.

The Timbers of the Mayflower.

There are the makings of a very pretty controversy in the report that certain ship timbers lately found in the structure of an old barn in Buckinghamshire are, in all probability, the timbers of the Mayflower. A critic on this side of the water has pointed out that the barn must have been built "not later than 1625," and that Governor Bradford's records "tell of the good ship Mayflower bringing fresh immigrants to New England in 1629." That would effectually explode the English theory; but, as it happens, this very critic goes on to say that Governor Bradford does not mention the Mayflower in his original journal, and that the name is "supplied for the first time in an account written in 1669 by Nathaniel Morton."

As against this dubious objection, Dr. Rendel Harris, the English discoverer, adduces evidence as to the condemnation of the ship. An appraisement of her was made to the Admiralty in 1624, in which the phrase was used, in ruinis esse, indicating that she was already broken up. There is other evidence which is considerably more problematical, but which, in the aggregate, is highly convincing. Thus there are carvings on the barn timbers which are possibly meant for mayflowers, and on one of the beams is the syllable "Har," which may have been a part of the name of the port of Harwich.

Thus far Dr. Harris has made out a highly specific and plausible case, and lovers of archaeology and romance will be interested in his find.

"Liberties" for Labor Unions.

The International Typographical Union announces that it has bought $400,000 of Fourth Liberty bonds "as part of its policy to encourage the safest and most convenient method of investment." The praise which might have been given to such action as a matter of patriotism when the issue of the war was in doubt is now due to such action as a matter of business wisdom, with beneficial effects both to the investors and upon public affairs. The Liberties now yield around 6 per cent. in money, and more when considered in connection with tax exemptions on the scale of the union's investment. No doubt in these days of eager bidding for capital a higher return can be got from other investments, though with the advantages and disadvantages of speculation in greater or less degree.

So long as the Liberties are "undigested"—that is, not resting in the hands of those expecting to hold them until maturity, unforeseen necessities excepted—the resources of the banks are diverted from financing trade to financing the Treasury. Buyers of Liberties now are assisting in financing industry and commerce as truly as original subscribers assisted the war on Germany, and without the prospect of loss in case of selling for necessity. Liberties now are on a market basis, not on a patriotic basis, and their approximation toward par with the approach to maturity is not to be doubted. The International Typographical Union will take more out of its Liberty investment than it put in, and the dollars it takes out will be worth more. The confidence it shows in the Government will redound to public confidence in a union of such intelligence and public spirit.

Mr. Taft's Position.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The following quotation from ex-President Taft's speech in New York Feb. 5, 1919, will be of interest in view of his present support of Senator Harding:

"We have power and opportunity. Have we a right to say to the world: 'You go on as you will; we are going back to the isolation that God gave us, and we are going to improve. We are going to chase the dollar and have happiness and prosperity and everything else over here, and you can get into such a mess as you choose until something is done over there that threatens our interests'?

"Is that the attitude that the United States is to take? Is that the attitude that can be sustained by Websterian phrases on the Senate floor?

"No, let us go on and speak for the faith that is in us. Let us hear and see the truth as we understand it. Let us appeal to the people of the United States. Let us support any real League of Nations that is brought back, even if it does not give us all our desires—brought back by President Wilson so that we can discuss its provisions, not in a nagging, critical, unfair way, but with a constructive spirit, with teamwork for all, to go on and realize what should be the glorious fruits of the war."

We believe that these sentiments which Mr. Taft uttered last year express his real desire now. But why should he support that Senator who with others did criticise the League of Nations "in a nagging, critical and unfair way"?

Because the Senate refused to sign the Treaty the United States is standing outside like a paralytic. Russian Bolshevism goes on and German militarism has a chance to revive. And our country is busy with petty politics. Rather we are idle and dumb when the world is in danger. Shall we comfort ourselves in our nest until the days when war knocks at our door?

POLAND.

[After John Sobieski delivered Vienna from the Turks, in 1683, a service of thanksgiving was held in the Cathedral of St. Stephen, the priest preaching from the text: "There was a man sent from God whose name was John."]

Brave land, that has seen thronging through thy gate
Conquerors—thine own, and they who conquered thee—
For years oppressed, and yet forever free
With the soul's freedom, dauntless dost thou wait.
Though the red hordes that seek to desecrate
Man's highest, fairest hopes, thy scourgers be,
Though there be sent, in thy extremity,
No "man from God" (as thy King Austria's fate
Once saved from black despair); yet Poland flings
Each high tradition that has been thy dower—
The love of beauty, music's mystic tone,
The poet's dream, reverence for holy things—
Its strength about thee, like a God-sent power;

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your report from the Harding headquarters in Marion, Ohio, printed in today's Times under the caption "Harding Men Aim to Shift League as Chief Issue," is fruitful in reactions which should be impressed upon every voter.

It is obvious that Harding's managers realize the weakness of their candidate's straddling on the League of Nations. Their decision to rely on the front-porch campaign, picnics and canned interviews argues that they are afraid to bring their candidate into the open to fight as man to man. But the report that they now intend to bury the question of the League of Nations in a general attack on the Wilson Administration has a deeper significance. One gathers that the Republicans intend to expose the "sinful squandering of our resources" by the Democrats, their "saturnalia of extravagance" and their "cataclysm of perverted promises." Sheer campaign bosh! But such charges can refer to only one thing—the conduct of the great war.

No one directly connected with that vast enterprise will be likely to deny that it was extravagant. It had to be. Paying the penalty common to democracies in such crises (the appreciation of which was general at the time) this nation had to remedy its blind failure to prepare by speed and that speed was perforce extravagant. When this extravagance was mentioned among those who bore the brunt of the labor and fighting, the answer invariably was: "Extravagant? Of course it is! But we did the job!" We "put it over—somehow" in that critical "last fifteen minutes," with the aid of English ships and French guns and ammunition.

Do the Republican campaign managers now pretend that this war was an enterprise of the Democratic Party for which that organization is solely responsible? Did Republicans the country over stand aloof? Is Mr. Hays willing to give the Democratic leaders of the Administration all of the credit for it as well as the blame? The inference is an absurd quibble, of course, when applied to the war impulse of a determined, united nation.

The Republican Party stands before the country charged with having, through a group of reactionary Senators, thus far defeated the high resolve and efforts of the American people in the war by preventing the consummation of a treaty of peace and our participation in the existing League of Nations. Would the leaders of that party now commit the folly of belittling or neutralizing entirely the labor and privations, the pitiful sacrifice of life and the pouring out of vast treasure by the Americans who "did the job"? What supermen are these who are setting up their critical judgment as superior to the war impulses and sacrifices of the nation? Are they seeking to make an enemy of every man and woman who sweated blood that "the job" might be finished? It would seem so.

One other thought seems to have escaped Mr. Harding's managers: How can we forget that the recent Republican Congress has a truly unique record for months spent in delays, jealous bickerings and efforts to revenge petty personal spites by the ruin of Mr. Wilson—a Republican "do-nothing" Congress which left us, nearly two years after the cessation of war hostilities, still groaning under the full measure of taxes on the war basis! What right have these men to talk of "sinful squandering" and a "cataclysm of broken promises"?

BELGIAN VIEW OF WILSON.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I quote the following tribute to the President from a letter received from a Belgian friend, a lawyer of fine culture who fought as an artillery officer in the war. It is evidence that many abroad have the same loyalty and admiration for him that multitudes of Americans have:

"It seems to me that this combination of idealism and of realism characterizes the figure of your great President Wilson. There are Europeans who do not understand him and who accuse him of narrowness and of obstinacy, because they are unaccustomed to finding lofty principles in a man engaged in political affairs. You cannot realize how such judgments afflict me. They are not only false, but they are tinged with a mocking skepticism which, for Europeans, represents odious ingratitude. The immense debt of gratitude that we owe him should at least impose an attitude of respect, of criticism full of deference. I add that, to those who admire him, the ills which he is now suffering only render him more loved. His superhuman achievement finally exceeded his physical powers. But that achievement remains everywhere, and we recognize it in Belgium and in France down to the humblest cottages. Would that in these hours of lassitude, in the face of so much misrepresentation and ingratitude, your President could also see all the love which he has sown in the world."

Our Policy on the Consortium.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your leading editorial article of today you say that Senator Harding's remark about reversing our foreign policy would mean "to withdraw Government approval of the Chinese consortium. That is a part of our foreign policy."

Almost President Wilson's first act was to reverse our foreign policy by withdrawing approval of the Chinese consortium on the ground that this was "Dollar Diplomacy." But "Dollar Diplomacy" practiced by Democrats loses its stigma, and in course of time President Wilson again reversed our foreign policy and re-established the Chinese consortium, unfortunately too late to save Shantung, whose surrender can be traced to his first mistake.

Without speculating as to what Senator Harding may do, President Wilson has reversed our foreign policy not once but twice in this one matter.

Price of Cloth and Clothing.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In connection with an article appearing in The Times of Aug. 16 giving Mr. Wood's opinion on the cost of men's clothing for the Fall, I can safely say that there is hardly any ground for a statement of that kind. I fail to see how Mr. Wood, President of the American Woolen Company, arrives at the conclusion that men's clothing, but not cloth, will sell at lower prices this Fall when it is a well-established fact that labor will not be any lower in the near future. If Mr. Wood is so confident that prices of men's clothing will be cheaper, then he had better begin reducing his piece goods; for the greater part of a reduction of a garment is dependent upon reductions by the mills. We are all anxious to see the prices of clothing drop, but Mr. Wood will have to offer a better solution.

AMBASSADOR DAVIS SAILS.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Ambassador and Mrs. Davis, accompanied by their daughter and Miss Watson, their niece, sailed for New York today on the Olympic. Arthur B. Lane, the Ambassador's secretary, and Mrs. Lane were also in the party.

Mr. Davis is on a sixty days' furlough. As he boarded the boat train he said to The New York Times correspondent: "Of course I am very glad to be going home for a trip, but I have had such a pleasant time here and made so many friends that I am sorry to leave them. I shall look forward to seeing them again."

Rumors that in view of the Presidential election the Ambassador may decide not to return have been denied. They were based on the theory that if Harding is elected a Republican will necessarily be appointed in a few months while in the event of success for Cox, Davis might be unwilling to spend another four years away from home.

His popularity here was proved by a number of prominent Americans who came to see him off. Among them were J. Butler Wright, Chargé d'Affaires during Mr. Davis's absence, and Mrs. Butler Wright; D. Campbell Lee, legal adviser to the Embassy; Captain Sexton, U. S. N., and Colonel Oscar N. Solbert, Military Attaché.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—J. Butler Wright, Counsellor of the Embassy, will be in charge at London during the absence of Ambassador Davis, it was announced today at the State Department. This is the first vacation Mr. Davis has had since he was appointed Nov. 21, 1918.

Albert G. Schmedeman, American Minister to Norway, left Christiania yesterday on leave of absence to spend a vacation. Charles B. Curtis, Secretary of Legation, will be on duty there during the Minister's absence.

67,957 IN CHARLESTON, S. C.

Cochrane County, Texas, Is Smallest in Population, with 67 Residents.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Charleston, S. C., has 67,957 population, according to census returns issued today. This is an increase of 9,124, or 15.5 per cent.

Other census figures given out today are:

Lewiston, Me. (revised), 31,791; previously announced as 31,707.

Greeley, Col., 10,883, an increase of 2,704, or 33.1 per cent.

Sapulpa, Okla., 11,634, an increase of 3,351, or 40.5 per cent.

Union, N. J., 20,651, a decrease of 372, or 1.8 per cent.

Census returns for the least populous county in the country, Cochrane, Texas, are announced today. It has sixty-seven inhabitants. That is two more than enumerated ten years ago, making its growth slightly more than 3 per cent.

Cook County, Ill., including the city of Chicago, probably is the most populous county in the country. Its population has not yet been announced, but is expected to exceed 2,500,000.

Cochrane is not the smallest county in the United States, as it has an area of 860 square miles. Its "density" of population is one person to approximately every thirteen square miles. The county is located in Northwestern Texas, adjoining the New Mexico border. It is unorganized and has not even a Post Office.

SAYS QUEENS WANTS CARS.

Chamber of Commerce to Protest City's Traction Fare Policy.

The Queens Chamber of Commerce has decided to protest the alleged discrimination by the City Government against the trolley companies of Queens. This policy is said to have resulted in the suspension of two important trolley lines and may cause the New York & Queens County Railway Company to suspend also. The Directors of the chamber last evening appointed President H. Pushae Williams, John Adikes, John F. Galvin, Robert W. Higbie and Stuart Hirschman a committee to present the protest to Borough President Connolly. Walter I. Willis, Secretary of the chamber, said concerning this action:

"The policy pursued against the trolley companies in Queens has reached a point where it has already begun to affect industries. The North Shore Traction Company has suspended and the bus service which has been substituted is not adequate. The Manhattan & Queens Traction Corporation has suspended and the municipal buses that have been supplied to serve as a substitute have been permitted to charge a 10-cent fare when the trolley company was denied this privilege.

"So far as we have been able to learn from communications which have been sent to the Queens Chamber of Commerce the prevailing sentiment is that while the people may favor a 5-cent fare on general principles, still a 5-cent fare and no trolley companies operating is a far worse condition than the trolley companies operating and a 10-cent fare."

END RELIEF WORK IN LATVIA.

American Aid to be Withdrawn in Other Countries Also.

The termination of child-feeding work by the American Relief Administration in Latvia was announced yesterday at Herbert Hoover's offices at 115 Broadway. A message of appreciation of the work was sent by Lettish Prime Minister Ulmanis, who declared that American aid twice had saved the new Baltic republic.

"American help for Latvia has ceased for two reasons," said the Relief Administration's statement. "First, because that country now has sufficient food to meet its needs; and, second, because the Lettish Government has built up, under American direction an efficient child welfare system which will go on with whatever food assistance is essential.

"With the closing of the American Relief Administration's program in Latvia, the relief intervention of America in Finland and the provisional Baltic States is practically ended; and within a few days all Americans engaged in child feeding in Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Hungary will also be withdrawn. This will leave child relief missions under the direct supervision of the Hoover organization only in Austria and that part of Poland not overrun by the Bolsheviki. However, the American Relief Administration warehouses in Czechoslovakia and Hungary will continue to operate; and in Germany the Hoover warehouse organization, and also the feeding under the direction of the American Friends Service Committee, of some 500,000 children in 182 cities."

MOVING INTO NEW HOME.

S. P. C. C. Youngsters to Occupy Quarters at Inwood.

The youngsters cared for by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children are being moved to the society's new quarters at Bolton Avenue and 214th Street, Inwood, it was announced yesterday. The society will keep its executive offices at the United Charities Building on Twenty-second Street until its new building next the Children's Court is completed. This week more than 100 boys will be taken uptown, and the girls will follow next week.

The Inwood house is a four-story brick structure built in 1869 and owned by the Protestant Episcopal House of Mercy, which has leased it for two years to the Children's Society. The home is surrounded by several acres of woodland, where the children may play. There are four large dormitories, each with thirty-four beds, and two dining rooms, one for boys and the other for girls.

GREATER EFFICIENCY AIM OF NEW SCHOOL

800,000 WORKERS AFFECTED

With the object of co-ordinating the interests of employe and employer and of affording training for men to promote the welfare of workers, the Executive Committee of the National Association of Corporation Schools yesterday approved a plan to establish the American Institution of Industry and Commerce. Henry S. Dennison of the Dennison Manufacturing Company has been appointed Chairman of the committee which will undertake the incorporation. M. S. Sloan, President of the Brooklyn Edison Company, is Chairman of the Finance Committee.

The National Association of Corporation Schools, or, as it will be known in the future, the National Association of Corporation Training, has 154 members, comprising some of the largest concerns in the country. F. C. Henderschott, Managing Director of the association, places the combined capital of the membership at close to $3,000,000,000 and the number of employes at between 600,000 and 800,000. There are approximately 240,000 employed in the steel business; the American Telephone and Telegraph Company employs about 150,000, and the International Harvester Company has about 40,000.

The formation of the American Institution of Industry and Commerce will represent the first long step taken by a group of employers to improve their relations with the workers, according to Mr. Henderschott. The association has undertaken no definite stand on relations between capital and labor, but has sought to place in the hands of its members all the information necessary for the determination of a policy. As a development of its work, the organization will establish a laboratory in which men may be trained as personnel and employment managers, a training which has not been furnished hitherto by the colleges and universities.

Four sites are now being considered for the new institute: Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Pittsburgh and New York. More than 80 per cent. of the plants of members are north of the Potomac and east of the Mississippi. The program calls for the expenditure of at least $100,000 a year for the next three years, and it may be found desirable to add millions to this sum, depending upon the value of the work accomplished.

"The particular object of the institution is the founding of an organization that shall contribute in every way possible to the mutual benefit of all concerned in industrial and commercial enterprises; to develop the efficiency of the individual employe and to co-ordinate his best interests with those of employers; to develop the highest standards of efficiency in industrial operations; to have courses in established educational institutions expanded to meet more fully the needs of industry and commerce, and to encourage all branches of literature, science and art or any of them that pertain to industry and commerce."

The institution also proposes to conduct and endow investigation in matters relating to commerce and industry, to the personnel relations of industry, and to contribute to the economic and social peace and happiness and welfare of those engaged in industry.

In discussing the new institution Mr. Henderschott said:

"Up to this time higher education has provided academic and engineering courses, but the great need of commerce and industry has been the training of men to promote the interests and welfare of workers. Greater production is urged, but the means of encouraging greater effort on the part of the employes has been neglected. Now we will round out the triangle of academic and engineering training by adding education in personnel work.

"Ownership, workers, management and the public have a combined interest in the modern industrial plant. Formerly management and ownership were one. Now the stockholders must be considered. Hitherto the interest of the public was not so clearly manifest, but the public has become a most important factor. The workers have come to share so largely in the affairs of industry that representation in the management is assured them. Procter & Gamble, the soap manufacturers, who are members of this organization, will shortly place three employes on their Board of Directors. So it is evident that the establishment of proper relations between management and the employes is the most important task of the near future.

"Besides actually training men to become personnel and employment managers, the institution will act as a pathfinder for similar work in our universities."

CANNA SHOW IN BRONX PARK.

In the horticultural grounds of the Botanical Gardens in Bronx Park a great mass of cannas are now in flaming bloom. The cannas last a long time, from the middle of July to the middle of September being a fair average for them. From Central America, parts of South America, and even parts of Florida, they come.

They are noted as being about the most gorgeous and brilliant of mass flowers in the rich, glowing colors. Blues are entirely absent among the cannas, but they run through every imaginable shade of solid vermilion, orange, scarlet, crimson, salmon, rose and many shaded, spotted and variegated flowers.

The old-fashioned canna, universally grown ten, fifteen or twenty years ago, still holds its own, nevertheless, its leaves and stems a dark maroon tone, almost purple.

From a comparatively small number of varieties this vast array was obtained by hybridizing. It has proved impossible to get a white, the nearest being a pinkish ivory color, with faded dashes of deeper hue. This suggests nothing so much as one of the brighter flowers washed many times, and therefore considerably faded. There are wonderful rose and orchid shades among the cannas that are very far removed from the rather blatant reds of the earlier varieties.

There is a brilliant yellow variety with fine scarlet dashes and light green leaves. An occasional petal of solid bright scarlet or a petal divided sharply with one-half scarlet and one-half light yellow indicates the origin of the variety. Here and there, too, a leaf is part purple, or perhaps a tip, or just a broad, dark stripe running to the midvein.

Mrs. Alfred Conard is a lovely rose-orchid canna. The Snow Queen is a delicate cream color, and the yellow King Humbert is a popular favorite. There is a canna of magnificent scarlet for those who agree with Eugene Field's preference for "any color so long as it's red." This last is the President, and is a recent hybrid. The first year it was brought out it was put in the White House lawn, and the plant sold for $5 a root.

MISS M'COOK TO WED ELIOT CROSS

Third Daughter of Mrs. John J. McCook of Tuxedo Betrothed to New York Architect.

MISS E. M. KING ENGAGED

LENOX, Mass., Aug. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick T. West of Chicago and Pittsfield announced today the engagement of their daughter, Miss Eleanor Ogden West, to Perry M. Shepard of Chicago. The wedding will take place at Court Hill, the Pittsfield estate of Mr. and Mrs. West, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 18.

Stoddart—Breuil.

Miss Betty Breuil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Breuil of Philadelphia, and Dayton Stoddart, a theatrical representative of this city, were married yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald M. Chandor at 114 East Fifty-sixth Street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. A. B. Moldenke, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran church at Lexington Avenue and Fifty-fourth Street, and the bride's father gave her in marriage. Mrs. Chandor was matron of honor and Louis B. O'Shaughnessy was best man. Only a few friends and relatives were present. Mr. and Mrs. Breuil will make their home temporarily at the Gotham.

D. W. MACDONOUGH MARRIES

The wedding of Miss S. Worthington Mitchell, daughter of the late Dr. John K. Mitchell and Mrs. Mitchell, and Dent W. MacDonough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. MacDonough of 570 Park Avenue, took place yesterday afternoon at Reculver, the country estate of the bride's mother in West Chester, Penn. The ceremony was performed at [illegible] o'clock by the Rev Father Cornelius Clifford.

Mrs. Vinton Freedley of 150 West Fifty-ninth Street was matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were the Misses Mabel Kane and Dorothea Ayer. Mr. MacDonough's father acted as his best man.

Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends attended the ceremony and reception which followed.

The bride is a granddaughter of the late Dr. S. Weir Mitchell of Philadelphia.

After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. MacDonough will spend some time at Reculver, later going to California, where they will live just outside of San Francisco.

Australia's Former Premier Coming.

W. A. Watt, former Acting Premier of Australia, who recently resigned as Commonwealth Treasurer, will arrive here from London on the Baltic on Aug. 26, according to a cablegram received by the Australian Commissioner yesterday at his offices, 61 Broadway.

Mr. Watt, who is a British Privy Councillor, represented Australia in the inter-Empire discussions relative to the Spa conference recently, and was intrusted with important Commonwealth interests. He will stay four days in New York, then returning by way of the Pacific Coast to Australia. He is accompanied by his wife.

Goetz Seeks to Enjoin Hassard Short

E. Ray Goetz, theatrical manager, yesterday applied in the Supreme Court for an injunction restraining Hassard Short from rehearsing and putting on the stage any musical shows for Joe Weber. He also seeks to enjoin Weber from using the services of Short. The injunction is sought on the ground that Goetz has a prior claim for Short's services by reason of a contract made last March. Argument on the motion will be heard on Monday.

In his affidavit Goetz declares that Short cannot be replaced as a director and producer because all the leading directors have been engaged for the season.

Theda Bara Returns from Abroad.

Theda Bara, the actress, returned yesterday from a vacation in Europe on the White Star liner Mobile accompanied by her sister, who went abroad with her and was married in London to Frank Getty, a New York newspaper man whom she had met on the voyage. Miss Bara said that she would soon open in Chicago in "The Blue Flame," and would then alternate in moving pictures and the legitimate drama. Mrs. Getty, her sister, will spend two weeks in New York and then go to London to rejoin her husband.

TO SELL HOG ISLAND YARD.

Expect Bids to be Asked Soon—1,200 Ships Also for Sale.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Bids for the purchase of Hog Island shipyard at Philadelphia will be called for shortly by the Shipping Board. Offers for the Government fleet of more than 1,200 steel vessels will also be asked within a few days, according to officials of the board.

Sale of the great shipyard with its two miles of water front and fifty ways probably will be on a competitive basis for the yard as a whole, officials believe. Disposal of the steel ships under the sales policy recently announced by the board will begin as soon as the necessary advertising arrangements can be completed.

These decisions are taken by officials of the board to mean that Chairman Benson is going ahead with policies laid down for the Shipping Board by the Merchant Marine act without waiting for the appointment by President Wilson of the new board called for by the law.

Announcement of the new agency agreement under which Shipping Board vessels are to be operated pending their sale is likewise expected any day.

CADETS LEAVE CAMP DIX.

Now Marching Back to West Point After Summer Training.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP DIX, N. J., Aug. 18.—With faces bronzed and muscles steeled by a Summer of camp life and field manoeuvres, West Point cadets, who have been training here since June, this morning shouldered their packs and began a long hike back to the military academy on the banks of the Hudson. In heavy marching order and with supply trains accompanying them the future officers will take several days for the overland trip, establishing overnight camps on the way.

Before they said farewell to the camp, the cadets were reviewed by General Hale, camp commander. Major C. F. Thompson, who commanded the detachment here during the Summer, said he was much impressed by the progress made by the men in their Summer's work.

Because of the accommodations for training offered at this post it is expected that Camp Dix will be made the permanent headquarters for the cadets' Summer camp and that two classes, instead of one, will in the future participate in the Summer manoeuvres.

Without mishap more serious than blistered feet the cadets reached Crosswicks late this afternoon, where they are camping in the rain for the night. They will camp at Grover's Mills tomorrow night, at Bedan Brook, near Princeton Junction, on Friday night, and will spend Saturday night and Sunday in a camp near Somerville. They plan to reach West Point a day or two before the opening of the Fall term.

BABY ILL, MOTHER ASKS BAIL

Jailer Ordered to Admit Infant if Alleged Slayer Can't Give Bond.

Mrs. Irene Malfetone, 38 years old, shed tears of joy in the Queens County Court before Judge Burt J. Humphrey yesterday when a woman relative placed in her arms a three-months-old infant, the youngest of her six children. That was the first time she had seen the child since July 28, when she was arrested on an indictment charging her with murder in the second degree. She was then committed to the Queens Jail without bail.

Since that time, according to information laid before Judge Humphrey, the child has become seriously ill. A request was made that the Judge either fix bail for the mother or direct the warden of the jail to receive the child. Judge Humphrey issued the order and fixed bail at $10,000. Friends of the woman were making an effort to get bail but had been unable to do so when the courts closed. Mrs. Malfetone was then led back to the jail carrying her child. The warden had not been served with the order to receive the child and the mother and child were again parted. Today the woman's friends will again take up the quest for bail.

Mrs. Malfetone is accused of having been implicated along with Samuel Peluso in the killing of Mrs. Mary De Sane on April 30

REV. E. R. THORNDIKE DEAD.

Father of Three Distinguished Professors Dies in His 79th Year.

The Rev. Edward R. Thorndike, a retired Methodist Episcopal minister, who formerly was Presiding Elder of the Eastern Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died at 12:30 o'clock this morning at his home, 251 West 261st Street, in his seventy-ninth year. Dr. Thorndike was the father of three distinguished professors—Dr. Lynn Thorndike of Western Reserve University, who is on his way home from Egypt; Professor E. L. Thorndike, head of the Department of Psychology in Teachers' College, Columbia University, and Professor Ashley Thorndike of Columbia. The latter two are attending educational conferences at Oxford University.

Dr. Thorndike was well known in New England. He never held pastorates in this city. He retired several years ago and came to this city to be near his sons. He was a graduate of Kent Hill College, Maine.

Petrova Sails Without Her Plumes.

Mme. Olga Petrova, the actress, sailed yesterday for a trip to Europe, accompanied by her husband, Dr. John D. Stewart. The actress limped up the gangway through having had her right foot infected in some manner a week ago. She was not concerned about her foot, but was very anxious to know about her eight hats, which were trimmed with aigrettes and bird of paradise plumes. The Customs Inspector at the pier informed Dr. Stewart that Mme. Petrova could take the plumes out of the United States, but could not bring them back. Finally it was decided to send the forbidden plumage to the storehouse until the actress returned to New York.

WAUHOPE LYNN DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Justice of First District Municipal Court for 23 Years Stricken at Lynn Cliff.

ONCE NOTED PROSECUTOR

While Assistant District Attorney He Tried 289 Cases in 20 Days—Prominent in Irish Affairs.

Wauhope Lynn, noted as a prosecutor and Justice of the First District Municipal Court here for almost a quarter of a century, died at his home, Lynn Cliff, Good Ground, L. I., on Tuesday night, when suddenly stricken with a heart attack, which followed an attack of acute indigestion. He was in his sixty-fourth year. He had taken a walk on the grounds about his home less than an hour before his death, but he had not been in good health for some time. Governor Smith was a close friend of the ex-Justice, and visited him at his home at Good Ground on Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Smith.

Justice Lynn retired from the municipal bench on Jan. 1 of this year, after twenty-three years' service. He was popular in Greenwich Village, where his court was held for years, and he was prominently identified with the social and political life of old New York.

He was born in Ballymena, County Antrim, Ireland, on Dec. 14, 1856. He came to New York in 1866, when he was 10 years old, and went to work as a maker of chemical apparatus. He learned the mechanic's trade, picking up an education at odd moments. He became a master workman in his line, but sought a broader field, and in 1879 commenced the study of law, entering New York University Law School, from which he was graduated in 1882. He was admitted to the bar in the same year.

As a Democrat he was always ready to serve his party, and as a public speaker he achieved a great reputation. He was appointed Deputy Assistant District Attorney by De Lancey Nicoll when the latter took office in 1891. Soon after he was promoted to be full Assistant District Attorney. In this position he made a record of having disposed of 289 cases in twenty days, the sentences from which aggregated more than 1,000 years.

His first appointment to the bench came in 1892, when Governor Flower named him Civil Justice to succeed the late Peter Mitchell, whose great friend he had been. Judge Lynn was active in Irish affairs in this country, and once with his wife refused to drink to the toast to Queen Victoria at the banquet of the St. David's Society.

His career upon the civil bench for six years during his first term commended him most strongly to the practicing lawyers of the city, and he was returned to the bench. His decisions were generally sustained by the Appellate Term and his opinions were clear and marked in their enunciation of legal principles.

Justice Lynn purchased three islands in Jamaica Bay from the State in 1893. The islands are known as Old Squaw Marsh, Big Fishkill Marsh and Sails Point Hassock. Title to the property was disputed, but after twenty-three years of litigation Justice Lynn's ownership was upheld. He built Lynn Cliff in 1892. When he first went to Good Ground he found many signs posted about the surrounding country forbidding trespassing, hunting, fishing, and the like. He immediately put up a large sign on his property, reading: "Free shooting allowed on these grounds. W. Lynn, owner."

He was a member of Tammany Hall, the Iroquois Club of Greenwich Village and the Monticello Club. He is survived by his second wife and a son, Norman Mills Lynn, and two brothers, John Lynn, a Manhattan merchant, and Harry Gordon Lynn, who is connected with the office of the Commissioner of Accounts.

Mrs. Lillie Eldridge Ryan.

Mrs. Lillie Eldridge Ryan, who died on Tuesday in her 69th year, was the daughter of "Aunt Louisa" Eldridge of stage fame a generation or so ago and a sister of Press Eldridge, the comedian. Herself an actress for many years, she was known to the stage as Lillie Eldridge. As a child she was a member of the famous juvenile Holman Opera Troupe. As a young woman Mrs. Ryan was well known as a Shakespearian actress, her work as Juliet being especially well received. She married Thomas B. Ryan, who with his father was prominent in hotel, theatrical and political circles in the late '70s.

Col. Charles E. Hasbrook, Editor.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 18.—Colonel Charles E. Hasbrook, editor and manager of The Richmond Times-Dispatch for the last six years, died at his residence late today of heart disease. He was 73 years of age and had been in ill health since his return from the Democratic National Convention.

Except for a few years' service as Collector of Internal Revenue in Missouri, Colonel Hasbrook devoted most of his life to newspaper work, commencing under Melville E. Stone, then city editor of The Chicago Inter Ocean. In later years Colonel Hasbrook was city editor, managing editor and finally part owner of The Kansas City Times, from which city he went to New York as publisher of The Morning Advertiser and Commercial Advertiser.

Miss Ida M. Vare Dies in Peking.

PEKING, Aug. 18.—Ida May Vare, a daughter of Representative William S. Vare of Philadelphia, died at a Peking hotel today of tonsilitis. She and her sister Beatrice had been ill since their arrival here, but the latter recovered.

Kenneth G. White.

Kenneth G. White of White & Kemble, investment experts, died recently at Cherry Valley, N. Y., where he had been spending his vacation. Mr. White's specialty was the valuation of railroad bonds. He was instrumental in securing the passage of a number of laws in the States of New York, Connecticut and Massachusetts designed to protect saving bank investments. At an early stage in his career he devised a method of coloring railroad maps in such fashion as to illustrate at a glance what portion of the properties were covered by the various mortgages upon them.

Mrs. H. Mortimer Brooks.

Mrs. H. Mortimer Brooks, who was active in society in this city, Southampton and Newport, died Tuesday night at her Summer home at Southampton, L. I., after a long illness, in her 65th year. Her home in this city was at 820 Fifth Avenue. Besides her husband Mrs. Brooks is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John R. Livermore and Mrs. E. V. R. Thayer, and a son, Reginald Brooks.

DEERY—At a special meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank, held Aug. 18, 1920, the following minute was unanimously adopted:

With deep sorrow we record the death of our fellow Trustee and ardent coworker, Mr. John J. Deery, which occurred on the 16th inst.

Mr. Deery was a member of the Board of Trustees for the past eleven years. He served on the Executive Committee from January, 1915, to January, 1920, and as its Chairman during the year 1919. His services to the bank were of the highest order; he gave unsparingly of his time to further the interests of the bank and its depositors. His extensive business activities, both here and abroad, did not prevent him from engaging in works of charity, and the boards of many charitable institutions as well as our own will miss his wise counsel and kindly presence.

Mr. Deery was a gentleman of the highest integrity; his nobility of character, earnestness of purpose, devotion to duty and gentleness endeared him to all.

In extending our sympathy to his family we are mindful that the board has lost a loyal friend, and we an associate whose death causes a sense of personal loss. John J. Pulleyn, President.

DEERY—The officers and Directors of the Catholic Home Bureau for Dependent children announce with sincere grief the death of its President, Mr. John J. Deery. For many of its formative years he was deeply interested in its welfare, and for seven years past has been its President. In this position he gave freely of his time and strength, that the affairs of the bureau might be conducted with zeal and energy, and that its young wards might be blessed with happy home surroundings. His sympathetic touch, constructive abilities and inspiring direction will be sadly missed by this board.

Dr. Charles F. McKenna, Vice Pres'n.
Edmond J. Butler, Executive Sec'y.

DEERY—The Board of Managers of the New York Catholic Protectory announce with deep regret the death of John J. Deery, a member of the board for thirteen years. Members are requested to attend the funeral services to be held at Church of St. Paul the Apostle, Columbus Av. and 59th St., Friday, Aug. 20, at 10:30 o'clock A. M.

Myles Tierney, President.
William F. Heide, Acting Secretary.

DEERY—The Xavier Alumni Sodality announces with deep regret the death of John J. Deery, sodalist since 1893. Members are requested to attend the funeral services, as announced.

Charles Edward Nammack, M. D., President.
James J. McNerney, Secretary.

Are You O.K.?

Do you remember the last time you applied for credit? Or for a position? You were undoubtedly asked:

"How much life insurance do you carry?"

Your credit, your position and your prestige often depend on the way you answer that question.

Credit Men, Bankers and Employers judge a man, to a great extent, by his desire to safeguard his business and home—as the desire is expressed in life insurance.

How well have you safeguarded your interests? How easily can you look a prospective creditor or employer in the eye?

Let me explain how your credit, your opportunities and your prestige can be enhanced through life insurance. Call, write or phone to

THANKSGIVING MONUMENT TO BE ERECTED ON THE MARNE.

The Thanksgiving monument to commemorate the beginning of the Americans' counterattack July 18, 1918, will be built at Dormans as a national Thanksgiving monument. It is pictured in this week's MID-WEEK PICTORIAL. There are ninety-four etchings of important news events in all parts of the world during the preceding week; also etchings of beautiful women, sports, drama, politics, important persons in the news—many pictures worth framing.—Advt.

PIPP'S LONG DRIVE WINS FOR YANKEES

First Baseman Hits Homer in Ninth with Fewster on First, Beating Indians, 4 to 3.

LEWIS'S BAT IS BIG FACTOR

Duffy Chases in New York's First Run and Starts Two Subsequent Rallies.

Wallie Pipp, the Yanks's first baseman, usurped Babe Ruth's throne as monarch of the wagon tongue at the Polo Grounds yesterday afternoon by lashing a home run to deep right field in the last of the ninth which propelled two runs over the plate and gave the Yanks a 4 to 3 victory over Cleveland.

Jim Bagby had pitched brilliant ball up to this point, and the disorganized Cleveland Club had played fairly well. This first game following the Chapman fatality found the Indians still depressed and with changes in the lineup. Lunte was at shortstop, and during Manager Speaker's temporary absence Jamieson was in centre and Jack Graney in left field.

More than 17,000 fans attended the game, and mourning bands of crepe were worn on the sleeves of both the Cleveland and New York players. The flags on the grandstand were at half-mast, and in the early innings there was a spell of unusual quietness. The Cleveland players, and the Yanks also, lacked their usual aggressiveness. As the game wore along, however, both players and spectators became more interested in the contest.

Jack Quinn, who did the pitching for the Yanks, got into trouble in the fourth, fifth and sixth innings, and Cleveland gathered three runs. The third counter came in the sixth, when Elmer Smith cracked a home run off the boxes in the upper tier of the right field stand. Elmer is doing considerable home running off the Yank pitchers of late.

Ruth's Bat Is Quiet.

Babe Ruth's bat was in a restful mood yesterday. He walked the first time up, and in the third inning hit a fly a mile high to Jamieson. In the sixth he grounded to Johnston, and did the same thing in the eighth.

Babe's fame has traveled across the world and yesterday he was interviewed by a reporter from a paper in Tokyo. The Japanese reporter asked Honorable Babe if he would not make a respectful visit to Japan and hit up honorable runs-home for the Nipponese. Honorable Babe allowed how he would like to make runs-home for the Nipponese if the respectful coin was honorable enough.

Bagby was a bit unsteady in the first inning and after Ward flied to Graney, Peck singled to centre and went to second on a wild pitch. Ruth walked, after he had excited the crowd hitting a foul to the upper stand which sailed into foul territory. Pratt skied to Jamieson and Lewis spanked a single to right which scored Peck and sent Ruth to third. Pipp grounded out to Johnston. Lewis's hitting figured also in two of three other runs scored later by the Yankees.

When Lunte first came to the bat in the third inning, he received a round of applause. Wambsganss was the first Clevelander up in the fourth and he singled to centre. Pratt threw Jamieson out at first and Smith flied to Ward. Gardner's single to centre sent Wamby home. O'Neill drew a ticket and Johnston fanned. Johnston fanned at the third strike, but Umpire Nallin behind the plate didn't see him swing. He called it a ball and there was a protest, a quiet one, from the Yankees. The case was appealed to Umpire Tommy Connolly, who decided that Johnston had swung at the ball and was out.

Indians Take the Lead.

It was in the sixth that Smith damaged Quinn's pitching with a home run. Quinn settled down after the big smash.

The Yanks had a fine chance in the seventh, but the best they could make out of it was one run. Lewis opened with a two-bagger to left, and he scored on Pipp's single to centre. Wallie did a bit of foolish base running and tried to go to second. Jamieson tossed the ball to Lunte and Wallie found a reception committee waiting for him. This play was followed by a cracking single to centre by Bodie. Ruel forced Ping and Bob Meusel was sent in to bat in place of Quinn. Meusel was in bad shape, and is still limping badly. His left leg is swollen and bandaged, and although he made a hard effort to hit the ball, he struck out, and that rally ended with the score 3 to 2 and the Yanks trailing.

Rip Collins succeeded Quinn and had a lot of speed. He didn't allow any hits in the last two innings. The crowd expected Ruth to do something in the eighth, and Babe came to the bat with two gone. The crowd yelled for him to make a homer and tie the score, but Ruth's grounder was easily consumed by Doc Johnston. Then the crowd started to go home to tell the folks how the Yanks were beaten.

In the first of the ninth Steve O'Neill slammed a long drive to right and Ruth got it after a run. As he was about to throw the ball after the catch he dropped the pill, but O'Neill was declared out just the same. Johnston and Lunte were easy for Collins.

And Along Came Pipp.

There didn't seem to be much hope for the Yanks, and as the crowd was making for the exits, Pratt rolled to Gardner and was an easy out at first. Duff Lewis, a good man for just such an occasion as this, spanked a single to left. Chick Fewster ran for Lewis. Wallie Pipp came up and, without a word of warning, he gave the ball a tremendous slam, and it sailed high and far to the deepest corner between right and centre fields.

Jamieson and Smith both went after the truant ball. The footing out near the fence was slippery, and Fewster had crossed the plate before the ball was corraled. Pipp ran with his long antelope stride, and the stands were in an uproar as he raced over the plate with the victory. Pipp had scored before the ball had reached second base on its return trip.

Pipp was a hero. He had turned defeat into victory with his splendid smash and the crowd surged out onto the field to greet him as he came in. They rushed around Wallie in a mob, and everybody tried to pat him on the back at once. Pipp had a hard time getting to the club house. The Yankee players surrounded him to protect him from his admirers and he got safely to the clubhouse without making a speech.

Curves and Bingles

The Yankee victory, together with the defeat of both Chicago and Cleveland, again places the first three clubs in the American League race within whispering distance of one another.

The Yankees will play one game with Cleveland at the Polo Grounds this afternoon.

In the Cleveland-New York series thus far this season the Yankees have won eleven games and Cleveland seven. The clubs have only four more games to play against each other.

When Babe Ruth came to the bat in the eighth, Umpire Connolly, who was umpiring on the bases, left his station behind first base and sauntered over in front of the field boxes. Tommy believes in safety first.

Carl Mays was not in uniform yesterday. His turn to pitch will not come until the Detroit series.

Bodie made an encouraging kind of a single when he started the second inning. Ping received no aid, as Ruel hit into a double play.

Now that Japan's after Ruth, offers are expected any day now from all the other nations.

Meusel's leg injury is a damaged vein and he will probably not be able to do much for another week or so.

CLEVELAND MOURNS FAVORITE PLAYER

Flags on City Hall and Court House at Half Mast—Plans for Chapman Memorial.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 18.—Raymond Chapman, premier shortstop of the American League and star infielder of the Cleveland Club, will be buried Friday morning. At the request of his family the body will not lie in state. The funeral will be held at 10 A. M., with services at St. Philomene's Church, East Cleveland. The pallbearers will be announced tomorrow. Some of them, it is understood, were ushers at the wedding only a few months ago.

Chapman's death received official recognition from the City of Cleveland today, when flags on the City Hall and Court House were flying at half mast.

A large crowd of friends and admirers was at the station when Chapman's body reached here this morning. It was removed to an undertaker's morgue and this afternoon taken to the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin B. Daly. Mrs. Chapman, accompanied by her parents, Manager Speaker and Joe Wood of the Indians, and several others, was on the same train and went direct to her home. She is bearing up bravely.

James Johnson and J. R. Johnson, Chapman's uncles, arrived today from Owensboro, Ky., but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Everett Chapman of Herrin, Ill., will not arrive until tomorrow morning.

Hundreds of messages of condolence were received today from all parts of the country. Among them were telegrams from Governor James M. Cox, Democratic Presidential candidate, and B. B. Johnson, President of the American League. Mr. Johnson declared that he would attend the funeral and would receive a report of the accident from Tris Speaker.

President Dunn of the Indians arrived here today from Cincinnati.

Fifteen thousand men, women and children tonight had contributed ten cents each to the "flower from a fan" fund, started by a local paper. The campaign will be continued tomorrow. It has been decided to use about one-third of the contributions for a floral design, and the balance will be placed in another fund which is being raised to erect a memorial for Chapman at League Park.

Manager Speaker declined tonight to make any statement regarding the accident. He denied making any statements in reference to Pitcher Carl Mays, who threw the ball which struck Chapman in the New York-Cleveland game Monday and caused the injury which resulted in Chapman's death. He said he would not discuss the subject until after the funeral, if then.

Catcher Steve O'Neill and Outfielder Jack Graney, veteran members of the Cleveland club and associated with Chapman for many years, will leave New York tonight to attend the funeral. These two players, with Manager Tris Speaker and Outfielder Joe Wood, who accompanied the remains to Cleveland Tuesday night, will represent the players at the funeral. Thomas Raftery of Boston, a former Cleveland player, and John Kelly of Jersey City, both close friends of the dead player, will leave here tonight with O'Neill and Graney to attend the funeral.

The members of the New York Yankees, at a meeting yesterday, made arrangements for the sending of a huge floral piece to the late home of the deceased. Cols. Ruppert and Huston, owners of the Yankees, sent another floral tribute, and the members of the New York Chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America, arranged for a third.

The Cleveland players will leave New York tonight for Boston. They are anxious to get away from the scene of their sorrow. Manager Speaker, with Wood, Graney and O'Neill, will rejoin the other players at Boston Saturday.

In respect to the memory of the deceased ball player the game scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at Boston between the Cleveland and Boston clubs has been called off, to be played off later in a double-header.

UMPIRES CRITICISE MAYS.

Evans and Dinneen Attack Pitcher and Defend Connolly.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—The explanation by Carl Mays of the New York Americans that the killing of Ray Chapman, star shortstop of the Cleveland Club, was due to a rough spot on the ball which caused it to take an unexpected twist, was the subject of a statement today by Umpires William Evans and William Dinneen of the American League.

"No pitcher in the American League resorted to trickery more than Carl Mays in attempting to rough a ball in order to get a break on it which would make it more difficult to hit," the statement said. "Until the new pitching rules came into force which put a severe penalty on a pitcher roughening the ball, Mays constantly used to drag the ball across the pitching rubber in order to roughen the surface. Hundreds of balls were thrown out every year because of this act."

The umpires took notice of a remark attributed to Mays that Umpire Thomas Connolly, who was behind the plate, was responsible for the accident because he permitted a rough ball to stay in the game. The umpires characterized this alleged statement as an alibi that came with poor grace from the pitcher.

"A short time ago," they added, "the club owners complained to President Johnson that too many balls were being thrown out. President Johnson sent out a bulletin telling the umpires to keep the balls in the games as much as possible, except those which were dangerous."

The players of the Boston and Detroit Clubs who were at the point yesterday of signing a petition to have Mays banned from the game, today awaited word from Manager Speaker of the Cleveland Club as to his opinion of the pitch which killed Chapman and his views on their proposed action. Several asserted that regardless of any general action, they would not go to bat against Mays again.

The remarks attributed to Umpires Evans and Dinneen apparently was the result of a mistaken impression concerning a statement which the player did not make. Like all other attacks on the pitcher, this one comes from persons far from the scene of the tragedy. As far as is known Mays has not attempted to put any blame on Umpire Connolly or anybody else for the unfortunate accident which resulted in the death of Chapman. Most of the harsh words against the New York pitcher to date have been uttered from Boston. The Cleveland players, who witnessed the accident, have yet to show any feeling against the pitcher, and Manager Tris Speaker has told the owners of the Yankees that he will discourage any such feelings if they should arise. Meanwhile the attacks on Mays continue and the player, already prostrated by the accident, is being made to suffer more.

MACK VOICES HIS SYMPATHY.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—"My sympathy goes out to Carl Mays," thus did Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, comment on the Ray Chapman and Carl Mays situation today when informed of the report that several American League clubs had held informal meetings and purposed striking if the New York twirler was permitted again to take his place in the pitcher's box, because one of his pitches was the cause of the Cleveland shortstop's death.

"Outside of Mrs. Chapman and the Chapman family, I believe no one feels the effect of Chapman's death more than Mays," continued Mr. Mack. "I am of the opinion that he should be extended sympathy instead of trying to blemish his name.

"This season Mays has acted in a manner fitting a gentleman on the ball field. He has not done anything out of place. I am sure the hitting of Chapman was purely accidental. This is no time to dig into his past record. He needs sympathy and friendship.

"The Boston and Detroit clubs acted hastily in declaring that Mays should be barred. The Philadelphia American League Club will not follow their example. We will do nothing in the matter."

HEADGEAR FOR PLAYERS.

Baseball Officials Consider Use of Device to Prevent Injury.

Headgear for ball players, to use while batting, is being considered by club owners and players as a result of the unfortunate accident which resulted in the death of Ray Chapman this week and it will not be surprising if batsmen of the future go to the plate with a covering on that side of the head that is nearest to the opposing pitcher.

That club officials had the subject under consideration was disclosed yesterday by Magistrate F. X. McQuade, Treasurer of the Giants. When asked if the headgear would resemble the helmets such as are sometimes used by aviators and which were quite the vogue in football in former years, he declared that nothing definite had been decided upon. It is probable, however, that sporting goods manufacturers will offer some models and the one which seems to suit conditions the best will be adopted.

Though the idea of headgear in baseball will sound strange to the fans, the adoption of such a form of protection will be following the trend of the sport to bring out at intervals protective devices that lessen the tendency to injury on the part of the player. When introduced the various devices invariably met with some ridicule on the part of players who had gone through years of service without the protecting equipment, and from the fans as well, but in turn each additional bit of armor has come to be regarded as an essential.

When the big glove, now in general use behind the bat, was introduced it was ridiculed as a pillow. Up to the time of its adoption the catcher wore a skin tight glove with little padding in the palm, and some without fingers. The breast pad got a similar reception and the shin guards, when introduced at the Polo Grounds by Roger Bresnahan less than fifteen years ago, were ridiculed from one end of the major league circuit to the other.

The wisdom of all these appliances has been proved beyond question, and today no catcher would think of going into a game without all the equipment, since each plays its protective part against injury by a pitched or tipped ball. A headgear for batsmen, in view of the fatal accident of a few days ago, probably would not be ridiculed to the extent of the devices mentioned, though it would seem odd at first to the fan.

JOHNSON SOUNDS WARNING.

American Leaguers Forbidden to Play in Hartford Territory.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 18.—President Dan O'Neil of the Eastern League announced today that President Ban Johnson of the American League has prohibited managers of clubs in his league from permitting their players to appear in exhibition games in Hartford Eastern League territory.

The action was the result of protest by Mr. O'Neil on the appearance in East Hartford in Sunday games this season of several American League stars engaged for the day by local semi-professional teams. Johnson threatens American League players with fines and suspensions for violations of the order just issued.

Cubs Buy Pitcher Fuhr.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—President Veeck of the Chicago National League baseball club announced today the purchase of Oscar Fuhr from the Omaha, Nebraska, club of the Western League. He is a southpaw, and will join the Cubs at the close of the Western League season. Fuhr has fanned 131 batsmen so far this year.

BRYN MAWR WINNER OF ATLANTIC CUPS

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 18.—Bryn Mawr defeated Norfolk here today, 9 to 7, in the final game of the season and thereby captured the Atlantic Cups. The game was one of the best seen upon the local fields this season and was chock full of brilliant plays despite the fact that the ground was somewhat soggy and slippery from the rain of the night previous and this forenoon. Both teams were out to win from the start, and there was never a letup during the hour's play.

Converse and Collins for Bryn Mawr played a steady game at the forward positions, while Denny Gatins and Roddy Wanamaker were towers of strength on the defense, and also rode the ball up the field time and time again.

At the start Bryn Mawr was forced to overcome a two-goal handicap, but by persistent playing and good team work this was accomplished early in the game. On the other hand Norfolk put up a superb game both on the offensive and defensive, but was unable to stand the pace set by the Pennsylvania team in the closing periods.

Amory and his running mate, Bacon, were in the game every minute and played the ball through the opposing backs on several occasions, but were unfortunate with their shots. Clark and Bowditch also played a consistent game.

Bryn Mawr was awarded one foul on Clark, substituted today at No. 3 in place of P. W. Wrenn for Norfolk.

The summary:

BRYN MAWR.	H'cap.	NORFOLK.	H'cap.
No. 1—G. W. Converse	3	No. 1—J. A. Amory	4

Hale Garner Sets Track Mark for Two-Year-Olds in Mile Race.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Four good races were held this afternoon on the Harry Clay track here in connection with the Orange County Fair. In the two-year-old class trotting, Silver Brook was the winner in the last two heats, but in the first heat Hale Garner, owned by R. C. McCleanathan of Erie, Pa., made the mile in 2:15½, and lowered the track record for two-year-olds by two seconds. Silver Brook in winning the race was awarded the trophy for having made the best record for a two-year-old on the Orange County circuit this year.

FRIEDE WINS A. C. A. TROPHY

New York Canoeist Again Sails to Victory in National Meet.

CLAYTON, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Leo Friede of New York City, international canoe sailing champion, won the national trophy again today at the annual regatta of the American Canoe Association at the Thousand Islands. His time for the race of six miles was 1 hour 5 minutes 3 seconds.

Friede won the first race for the trophy last Friday and the second yesterday. The third and final race was held today over a triangular course of one and a half miles, sailed four times around. There was a very strong wind.

Friede has won the trophy each year since 1914 and this year again sailed the Mermaid, with which boat he has won all previous races.

PROTEST IS SUSTAINED.

Part of Giants-Phils Game of July 5 Must Be Replayed.

President John A. Heydler of the National League yesterday sustained the protest of the Philadelphia Club on the game played between the Giants and Phillies at the Polo Grounds on the afternoon of July 5. The play on which the protest was made occurred in the seventh inning when Umpire McCormick allowed a double play on an infield fly. He declared this was a misinterpretation of the rules.

With one man out, Stengel on second and Fletcher on first, Wrightstone hit a high fly back of short, which Umpire Harrison ruled an infield fly and declared the batsman out. Left - Fielder Burns, apparently not hearing the umpire, made an attempt to trap the ball, Bancroft moving out of his way. The ball fell to ground, Stengel advancing to third. Fletcher was called out when ball was fielded to Doyle on second, Base Umpire McCormick declaring the runner forced out.

This decision was clearly the result of misinterpretation of the playing rules, says Mr. Heydler, as the force was automatically lost when the infield fly was called.

Philadelphia also petitioned to have the game played over, but this was denied. President Heydler ordered that prior to the next scheduled game on Sept. 4 the two clubs replay only that part of the game subsequent to the play in question and that the teams line up as nearly as possible as in the game of July 5. The score at that time was 6 to 0 in the Giants' favor.

To avoid confusion of the records the Club standing as well as the player averages will stand, pending the official termination of the game.

BARNES ELIMINATED IN PRO GOLF PLAY

CHAMPION IS OFF FORM

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—There never has been such a grand little old year as 1920 for the dethroning of the champions in golf. Harry Vardon discovered it last month in the British open, Long Jim Barnes ran against a snag three weeks ago in the Western open, Walter Hagen was unseated in last week's National open classic, and today Barnes got bumped once more.

Lanky Jim, big favorite to win the professional championship of America, since one of his pet specialties is match play, even though he does fail now and then in medal competition, was eased out of the picture today at the Flossmoor Country Club in the second round by that chubby, red-faced young Scot from Caroustie, Clarence Hackney, who has been teaching a fine brand of golf to Atlantic City people for these several years. It was the greatest kind of an upset, for, although he is a dangerous opponent for any man, Hackney never was figured to turn the trick on Barnes, who has been the holder of the professional title since the championship tournament was established back in 1916.

Hackney had most of the luck today, true enough, but he didn't win by luck. He played good golf that was a great many degrees better than that of Barnes both on the fairways and on the putting greens, and finished the tussle at the thirty-second hole 5 up and 4 to play. At the end of the morning circuit Hackney was four holes up on the Cornishman and getting better with every shot.

Off Day for Many Players.

Otherwise the second round today had no alarming surprises, even though several losers were rated beforehand to be just as good as their conquerors, and for that matter can still be regarded as having experienced one of those off days that come so periodically on the links. Louis Tellier of Boston, for instance, finished drubbing Charlies Mayo on the thirty-fourth hole, by 4 and 2. Yet Mayo when he came to this country, early last Spring, was preceded by a fanfare of trumpets and personally appointed press agents who heralded him as one of Britain's greatest. Jock Hutchison's streak of great golf continued today and he put away from further harm that young Scot, Laurie Ayton, who also arrived on this side in the Spring at about the time of Mayo's coming. The score was 5 and 3.

Three pros from the New York metropolitan district remain to enter tomorrow's third round, two in addition to Hackney. Peter O'Hara, the jovial Sinn Feiner from Shackamaxon, New Jersey, put out Alex Cunningham of St. Joe, Mo., by 5 and 4, and George McLean of Great Neck, L. I., eliminated Tom Kennett of Chicago, 8 and 7. Two New Yorkers joined the homegoing procession, George Thompson of Mount Vernon, lost to Harry Hampton of Richmond, Va., 5 and 4, but Joe Sylvester's score against big Bob Macdonald should be told in a low whisper. Sylvester, the pride of St. Albans, L. I., was tumbled by 11 up and 9 to play. He surely gave the giant Scot an easy day.

Of poor Jim Barnes it may be said that his luck so far this season has been outrageously unfair. He was bumped from pillar to post, or rather from sand trap to bunker, at the Metropolitan open at Greenwich, and some evil hoodoo of the links has followed him ever since.

Barnes's Putts Unlucky.

During this morning's round of his match with Hackney, he couldn't seem to make his long trusted driver behave, and when he did get into trouble his brilliant recoveries were spoiled the next minute by unlucky putting. A golfer has to depend largely on his luck. There's no use denying that axiom, and today Barnes just didn't get his share.

Starting out in the afternoon four holes down to the Atlantic City man, it was a different story. On a couple of holes, notably the twelfth, where he was denied a win by downright misfortune, it was not luck which kept Barnes in hot water. It was Hackney's better playing, his straighter tee shots, and his deft touches on the greens that sank putts of four or five feet just when they were most needed. At the end, and in fact some holes before the finish, since he knew the inevitable outcome, Barnes was about as hot under the collar as a golfer ever gets. He entrained for St. Louis tonight to pay his first visit to his Sunset Hills Club since arriving back from England a month ago yesterday. He holds only one other title, the Southern open, which must be defended next month at Druid Hills, Atlanta, home of Bobby Jones and Douglas Edgar and several others who have eyes on this crown.

Hackney won the first three holes this morning and thenceforth was never down. Moreover, Barnes never squared the match, for his day's work consisted of only four wins, whereas Hackney won nine holes. On the very first Barnes took three to get on and holed out in five, whereas Hackney was on in two and down in four.

Links Hard and Dry.

The present condition of the Flossmoor course, grass dry as tinder and ground so hard and baked that it is opening one inch and two inch cracks on nearly every hole, gives far more distance than normally. The yardage covered under customary conditions with a drive and a brassie second shot can now be equaled by the same drive and a mashie pitch. Three hundred yard tee shots are the rule nowadays here, and not the exception.

Barnes played into a trap on the short second, losing it, and after twice visiting a hazard on the long uphill third he conceded the hole, taking an approximate six. The next two were halved, but Long Jim drove out of bounds on the sixth and put Hackney 4 up. Jim's ten-foot putt on the eighth won this hole, his first of the day, and by halving the ninth they made the first turn with Hackney 3 up.

Hackney holed a ten-footer to win the twelfth, missed a six-footer on the short thirteenth and had to halve it in threes, but went to 5 up when he won the fourteenth. This is a hole where a straight tee shot is an asset, for that fairway is guarded by yawning traps. Whereas Barnes took a chance and landed in a trap, Hackney played more safely with a shorter drive, chipped to the green and then was rewarded with a fifteen-foot putt for a birdie. Barnes got back this loss with some brilliant golf on the next. Two straight and long balls landed him on this green, which lays 434 yards from the tee, and he holed a twenty-foot putt for a birdie three. They halved the remaining three, both being trapped on the dog-leg eighteenth and taking sixes.

Hackney Starts Well.

Hackney started the afternoon, as he did the morning, with a win on the first hole. Although trapped just in front of the green on his second, he made a pretty out and sank a twelve-foot putt, rolled over a hummocky and deceiving surface, for a birdie 4. Barnes overshot the short second and was lucky to halve it, which he did by reason of a nine-foot putt. He won the third 5 to 6 after Hackney had needed four to get on because of two sliced shots into long grass.

The Easterner had to sink a five-footer from a hanging lie to halve the fifth. Halves continued thenceforth until the thirteenth, although Barnes twice had miserable luck. He rimmed the cup on the 126-yard seventh hole over the Flossmoor pond for his two and had to take a three, but on the twelfth came his worst break of the day.

This hole, out of sight of the tee because of a high ridge and 477 yards long, had to be played differently from most long ones. A wooden tee shot may not carry a brook which cuts the fairway some 250 yards from the tee, so the professionals elect to play a midiron from the tee and then a brassie over the ridge. Barnes's second was short, but Hackney's run into a dense clump of bushes, hole high and to the right. In playing out he couldn't see the green at all, but had to double over in a knot and poke at his ball under a big bush. His outkited clear across the green to rough at the left, whereas Barnes's third landed on nicely. Hackney pitched his fourth to about seven feet of the pin and holed out from this distance for the five which halved with Barnes. Here was a case where crazy-quilt golf was as good as straight playing.

End Comes on Fourteenth.

Hackney was like a Van Cortlandt Park duffer on the short thirteenth, 109 yards downhill. His tee shot was way short and landed in a trap and his second flopped far over the green. He took a 5 to Barnes's par 3. But the end came on the tricky fourteenth lined with traps. A tremendous drive, straight and true, landed Hackney on the green and he took 2 putts for the birdie 3. Barnes was short and on in 2 for a par 4.

Hackney's morning round represented an approximate medal score of 71, three under par, but it cannot be esteemed too highly since he won the third hole by concession, and several putts on other greens, sometimes as long as eighteen inches, were conceded. Both were magnanimous in this respect. The cards compared to the Flossmoor par follow:

Cunningham, the Missouri Scottie, who defeated Willie Marfarlane Tuesday, found an impossible obstacle today in Peter O'Hara. O'Hara led him by two up at the end of the morning and finally wound up the match on the thirty-second hole 5 and 4. It was largely a match of stymies. In the morning Cunningham was stymied on the fourth and eighth and O'Hara on the thirteenth and fifteenth. In the afternoon O'Hara played such brilliant golf that Cunningham predicted him as a finalist when the title is decided Saturday.

The scores on the second round follow:

Upper Half.

Peter O'Hara, Shackamaxon, Westfield, N. J., defeated Alex Cunningham, St. Joseph, Mo., 5 and 4; George McLean, Great Neck, L. I., defeated Tom Kennett, Olympia Fields, Chicago, 8 and 7; J. Douglas Edgar, Druid Hills, Atlanta, Ga., defeated Joe Sylvester, St. Albans, L. I., 11 and 9; Bob MacDonald, Bob o'Link, Chicago, defeated Willie Mehlhorn, Tulsa, Okla., 1 up.

Lower Half.

Ernie Hjertberg Would Quit Swedish Team, It Is Reported

ANTWERP, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—Friction over the unsatisfactory and disappointing showing of Swedish athletes in the seventh Olympic games, of which there have been rumors for several days, culminated last night in a report that Ernie Hjertberg, trainer of the team, had requested that he be relieved of further responsibility. The request was made, it is said, to the Swedish Olympic Committee, which is not expected to take any action in the matter at this late date. Hjertberg will not go to Paris with the Swedish team and a number of American athletes who will participate in triangular games with French stars at Pershing Stadium on Aug. 29.

WALSH IS GOLF WINNER.

Defeats Gotelli, 2 Up, in Final of Herald Cup Tourney.

One of the youngest golf players of New York captured a leg on one of the oldest golf cups in the city at Van Cortlandt Park yesterday, when Richard Walsh, a seventeen-year-old representative of the Scottish-American Golf Club, defeated W. T. Gotelli in the final match for the famous Herald Cup. The struggle for the city championship on the links was a close battle, marked by steady playing on the part of the winner and some brilliant golf on the part of the loser. If Gotelli had sacrificed some of the spectacular side of his exhibition in favor of a little of Walsh's steadiness, the result might have been different.

The morning round of eighteen holes ended in a deadlock, both Gotelli and his younger opponent having covered the distance in 72 strokes. The second round was hard-fought, but it soon developed into a runaway for Walsh, who played with the coolness of an experienced golfer and rarely flubbed his drives or missed critical putts. He moved along the course toward the final green without a falter, taking the lead early in the afternoon and retaining it to the end, although the match might have been squared at the final hole. Walsh won by 2 up.

The first three holes in the afternoon round were halved before Gotelli won his first hole with a three. The advantage was immediately lost on the fifth, which Walsh took with a four, but Gotelli won the sixth and seventh and halved the eighth and ninth, finishing the outward journey, two up on his younger rival. The lead was maintained on the tenth green, which was halved, and on the eleventh and twelfth holes, which Gotelli also halved with Walsh. The match was squared again on the fourteenth, after Walsh had taken that hole and the previous one. The fifteenth was halved and Walsh became one up by winning the sixteenth.

Gotelli's bad putting was the only thing that kept him from squaring the match. With his opponent holding the narrowest of leads the best that Gotelli could do was to halve the seventeenth with a four. On the final green he used his iron and drove forty yards off the green. He pitched to the green but was short on his approach and on his putt. Walsh, using his wooden club, was dead on the hole on his approach and Gotelli conceded him the hole and the match.

The cards were:

In the competition for the beaten eight, H. C. Bell, of the Scottish-American Golf Club defeated J. F. Kieran of the New York Golf Club, 1 up, in twenty holes, and thereby won the consolation medal. The match was played in the morning, and provided the hardest-fought battle of the day. It was a battle royal throughout, with each of the two golfers taking the lead, only to lose it before the match had gone far. At the eighteenth hole the match was squared, and it was not until three extra holes had been played that Bell was able to gain the verdict.

Officials of the committee in charge of the year's tourney for the Herald Cup were especially gratified by the quality of the golf played by the various competitors. They said last night at the end of the final match that the form of most of the players had been far superior to that of former years, which was taken by them to indicate a steady improvement in the golf being played on public links in this and other cities. The Herald Cup tourney was under the auspices of the New York Golf Club, and has been a fixture in New York golf for the last twenty-one years.

TILDENANDGARLAND SHINE AT LONGWOOD

WILLIAMS AND HARTE WIN

Defeat Niles and Dabney with the Loss of One Set—Hayes and Burdick Also Triumph.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—William T. Tilden, 2d and Charles S. Garland, both members of the American Davis Tennis Cup team, jumped into the limelight in the national doubles championship at the Longwood Cricket Club this afternoon, when they handed the strong combination of Frederick B. Alexander and S. Howard Voshell one of the most artistic beatings seen here in a long time, thus advancing beyond the field as the first team to enter the semi-final round.

The three sets of the match were scored 6—2, 6—3, 6—3, but the impression gained by the spectators was that the winners seldom if ever played their hardest, even though their opponents are ranked third in the country today, just behind Johnston and Griffin and the Australian title holders, Brookes and Patterson.

The former national champions had a far harder time coming through the second round against the utterly unknown team of J. B. Fenno and W. W. Ingraham, the local youngsters winning one set and carrying two of the others to deuce. Richard Norris Williams, 2d, and Richard Harte also dropped a set to their clubmates, Nathaniel W. Niles and Alfred Dabney, but almost outclassed their rivals in the remaining three.

The closest match of the day resulted from the meeting of Walter Hayes and Ralph Burdick, the Western champions, and the new partnership of Craig Biddle and T. R. Pell, the former combination winning in five hard-fought sets, 6—1, 3—6, 6—8, 7—5, 6—3.

Semi-Finals Tomorrow.

Tomorrow's program brings Johnston and Griffin against Lyle E. Mahan and Arthur Yencken, Williams and Harte against Willis Davis and Roland Roberts, and Hayes and Burdick against Wallace Johnson and Stanley Pearson, the winners progressing to the semi-final round, which will be played on Friday.

Tilden and Garland were a revelation to the gallery today, and the tennis they played looked absolutely irresistible. Voshell and Alexander were by no means below form, although the veteran tired badly toward the end and failed to cover the necessary ground. In general they were simply outclassed by the lightning play of their opponents. Voshell's service had no terrors for them, and, while Alexander often found opportunities for some of his famous headwork, he rarely outguessed or outhit the two stars on the opposite side of the net.

The figures of the individual stroke analysis of this match tell an amazing story. It is not often that a man earns more points at tennis than he loses on errors, but both Tilden and Garland accomplished this feat by a wide margin. Garland, in fact, made only three errors in the first set, two in the second and eight in the third, a total of thirteen for the entire match, bettering this total by eight points in his placement column. Tilden, with nearly twice as many finishing shots to his credit, either winning or losing, made an even more astonishing record, his errors totaling twenty-seven and his earned points thirty-four, a difference of seven in his favor, in spite of the great number of reckless chances that he took.

seem the more valuable to his side. Yet the seem more valuable to his side. Yet the youngster scored a majority of his placements from setups provided by the forcing shots of his partner, and what errors he made were chiefly of the simpler variety, whereas Tilden generally erred in trying the impossible. To the gallery it seemed that the world's champion often indulged in needless poaching, but his daring tactics were on the whole successful, and won far more points than they lost.

Garland is exactly the kind of partner that Tilden likes to have, taking all the shots that are clearly his, and slipping up on few chances for kills, but never wandering from his territory or otherwise interfering with the court generalship of the natural leader of his side. Close observers noted a tremendous improvement in the doubles play of Garland since his trip abroad. He is more severe than formerly, and has developed his sharply angled volleys to a very fine point of precision. His service is far from aggressive, but with Tilden at the net it is by no means a light weapon, for he generally manaegs to place the ball in such a way as to give his partner good opportunities for killing. Off the ground Garland is wonderfully steady, and he delighted the crowd today with his splendid returns, particularly off service.

But where Garland aroused enthusiasm, Tilden had the spectators positively gasping. His exhibition in the national challenge round on these same courts last year was termed by Brookes the greatest doubles play he had ever seen, but today's performance was if anything superior even to that remarkable achievement. There seemed to be no shots that Tilden could not make with ease, and he habitually turned spectacular gets into winning aces. His back-hand half volley, for instance, ordinarily a desperate defensive stroke, was actually a consistent point winner, for he followed through so freely that the ball traveled with sufficient speed to pass his opponents cleanly at the net. He also made his low back-hand volleys sufficiently aggressive for scoring purposes, and there seemed no such thing in his repertoire as a purely defensive shot of any kind.

No Cannon-Ball Delivery.

Tilden rarely used his cannon-ball service today, contenting himself with comparatively slow, wide breaks, which drove the receivers entirely out of the court at times. Once, however, when he was in the hole at 15—40, he let loose with his fast ball and pulled out the game with scarcely a suggestion of resistance from the other side. His chief weakness was overhead, and here he wasted a number of points through an apparent hesitation to carry out his shot with full force. All of his half-hearted attempts were either netted or sailed outside, whereas the reckless swings usually scored outright. Off the ground, too, he was inclined to net the ball when playing it carefully, and his best shots were those which came off with every appearance of complete carelessness.

On the losing side Alexander was the weak spot, even though Voshell lost his service four times in the course of the match, as against only two upsets on the part of the veteran. The game of the old national doubles champion was mostly a lobbying affair, and some of his recoveries of smashes were extraordinary, particularly in the accuracy of his anticipation. But his legs refused to carry him about the court as in former days, and much of his generalship was wasted because of physical inability to carry out his intentions. He had the largest total of service aces of the entire quartet, however, chiefly because of his accuracy in placing his delivery. When in a position to clean up, Alexander almost invariably came through with a winning shot, but his volleys could not cope with Tilden's speed when he was on the defensive.

Voshell was somewhat handicapped by the comparatively slow court after the morning's rain, and his service was no puzzle to the internationalists. Overhead he was very safe, even at some distance from the net, and some of his smashes carried enough speed to have disabled an opponent had he been in the way.

Refreshments to be Given Runners in Marathon Race

ANTWERP, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—Announcement has been made that, although the Olympic rules prohibited it, the Marathon Committee had decided to permit runners in that classic event on Sunday to receive refreshment en route. Stations will be established each five miles, where runners may arrange to have their favorite refreshments awaiting them.

Opening Set a Walkover.

The opening set was a walkover for Tilden and Garland. They divided service games up to 2-all, and then broke through each of their opponents in turn, meanwhile winning all of their own services with the actual loss of only one point in four games. Double faults contributed to both of the breaks, but aside from these errors the points were mostly earned.

The second set began with a break through Voshell, and the same player was upset once more for the finish of a 6—3 session. It was only after trailing at 15—40 on his opening delivery of the third set that Tilden unlimbered his fast service. He scored four points in rapid succession as soon as he began to hit the ball hard, finishing with a clean ace after two dazzling volleys. Alexander was upset for a lead of 3—1, which became 4—1 and then 5—1, as Voshell also failed to win.

With Garland serving the match point came up at 40—30, but errors spoiled the chance, and a good shot by Alexander saved the game. The veteran pulled out his own service also, after trailing at 15—40, serving three aces in the course of this game. Two more chances for the match were wasted by Tilden before the finish came, a double fault throwing away one of them. Finally be brought up the last vantage point with the smash of a high bounder from deep court, and then, getting an easy one close up, he ended matters with a terrific kill to the grand stand, the set being scored 6—3.

Following is the point score and individual stroke analysis:

Youngsters Spring Surprise.

Johnston and Griffin were clearly surprised at the opposition they received from Fenno and Ingraham, and the youngsters fully earned the set that fell to them, as well as most of the games in the other sessions. The Californians showed a disposition to take things easily, but had to play their hardest before the end of the match, with a growing crowd gathering around the court and applauding the local youngsters for their plucky fight.

The single set, won by Niles and Dabney against Williams and Harte, was also well deserved, for the losers threw all caution to the winds after having lost two sessions by onesided scores, and met the Newport winners at their own game of hard hitting and crowding the net. They took the set 6—3, by breaking through Harte's service in the sixth game. In the final set they broke through the same player again, but quickly lost this advantage and the match was finished by a 6—2 score.

Biddle and Pell after a bad start, which lost them the opening sessian at 6—1, made a wonderful stand against Hayes and Burdick, and looked like possible winners after taking the lead by two sets to one. They pulled up on even terms after trailing at 2—5 in the fourth set, only to lose by a count of 7—5. In the rubber they again overcame a long lead, breaking through Hayes for a love game, but Biddle became unsteady overhead, losing his service by smashing wildly out of court and eventually dropping the match with a similar shot. It was brilliant tennis, however, right to the finish, and heartily appreciated by the gallery.

National Doubles Championship.

Second Round—R. Morris Williams and Richard Harte, Boston, defeated Nathaniel W. Niles and Alfred S. Dabney, Boston, 6—1, 6—2, 3—6, 6—2. Clarence J. Griffin and William M. Johnston, San Francisco, defeated J. Brooks Fenno, Jr., and W. Ingraham, Jr., Boston, 6—3, 7—5, 4—6, 7—5. Walter T. Hayes and Ralph H. Burdick, Chicago, defeated Craig Biddle, Philadelphia, and T. R. Pell, New York, 6—1, 3—6, 6—8, 7—5, 6—8.

Third Round—William T. Tilden, 2d, Philadelphia, and Charles S. Garland, Pittsburgh, defeated Frederick B. Alexander and S. Howard Voshell, New York, 6—2, 6—3, 6—3.

Tilden and Garland vs. Alexander and Voshell:

MISS BALLIN WINS CLOSE NET VICTORY

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Miss Florence Ballin of the West Side Club one more proved herself a tennis player of exceptional skill and courage today on the old courts of the Longwood Cricket Club when she pulled out an uphill victory over Miss Phyllis Walsh, the Florida State champion, by scores of 3—6, 6—4, 6—0 in the third round of the women's invitation tournament. Miss Helen Baker, the Pacific Coast title-holder, reached the semi-final round by defeating Mrs. A. A. Shurtleff in straight sets, 6—4, 6—3, and Miss Marion Zinderstein was a third round winner over Mrs. Benjamin E. Cole at 6—3, 7—5. Mrs. Robert Haydock and Miss Eleonora Sears became semi-finalists in the doubles, with Mrs. Barger Wallach and Mrs. L. G. Morris also advancing another round.

The courts were heavy and slow today as a result of hard rain in the early morning hours, and these conditions unquestionably handicapped Miss Ballin at the start, for she likes speed and a high bounding ball, with a dry surface under foot. Miss Walsh is also a hard hitter, but she adapted herself quickly to the soft turf and did brilliant execution with her volleys almost from the outset. The New Yorker found it impossible to cover the ground in the face of the determined net attack of the tall Philadelphian, and her own wildness contributed to the decisive loss of the first set at 6—3.

Miss Walsh continued her aggressive tactics in the second session, and for a time it looked as if she were headed for a surprising victory. Her rival hung on, however, and never softened the power of her drills, even when everything seemed against her. This persistence eventually had its reward, for after squaring the match by the narrow margin of 6—4 Miss Ballin came through splendidly with a love-set for the rubber, keeping remarkable control of all her strokes and increasing her speed with every rally.

The winning teams in the doubles had comparatively little opposition. Following are the summaries:

Women's Singles—Third Round—Miss Marion Zinderstein defeated Mrs. B. E. Cole, 6—3, 7—5; Mrs. Robert Leroy defeated Miss Kathryn Flanders, 6—1, 6—1; Miss Florence Ballin defeated Miss Phyllis Walsh, 3—6, 6—4, 6—0.

Women's Doubles—Second Round—Mrs. Barger Wallach and Mrs. L. G. Morris defeated Miss Isabella Mumford and Miss Penelope Parkman, 6—3, 8—6; Miss Eleanora Sears and Mrs. Robert Haydock defeated Mrs. William J. Clothier and Mrs. G. P. Gardner, Jr., 6—0, 6—3.

ARMOUR IS GOLF VICTOR.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 18.—T. D. Armour, the Scotch golfer, continued his winning way in the Shenecossett championship here today. He defeated Lewis Tetlow, of Westerly, by four and three. Armour putted beautifully and feels that he has at last gauged the American greens. His most dangerous rival, N. A. Dempsey, of Macon, Ga., also won, defeating W. F. Whitmore, of Hartford, by 4 and 2.

Harold Take, the Hartford golfer who is captain of Harvard's team, eliminated James Bush, of Columbus, on the last green in the best match of the day. The other semi-finalist is C. A. Griscom, also of Hartford, who defeated Phil Corbin, of Shuttle Meadow, by 5 and 3. All of today's winners are entered for the amateur championship at the Engineers' Club in September.

Man o' War Has Completely Recovered from Lameness

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—It was declared today that there is nothing wrong with Man o' War and that he will be ready for his engagement in the Travers Stakes on Saturday. The big colt pulled one of his plates during his phenomenal work yesterday and after his return to the stable it was found that he was somewhat sore. This morning, however, he was as sound as ever. It is astonishing how much solicitude was displayed on the part of everybody when it was rumored that the champion had shown lameness. Everybody wants to see him go on and achieve even greater triumphs than those with which he has been credited to date, phenomenal as they are.

TWO UPSETS MARK CIRCUIT MEETING

Peter Manning Bows to Defeat in $5,000 Winoga Stake—Great Britton Also Loses.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—Upsets in two of the five races featured the second day of the Grand Circuit race meeting at the Belmont track, Narberth, today. The track was slow owing to the heavy rains.

The biggest surprise was the defeat of Peter Manning, Tommy Murphy's trotter, which hung up a new world's record for trotting geldings in a race at Cleveland last week. The veteran "Ed" Geers was behind Murphy's horse in the $5,000 Winoga Stock Farm Stake, the richest of the week, and set the crowd wild in the first heat by coming from behind with a rush, beating E. Colorado in a terrific drive to the wire. In the second heat, however, Peter Manning made a bad break at the first turn and was many lengths back of the field at the first quarter. Geers did not try to drive the gelding out and was distanced. Taras Hall won the heat in 2:08¼, but was beaten by E. Colorado in the third heat. The race was decided on the three-heat plan and the money divided according to the standing, with E. Colorado the winner of the cup and the largest share of the purse.

The second surprise came in the $2,000 Nawbeek Farm Stake for three-year-old trotters. Great Britton, driven by J. L. Dodge, was picked to win this event, but after taking third place in the first heat broke and was distanced in the second. Emma Harvester won the event in straight heats.

Lon McDonald captured the B. F. Keith Theatre Cup in straight heats with Baroness Cochato in the 2:14 trot. Dora Haynes was the winner of the novelty dash race at one mile and 100 yards. This is the first race of the kind ever held here, the horses getting the word on a walk. Only two started in the 2:03 pace for the Horse Association's Cup and Geers won with Goldie Todd.

SMOKE SCREEN WINS GRAB BAG HANDICAP

Breaks in Luck Give Him Victory by a Length Over General J. M. Gomez.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Gifford A. Cochran's Smoke Screen, which earned quite a reputation before coming east from Kentucky, came up fully to expectations here today when he captured the Grab Bag Handicap, a strictly sporting event for juveniles at six furlongs, which carried with it a guaranteed purse of $4,000. This son of His Majesty got up in a hard stretch drive to defeat A. H. Diaz's General J. M. Gomez by a length, while the Quincy Stable's Knobbie was thrid, about two lengths further back. There were eleven starters and it was one of the best contests seen here for two-year-olds. There were no fewer than half a dozen horses which had a chance all the way to the sixteenth pole, where the winner emerged from the bunch and moved into the lead. Even then three fought it out for a few more strides, when Knobbie found the drive too much for him and could not keep up with General J. M. Gomez in the fight for second place.

A large week-day crowd turned out for this race and the Clemons Handicap, which was won by J. E. Widener's Naturalist, which came back with one of his best performances and easily took the measure of S. C. Hildreth's Mad Hatter, demonstrating that at a mile he is hard to beat in any company. Altogether the card was the best that has been offered this week.

Smoke Screen ran a very clever race in winning the Grab Bag Handicap, but he needed the aid of racing luck to win, and it was the impression after the race that General Gomez was much the best in the race. General Gomez seems to have suffered ill luck in all his races at Saratoga. Today he was carried wide at the stretch turn until he was in the middle of the track, when he was making his run at the leaders, while Smoke Screen by the same movement was enabled to slip through on the rail and save enough ground to bring him up to the front and give him the chance he needed to race down the winner. But aside from this fortunate break in his favor Smoke Screene proved to be better than a number of other high class colts in the race when he easily disposed of them as he moved up to the leaders.

Although Naturalist had proved to be one of the best performers at a mile in the country, no matter what weight he carried, he was made the second choice in the Clemons Handicap, in which practically all the support went to Mad Hatter. The manner in which Naturalist won convinced all those who saw the race that the Widener gelding was much the best. Mad Hatter ran his race, but at no time seriously threatened the winner. The Hildreth colt has not won a race this year, although he was regarded as one of the stars of the Hildreth string at the beginning of the season. Apparently he is not as good a horse as his owner believed he was last Autumn.

As the barrier went up, Naturalist went to the front and in less than a sixteenth of a mile had a lead of two lengths. Mad Hatter was rather slow to get into motion, but in the long run through the back stretch he made up for any disadvantage he suffered at the start by getting up to second, in a position to challenge the leader at the stretch.

Thirteen very good three-year-olds went to the post for the opening race, a dash at six furlongs, which was won by W. R. Tolmie's Captain Herschler, which led all the way and lasted to win by a nose from H. P. Whitney's Afternoon. Mlle. Vivian was third. Captain Herschler and Afternoon had all the speed and the race developed into a two-horse contest. They raced almost head and head for the entire distance, and Captain Herschler held on gamely, so that Afternoon could never gain an inch through the stretch run. Pontypridd had her first start in this race and was made the favorite, but after getting away badly she had little chance and was almost last at the finish.

WORLD'S RECORD IS MADE BY THOMSON

By P. J. PHILIP.

This morning's tryout in throwing the hammer showed that Pat Ryan is likely to be unbeatable. With the utmost ease he threw 52.83 metres, which was far better than Bennet, the second man, was able to do, and nearly 5 metres in front of the Swede who took third place. McGrath and McEachern also qualified for the finals, making four Americans to qualify.

U. S. in Obstacle Race.

The first three heats of the obstacle race were also American successes with two winners and two places. The best time was made by the Englishman, Hodge, but both Devanney and Flynn are capable of equalling his performance in the final.

The American runners in the 1,500-meter race did not show such good form, and in their defense it should be said that the long boat trip has prevented them regaining their form as quickly as the shorter distance men. They have not had full time to get back into the best condition. Joie Ray, however, won his heat in front of the famous British runner, P. J. Baker, and Connolly and Shields also qualified with third places for the final.

Among the other nations there are some strong runners at the distance. The best time today was done by a Czechoslovan with 4:02 1-5, and the Englishman, Albert Hill, was second. The Swedes also have at least two men who are powerful runners and likely to give Ray a hard tussle all the way.

The games continue to draw very little local attention and spectacularly they are scarcely equal to some small town sports.

No Firsts for America.

ANTWERP, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—Italy, Canada, Finland and Sweden divided all four first places in today's final events, the consistent performances of the American gained for them three second places, two thirds, two fourths, one fifth and one sixth—a total of 32 points. Sweden came next in the scoring with 15 points, and Finland third with 12 points. These three nations are now leading in the point honors, with England fourth.

Aside from the consistency of the American athletes, there was nothing especially noteworthy in their performances today. The shutout of Americans from first places was decisive. In the 110-meter hurdles Thomson led Barron by fully two and a half yards at the tape. In the shotput the defeat of America was a big surprise. Pat J. McDonald of the New York A. C., the champion in the Olympic Games of 1912 at Stockholm, today was able to get no better than fourth place, and that was obtained with a put made in the elimination trials Tuesday.

Loss of Stars Felt.

The loss of Sol Butler, due to a pulled tendon, prevented the Americans from making a better showing in the broad jump, while the inability of William Plant to start in the 10,000 meters walk, owing to a strain, cost America one of her best walkers.

The American mile runners did excellently in the trial of the 1,500 meter run today, three out of four of them qualifying for the final. Joie Ray of the Illinois A. C., though slowed up by a weak tendon, proved himself the best of the Americans, living up to his reputation by leading a fast field almost all the way and winning his heat impressively.

The summaries:

Track Events.

110-Meter Hurdles (Final)—Won by E. Thomson, Canada; H. E. Barron, United States, second; F. S. Murray, United States, third; Wilson, New Zealand, fourth; W. Smith, United States, fifth; C. Christiernssen, Sweden, sixth. Time—0:14 4-5 (world's record.) Former record was 0:15, made by Forrest Smithson, United States, in 1908.

3,000 Meter Steeplechase—Those who qualified for the final follow; M. Devanney, United States; P. Flynn, United States; R. B. Watson, United States; A. Hulsenbosch, United States; Ambrosini, Italy; Rissanen, Finland; Hedvall, Sweden; Mattson, Sweden; Hodge, England. Hodge made the best time, 0:17 2-5.

1,500-Meter Run—Those who qualified for the final follow: Vohralik, Czechoslovakia; A. G. Hill, England; Audinet, France; Lundgren, Sweden; D. McPhee, England; M. L. Shields, United States; John Zander, Sweden; Porro, Italy; J. J. Connolly, United States; J. W. Ray, United States; P. J. Baker, England; Fourneau, France. The best time was 4:02 1-5.

10,000-Meter Walk (Final)—Won by Frigerio, Italy; J. B. Pearman, United States, second; C. E. J. Gunn, England, third; McMaster, South Africa, fourth; W. Hehir, States, sixth. Time—48:06 1-5. States, sixth. Time—48:06 1-5.

Miscellaneous Events.

Graeco-Roman Wrestling (Preliminaries)—Light Heavyweight Class—Eriksen, Denmark defeated N. Pendleton, United States. Pendleton was disqualified after 22 minutes for using the barred arm hold; Leonardson, Sweden, defeated F. W. Maichle, United States Navy.

Heavyweight Class—Hansen, Denmark, threw A. M. Weyand, United States Army, in 7 minutes; Lindford, Finland, defeated E. E. Willkie, United States Navy, in 30 minutes.

American wrestlers still remain in the light, middle and light heavyweight classes, but they have been eliminated from feather and heavyweight classes.

EBY DESCRIBES GREAT RACE.

ANTWERP, Aug. 18 (Associated Press).—Athletes, trainers and experts from all parts of the world were today still discussing yesterday's 800-meter race, which was declared to be the greatest ever run. Lawson Robertson, one of the coaches of the American team, said no such field ever competed before and that it was the fastest half mile ever run, considering the slow track. All others agreed that if the race had been run at the Harvard Stadium or at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, the world's record for the distance would have certainly been broken. Many hold the opinion that Earl Eby of the Chicago A. A., who finished second, would have won if he had had another week of training.

"It was the hardest race to run and lose I was ever in," said Eby late last night while discussing the contest with The Associated Press. "The first quarter was run in 54¼ seconds, like the 440 in America. My legs ached like a toothache at the end of the first lap, it being the first time in my running career that I ever experienced such a sensation. I was absolutely blind coming up the stretch and could not see Hill, who won the race. I could only feel him when our elbows touched. I didn't think of anything except to keep going to the finish, which, it seemed, would never come.

"I wish I might have won the greatest event of my career, but I must take off my hat to Hill, who is one of the most wonderful half-milers I ever saw or heard of. I may still compete in the 400-meter race, but I am too tired tonight to make up my mind. Today's ordeal took more out of me than any race I ever ran."

ARIEL WINS FIRST OF CLASS 'R' RACES

THE ALASTOR IS SECOND

Special to The New York Times.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 18.—The first race for the Greenwich Cup for Class "R" sloops from Boston and New York was sailed today. The challenger, Ariel, Addison G. Hanan's craft, from the Indian Harbor Yacht Club of Greenwich, Conn., was the winner of the opening race. The second finisher was Frank C. Paine's Alastor, while Sidney A. Beggs's Ruweida II. was third. Finishing fourth was the other challenger, the Rogue, the syndicate sloop.

In today's race the little "R" sloops were handled by some of the best-known Corinthians of Long Island Sound and Marblehead. On the winner, in addition to Addison G. Hanan, her designer and owner, who was at the helm, were Butler Whiting and Mr. Hanan's son, Jack Hanan.

This afternoon, for the first time this Summer off the North Shore, an easterly breeze of good strength, with a real sea, if only a chop, was provided by the weather man, giving a real test for racing yachts.

Hanan's Skill Wins Race.

The Ariel won as the result of the skillful handling of Addison G. Hanan, beating the defenders Alastor and Ruweida H. easily on both the off-the-wind legs. Up-the-wind it was a very close thing between Alastor and Ariel, sailing in altogether different waters.

The boats were given a course much longer than is regularly laid out for races off here, thirteen and five-eighths miles. This was a run to the south mark of five and one-eighth miles, then a beat to windward of four and seven-eighths miles across to the southeast Breakers Buoy, and a broad reach home of three and five-eighths miles.

The starting and finish line was off the Corinthian Yacht Club, giving a fine view to all of a part of the race. When the starting gun was fired the challengers Ariel and Rogue were right at the line, but the defenders Alastor and Ruweida II. were both fully half a minute away. The Ariel, Rogue and Ruweida II. started at the weather end of the line over the fort, but the Alastor was away to leeward. The boats were timed across, after the signal: Ariel 12 seconds, Rogue 15 seconds, Alastor 3 seconds and Ruweida 42 seconds.

Handicapped by Position.

The Alastor's start at the leeward end of the line put her further behind before the boats were straightened out for the run to the south mark, as her skipper was forced to make a short tack to weather Buoy 3, off Lighthouse Point. Clear of the guide mark at Marblehead Rock spinnakers were broken out to port on the Ariel, Rogue and Alastor.

They were timed around the first mark: Ariel 3:04:39, Rogue 3:05:26, Alastor 3:05:34 and Ruweida 3:05:45.

Timing from the starting signal the Ariel had outrun The Rogue 47 seconds, the Alastor 55 seconds and the Ruweida 1 minute and 6 seconds, as the elapsed times for the five and one-eighth miles of running were: Ariel, 39:39; Rogue, 40:26; Alastor, 40:34; Ruweida, 40:45. As soon as the defenders Alastor and Ruweida were clear of the buoy they were brought around on the starboard tack and headed inshore. The Ariel followed almost at once to cover these two boats, but the Rogue stood on until she was well to weather of all.

When the three inshore boats were outside of Halfway Rock they met the Alastor on the starboard tack, headed for the mark, and for a time it looked as if she might be ahead of the Ariel, but this was not so, for the Hanan craft turned the Southeast Breakers buoy with a lead of 48 seconds. Alastor was second, a minute and 17 seconds ahead of Ruweida, which in turn led the Rogue by 3 minutes and 39 seconds. The elapsed times for this beat to windward were: Alastor 1:08:16, Ariel 1:08:23, Ruweida 1:09:22, Rogue 1:13:20.

Reaching home to the finish each boat in turn outfooted the boat astern, so that at the finish the Ariel had a lead of a minute and 44 seconds over the Alastor, the Ruweida was a minute and 47 second further astern, while the Rogue was not timed across the line until 4 minutes and 46 seconds afterward. The elapsed times for the last leg of the course were: Ariel 29:10, Alastor 30:06, Ruweida 30:36, Rogue 31:21.

THE PLAY

By Alexander Woollcott

The Admirable Tweenie.

Rogers	Arthur Barry
Baptiste	Brandon Peters
J. T. Bates	John Cope
Rufus Paterson	Mark Smith
Georgina Case	Martha Mayo
Elsie Case	Madeleine Marshall
Divvy Bates	Saxon Kling
Margot Merrill	Grace Valentine
Professor Orlando Sperry	Grant Stewart
Mr. Keys	Franklyn Hanna

After several trials and tribulations on the road "The Cave Girl" arrived last evening at the Longacre, where it was jovially received by a lot of warm dramatic critics and no end of actors more or less at liberty. At first they found it an obvious and rather less than fair-to-middling comedy, played according to the rules of the hammer-and-anvil school of acting, but it grew steadily more and more amusing as the evening wore on and ended by establishing itself as an entertainment quite three-quarters full of laughter.

It is the work—probably not the latest work—of those confirmed collaborators, George Middleton and Guy Bolton, who wrote "Adam and Eva," "Polly With a Past," and, if you must know, "The Light of the World." This time they have turned out a diversion about a party of tenderfeet from New York who are marooned in the Maine woods. There, robbed of the aids of civilization, they are quite helpless until a guide's daughter rescues them and rules over them as a benevolent despot. It is probable that the plot sounds vaguely familiar even to theatregoers who have not yet seen "The Cave Girl."

Through all this comedy of the wilderness there runs a curiously discordant note of Broadway. It is in the speech of the players, of course, and particularly in that of the little Down East heroine, whose accent suggests forcibly that her habitat is about as far down east as East Forty-second Street.

But more than that, it is in the very lines and flavor and quality of the play. It was obviously written with its eye more on the main chance than the Maine Woods. It is the kind of forest romance that could best be conjured up at the Hotel Algonquin to the soughing of an electric fan and the soft plash of ice slipping in a tall tumbler. This is the forest primeval, the murmuring jazz and the taxi.

However, if Messrs. Middleton and Bolton have not thought overmuch about life in the wilds, they have obviously seen and studied "The Admirable Crichton," and there is also evidence that such unrelated works as "Carmen" and "Candida" were neither out of their thoughts nor beyond their reach.

The company, which has been directed to see that nothing escapes even the more slow-witted of us out front, is variegated in its abilities. The cave girl is Grace Valentine. Those of us who saw her in "Johnny Get Your Gun" long ago and decided then that she never in this world would amount to anything as an actress must now eat our words. Besides being extraordinarily agreeable to look upon in her huntress garb, she makes the little cave girl ever so winsome and carries the whole play with a deal of intelligence and spirit.

Of the rest, there is good work by Brandon Peters, Grant Stewart and Madeline Marshall, but particularly by John Cope. Mr. Cope is probably still suffering somewhat from the shock he sustained when they called on him to play a lovable old man in "Back Home," but in "The Cave Girl" he can snarl and growl to his heart's content. And no one can beat him at that.

MUSIC NOTES.

Tschaikowsky's Fourth Symphony, Dvorak's "New World," and, tonight, Beethoven's Fifth, make a three days' record of artistic programs unapproached in years for the National Symphony Orchestra's classic week at the Stadium. There will be vocal solos this evening by Helen Stanley and Robert Maitland.

Tomorrow's gala farewell night at the Stadium presents two sopranos, Marguerite Namare and Dicie Howell, while Walter Rothwell will conduct excerpts from "Tannhaeuser," "Tristan," "Master Singer" and "The Dusk of the Gods," by Wagner.

The Police Band will play in Central Park this evening in compliment to City Chamberlain Berolzheimer's work for the Mayor Hylan people's concerts. Assisting are Louise Darelee, soprano, and Greeb Evans, baritone.

Orville Harrold, the Metropolitan tenor, and Florence Macbeth, soprano, of the Chicago Opera Company, are announced to take part tonight in a Summer music festival at Asheville, N. C.

HARRY TATE, the English vaudeville artist, who has played in humorous sketches in this country, arrived yesterday from Liverpool on the White Star liner Mobile with his wife, for a two weeks' vacation.

Cigarettes Distributed Instead of Whisky Last Night.

Small packages of cigarettes were distributed last night by chorus girls to the audience at the Selwyn Theatre, where miniature flasks of whisky had been distributed the night before. The cigarettes were accepted without cheers.

Federal Supervising Prohibition Agent James Shevlin said yesterday that Arthur Hammerstein, producer of the show, would be asked to appear before the United States District Attorney today and that evidence that the Volstead act had been violated would be placed before the Grand Jury. Mr. Shevlin had in his possession one of the bottles given away at the show and said that it contained whiskey. According to the press agent of the show, the flasks contained microscopic dosages of tea, and the impression that it was whisky was produced by the color of the liquid and mob psychology.

Mr. Hammerstein, by advice of counsel was silent. Two prohibition agents who called on him yesterday told him he would be indicted.

'Paddy the Next Best Thing' Coming

"Paddy the Next Best Thing," a comedy by Gayer Mackay and Robert Ord, now running in London, will be presented at the Shubert Theatre on Wednesday night of next week. Eileen Huban and Cyril Scott will head the cast, which will also include Vera Findlay, Hugh Huntley, Eunice Elliott and others.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Broadway Theatre, which recently became a Keith house, will change its policy on Labor Day. Vaudeville and motion pictures will make up the program, and there will be only two shows daily.

Frank Morgan, Jerome Bruner and Almeda Fowler have been engaged for "Her Family Tree," in which Nora Bays will be seen.

Virginia Pearson and Sheldon Lewis will return to the stage in the leading roles of "The Hole in the Wall," seen at the Morosco Theatre in the Spring. The piece will begin a tour at Teller's Theatre, in Brooklyn, on Labor Day.

"Mrs. Jimmie Thompson," seen at the Princess in the Spring, will be sent on tour this season, opening in Boston.

Nat Carr will succeed James B. Carson in "The Girl in the Spotlight" at the Knickerbocker, next Monday night.

Gilda Varesi is announced as one of the authors of "Enter Madame," in which she is appearing at the Garrick. Miss Varesi, writing the play in collaboration with Dolly Byrne, used the psuedonym of Giulia Conti.

Herbert Rawlins, now in London, has been engaged for the leading role in "Afgar," in which Alys Delysia will be seen here this season.

"The more Borden's Milk you drink,
The better and wiser you can think."

Written by Helen Pfitzer,
420 West 55th St., N. Y.

Good, wholesome nourishing food, such as BORDEN'S MILK enables your kiddies to do good work at school and pay better attention to their lessons. The rapidity with which your children learn their daily work depends upon the quality of food they eat. Children fed on BORDEN'S MILK have that advantage over kiddies who are improperly nourished.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Pressure is high generally east of the Mississippi River, with the maximum pressure over the region of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Valley. It is also high in the Far Northwest and it is low over the Plains States, the Rocky Mountain region and California. This pressure distribution has been attended by local rains in the Atlantic and Gulf States, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska. Fair weather continued in other regions.

Temperatures are considerably lower over the Northern Plains States, the Northern Rocky Mountain region and in New England. Temperature changes in other districts were unimportant.

The outlook for the Atlantic States north of Virginia is for partly cloudy weather and moderate temperature Thursday, and fair weather Friday for the Atlantic States south of Maryland, and the East Gulf States partly cloudy weather, with local showers and no material change in temperature. Thursday and Friday, and for Tennessee, the Ohio Valley and the region of the Great Lakes for fair weather Thursday and Friday, except that showers are probable Friday in the upper lake region.

FORECAST TODAY AND FRIDAY.

Northern New England—Fair Thursday and Friday; moderate temperature.

Southern New England—Cloudy Thursday. Friday fair, with rising temperature.

Eastern New York—Fair in north, cloudy in south portion Thursday. Friday fair, not much change in temperature.

Western New York—Fair Thursday and Friday; mild temperature.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

3 A. M.	71	64	4 P. M.	73	64
6 A. M.	71	63	6 P. M.	74	64
9 A. M.	74	64	9 P. M.	71	62
12 M.	76	64	11 P. M.	70	61

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 75; for the corresponding date last year it was 63; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 72.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 73; at 8 P. M. it was 70. Maximum temperature, 80 degrees at 2:45 P. M.; minimum, 70 degrees at 8 P. M. Humidity, 93 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 87 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.18 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.23 inches.

The Civil Service.

City.

The Commission announces examinations in September for the following positions: Stationary engineer, $1,400 a year and maintenance; plan examiner, $1,560 to $2,160; telephone operator, male, $960 to $1,560; asphalt and steam roller engineer (must be licensed stationary engineer), $6 a day; foreman of mechanics, $2,160 to $2,760; topographical draftsman, $1,560 to $2,160 a year; disinfector, $1,212 a year.

United States.

The Commission announces an examination on Sept. 28 for specialist in economic research, either sex, for vacancy in the Bureau of Markets, Department of Agriculture, and other vacancies, at entrance salaries $3,600 to $4,500 a year, depending upon qualifications. The duties of the appointee in the Bureau of Markets will be to conduct and direct economic research in the cost of marketing farm products and similar problems.

Competitors will not be required to report for examination, but will be rated on: Education, experience and fitness, 70; thesis, or discussion, 30. Applicants must have had education and experience covering the following three groups: Graduation from a recognized college, agricultural college, or technical school of college grade; three years of systematic postgraduate study of economics, statistics, agricultural studies, commercial studies, history or political science, with the equivalent of two full years of study, including both undergraduate and graduate, devoted to strictly economic studies; eight years' experience in some combination of two or more of the three following groups: (a) Further advanced study or educational or research work in economics, statistics, agriculture, marketing, accounting, law, or business administration; (b) public service dealing principally with the investigation of economic problems in Federal Government agencies; (c) writing news articles, editorials, or other material on economic, statistical, marketing or agricultural subjects for publication. Of the required experience four years must have been of a responsible character. Under the second subject a thesis or discussion, preferably of not less than 5,000 words, must be submitted, dealing with some economic problem related to the marketing of farm products or other commercial affairs.

$50,000 ROBBERIES HIDDEN BY POLICE

Arraignments of Prisoners and Disclosures of Victims Reveal Crimes.

$25,000 IN JEWELRY TAKEN

Man Is Held as One of Five Who Plundered a Harlem Store Last May.

Robberies concealed by the police and totaling more than $50,000 came to light yesterday through the arraignment of prisoners and disclosure of firms robbed, who decided publicity might get results that detectives had failed to produce.

According to Morris Carlin, President of the Supreme Leather Goods Company, 460 West Broadway, his concern has been plundered three times in six weeks. The first visitation of the thieves, who entered by way of a skylight, resulted in a loss of $200 worth of fancy leather goods. Four weeks ago the burglars came back and obtained $1,000 additional. Last Saturday they took $1,500 of the stock and blew open three empty safes. The burglars also broke open the safes of the Lederer Manufacturing Company and the Columbian Neckwear Company on other floors of the building. The stocks of these firms were untouched.

Alleging that his prisoner had been one of the five men who in broad daylight on May 25 last stole $25,000 worth of jewelry from a showcase in the Gumbiner store, at Broadway and 105th Street, Detective Fitzpatrick of the West 123d Street Station had James Mulligan, 418 West Twenty-ninth Street, before Magistrate George W. Simpson in the West Side Court. Mulligan was held without bail for examination tomorrow.

According to the police, a raid early yesterday on a Manhattan Avenue apartment solved the theft of $15,000 worth of furs from Philip Salkind's fur store at 719 Sixth Avenue on Aug. 3. Alexander Friedman, who said he was a pharmacist, and Margaret O'Toole, calling herself a model, were arrested in the raid. The police said $5,000 worth of furs found in the apartment were identified by Salkind as having been part of the loot. Friedman and Miss O'Toole were arrested by Detectives Sullivan and O'Connell of the West Forty-seventh Street Station. The prisoners declared the furs had been left in their care by a friend.

Arraigned before Magistrate Simpson in the West Side Court, William Butler, 20 years old, 401 West Thirty-fourth Street, was held in $10,000 bail on a charge of suspicion of grand larceny. Detective William Morrison of the West Thirty-seventh Street Station told the Magistrate that a truckload of merchandise valued at $10,000, and belonging to the American Railway Express Company, had been taken from in front of 400 Eighth Avenue on Monday night. The detective said that he had been informed Butler had been seen near the truck a short time before it disappeared. The truck was found in front of 445 West Thirty-fifth Street, but most of the merchandise had vanished.

SHOTS HALT ALCOHOL RAID.

An attempt to plunder a shipment of more than $250,000 worth of alcohol stored on the Oriental Navigation Company's pier at Forty-sixth Street and the North River early yesterday morning was frustrated by two of the company's detectives, who fired five shots at two men as they were about to tie two iron drums, each containing 130 gallons of alcohol, to their rowboat. Soon after the shooting a man appeared at the Roosevelt Hospital, saying he had been accidentally shot at Amsterdam Avenue and 129th Street. After an investigation by the police, however, he was arrested, charged with the attempted theft. Although James Shevlin, Federal Supervising Prohibition Agent, receives reports of all thefts or attempted thefts of alcohol, his office had not been informed of this attempted theft at closing time last night.

According to Police Detectives Daly and Manney of the West Forty-seventh Street Station, two private detectives employed by the navigation company, Mudderman and Curran, ordered two men to hold up their hands when they were seen to be fastening the iron drums to their boat at the end of the pier. Instead of raising their arms, one of the men drew a revolver, the detectives said, but before he could use it Mudderman fired. The man plunged into the water and disappeared.

About two hours later a man walked into the Roosevelt Hospital stating he had been shot accidentally while passing 129th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, where fifteen Italians were engaged in a street brawl. Detective Daly was called to the hospital and, believing the man to be the one shot by Mudderman on the pier, went to the man's home, at 512 West Forty-ninth Street, where he found a bloodstained suit of clothes soaking wet.

The man's mother admitted that her son had come home a few hours before, changed his clothing and gone away. Although he denied all knowledge of the attempted theft, the wounded man was arrested and taken to Bellevue Hospital. He said he was Timothy Sullivan, 27 years old, a longshoreman. Whether his accomplice escaped or was drowned was not known by the police.

More than 500 drums, each containing between 110 and 130 gallons of grain alcohol, consigned by Fearon Brown Company, exporter, to Constantinople and Athens, were on the pier. A representative of the exporters said his contracts stipulated that the alcohol was to be used only for non-beverage purposes.

HONOR SYSTEM AT BEDFORD

New Superintendent Gives Cottage to Two "Incorrigibles."

Special to The New York Times.

BEDFORD, Aug. 18.—Dorothy Jett and Edna Ryan, two of the leading trouble-makers in the Bedford State Reformatory for Women, were assigned to a cottage by themselves today and placed upon their honor without a matron or a guard to look after them. This is the first time in the institution's history that the honor system has been applied to "incorrigibles."

"I'm confident they'll make good," said Mrs. Frank L. Christian, acting Superintendent, who ordered the experiment.

Both the "trusties" are assigned to Robertson cottage. Their meals are to be cooked for them. Both inmates were witnesses against the former Superintendent, Miss Helen A. Cobb, and alleged that the punishments in Miss Cobb's time were either unwarranted or too harsh.

THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

Your job can't wait for delays or ignition troubles

WHEN work is rushing foward day and night, everything depends on prompt deliveries. If supplies are cut off, workmen have to wait, production stops, earnings cease. Often forfeits must be paid for delivery failures. Continuous operation is essential to economical production—especially in motor truck operation.

Ignition is a vital factor in motor operation. If your ignition fails, your truck stops—and all that depends on it stops as well. There is no telling how far the consequences may reach, what losses they may entail. Delays are fatal to economy.

Your ignition must do more than meet ordinary conditions; it must meet every emergency. That is why magneto ignition is so important to you.

Magneto ignition won't fail. It is self-contained, self-reliant, an integral built-in part of your engine. It requires no care, no attention. It is independent of service.

Automatically it responds to each demand upon it. When you increase your motor speed, it delivers a hotter, fatter spark to explode every bit of gas into maximum power. It means the utmost mileage on fuel—less carbon, no fouling. It is absolutely dependable.

Dependability is worth all it costs. The first cost of Magneto Ignition is the total cost. It lasts as long as the engine. It costs nothing in time or money for attention.

On the contrary, it saves money constantly—preventing delays, meeting every emergency demand made on it.

Fall Shoes Sell Higher

New Lines Being Shown With Familiar Prices

A few shoe retailers are beginning to show fall footwear in their windows, and some of the price tags indicate that the ultimate consumer will be called upon to pay prices that have the familiar ring of last year. Eighteen dollars is the highest price seen for men's shoes for fall, with $12 as a minimum. Women's high shoes for the coming season are priced around $15 in the early displays.

What the Tribune Says About Prices for Fall Footwear.

This story, from The New York Tribune of Tuesday, August 17th, should serve as a good reason for your taking advantage of this sale.

There are not many more days left in which to buy shoes at these prices, and when the sale closes you will have to pay "regular" prices, and you see what THEY are to be.

COOLIDGE FOR CURB AS PONZI SEQUEL

Warns Massachusetts Banks Against Advertising Through State Treasurer.

HEARING SET FOR TODAY

Sixth Prisoner, an ex-Butcher, Said to Have Made $100,000 as Agent, Arrested.

$85,000 CLAIM FOR PASSAIC

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 18.—Governor Coolidge today issued an order to all banks of the State calling upon them to disclose without delay whether they have been doing any advertising through the agency conducted by State Treasurer Fred J. Burrell. This action was a direct result of the disclosure that Burrell had $125,000 of the State's funds in the Hanover Trust Company at the time its doors were closed, following the Ponzi collapse.

"I am not going to approve banks as State depositories that continue to employ Mr. Burrell as their advertising agent," Governor Coolidge said. "While I do not know of anything illegal about it, it certainly makes a very unsatisfactory impression upon the public. I think the banks concerned will understand that they must not continue in the practice."

Governor Coolidge said he expected his warning would have an immediate effect. Later today State Treasurer Burrell announced that he would sever all connection with the advertising business and give all his time to his duties as State Treasurer.

One more arrest, the sixth thus far, was made today in the investigation of "frenzied finance" in this city. Officials at work on the case said that "at least one other important warrant" was out. The new prisoner was Henry T. H. Neilson of 261 Sidney Street, Cambridge.

Neilson was said to be one of Ponzi's first agents. He was a meat cutter a few months ago and admitted he had but $50 when he went to work for the Italian. Recently, it is declared, he has bought an automobile, taken a Summer home on the North Shore Drive, and is credited with having piled up more than $100,000 during the past few weeks. His commissions on one day are said to have been $6,000.

Admitting he had been "in hiding" for the last few days, Neilson surrendered today. He faces a technical charge of larceny. His bail was set at $5,000.

Ponzi's Hearing Set for Today.

Ponzi will be brought before the Federal Court tomorrow, it was said tonight, for his formal hearing on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

With regard to Ponzi's chances of getting out of jail on bail in the immediate future, Attorney General Allen said today he would insist on at least $100,000 bonds in the State cases. This would mean a requirement of at least $125,000 bonds, as Ponzi's bail in the Federal case is fixed at $25,000.

"After the receivers are appointed, if the assets are all turned over to the receivers, that might change the situation with respect to bail," Mr. Allen said. The Attorney General's remark was interpreted as a "mild hint" to Ponzi that if he had anything "tucked away," as Ponzi himself has boasted, it would help his case materially to produce it.

Among the Ponzi and Old Colony Foreign Exchange Company note holders who presented themselves at the Attorney General's office today were two Italians from Passaic, N. J. They said they represented a group of Italians in that city and they brought Ponzi notes for $85,000, averaging several hundred dollars each. Ponzi, they said, had a thriving office in Passaic.

William E. Hinston, a handwriting expert, today confirmed reports that Ponzi and Old Colony Company notes had been "raised" by some claimants. Mr. Hinston said the notes were easy to counterfeit. Ponzi's attorneys asserted the losses represented would amount to $100,000.

Mrs. Ponzi visited her husband at the East Cambridge jail again today. She said on leaving, "He is feeling fine."

The foreign exchange expert of one of Boston's leading banks today declared that, as a result of inquiry from many clients, Ponzi's alleged activities were investigated by them many weeks ago. It was confirmed, the expert said, that Ponzi actually operated in foreign exchange coupons to a certain extent.

"At one time he could get an international reply coupon in Italy for 30 centimes, the equivalent of one-third of a trifle more than 4 cents, and exchange it in Switzerland for a 25-centime stamp, about equal to a 5-cent stamp here," it was explained.

These operations by Ponzi were not as extensive as reported, the bank expert said. He declared it was well known to international bankers that it was possible, by taking advantage of the differences of exchange in various countries, to realize a profit of about 400 per cent.

ENRIGHT FAVORS ARMY MEN.

Promotes 10 Patrolmen, All War Veterans, to be Sergeants.

Ten patrolmen, all of them veterans of the World War and two of them still in the army, were made Sergeants yesterday by Police Commissioner Enright, who gave preference to these men in filling vacancies as provided for in the new regulations of the Civil Service relating to appointments of ex-soldiers. The appointees and their present precincts are James F. Smith, Flushing; James Harten and Ira E. Gaynor, not yet discharged from military service; William D. O'Grady, Sheepshead Bay; James J. Coy and John G. Stein, Detective Bureau; Larence J. Bennett, Charles Street, James H. Mozigila, Brooklyn Avenue; George W. Cook, Far Rockaway, and George B. Harris, Bath Beach.

Five Sergeants were promoted to be Lieutenants. They are William F. Rodihan, ex-soldier, Traffic Division; Charles Hemley, Sixteenth Inspection District; Joseph S. Davis, West 152d Street Station; Samuel W. Johnson, Motorcycle Squad, and Alexander C. Anderson, First Inspection District.

Boy Scouts Sail for Home.

The Boy Scouts of America delegation to the international Boy Scout contests in England, which has been visiting the European battlefields as guests of the Belgian and French Governments, sailed for home yesterday, leaving Antwerp on the United States Army transport Princess Matoika, according to a cablegram received at the national Scout headquarters here. Chief Scout Executive James E. West and C. H. Livingstone, President of the Scouts organization, have gone to Paris, preparatory to sailing for America next Saturday.

Prices Fell 2½% in July On Wholesale Commodities

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Wholesale prices of commodities declined approximately 2½ per cent. during July in the United States, according to a report today by the Department of Labor. The decrease in cloths and clothing materials was the most notable amounting to 5½ per cent., while foodstuffs declined 4 per cent. and farm products generally 2.9 per cent.

At this point prices were still above levels of July, 1919, food articles having increased during the year 24.1 per cent., cloths and clothing 12.4 per cent., and fuel and lighting 47.4 per cent.

Fuel and lighting materials, instead of decreasing in July, increased by 2½ per cent.

TREASURER TELLS OF MEXICO'S HOPES

HELP NEEDED FROM OUTSIDE

Nation Torn by Ten Years of Revolution Now Seeks to Develop Resources and Pay Debts.

General Salvador Alvarado, Secretary of the Treasury of Mexico, was the guest of honor at a dinner given last night in the Hotel Astor by friends who with him are interested in the reconstruction programme of the new Mexican Government and in fostering better understanding between the residents of the United States and Mexico.

James Carson, formerly a correspondent for the Associated Press in Mexico, presided. The speakers were General Alvarado, former Ambassador James W. Gerard, Professor W. R. Shepherd of Columbia University, Dr. Peter H. Goldsmith and Manuel A. Hernandez.

"We are starting on a vast program of reconstruction," General Alvarado said in his speech, "so it will be well advanced when the new President takes office. All capable men, regardless of their political or religious views, are being brought into action, and the new Government is to be run the same as a private enterprise.

"Among the things we hope to accomplish are the reorganization of the banking system, reorganization of transportation, rehabilitation of railroads and the creation of a merchant marine. We are working for the reduction of the army to no more than 40,000 to 50,000 well-equipped men.

Trying to Solve Oil Problem.

"We are trying to settle the petroleum question in a spirit of cordiality and justice which inspires all the acts of the new Government, and it is firmly hoped that in a few months this question will be settled satisfactorily for all concerned.

"Summing up the situation of my country, I will say that progress in Mexico within ten years will astonish the world, because there is a wave of enthusiasm, optimism and determination in the spirit of all the inhabitants of Mexico, both native and foreign.

"The natural resources which make Mexico the treasure field of the world have always been there, but at present the state of mind of the people of Mexico supports an offensive to bring prosperity to the country by developing the large resources with which nature has endowed Mexico.

"We Mexicans have been in continuous revolution during the last ten years. We have destroyed some property, but we have found our national conscience, which is founded on the belief that each Mexican must do his utmost to bring prosperity by developing the natural resources, employing all methods of organization and production generally used in business.

"Mexico has five essentials for industrial production at a low cost, beyond competition. They are cheap motive power, raw materials, intelligent and cheap labor, advantageous geographical position, unlimited markets.

Need Outside Co-operation.

"We need to develop our resources, sell our products, and buy those which we do not produce; therefore we need the co-operation of other countries, and we are doing everything in our power ment to foreigners and foreign capital, and our greatest expectation is to reassume, as soon as possible, the payment of our obligations, so that our securities may be sought, and Mexico may be the land of promise for all men seeking peace, work and prosperity."

General Alvarado also said that a call would be issued for the construction of 15,000 miles of railroads and for harbor works in Progreso, Froneta, Mazatlan, Guaymas and other ports. The program of the new Government also includes the creation of an agricultural banking system, a campaign of sanitation throughout the country, a complete overhauling of the tax system and a constructive attempt to solve the labor problem.

"The labor problem is easier to solve in Mexico than it appears," the General said. "The Government is now taking steps which will greatly shorten this work, and it will finally be settled as soon as works now contemplated are started. Strikes have been caused by unemployment and the high cost of living."

It was denied for General Alvarade that his presence in this country was to float a loan for Mexico. Among the 100 guests present were Dr. Alfredo Caturegli, Mexican financial agent to the United States; Ramon P. Denegri, Mexican Consul here; Captain Paul Hudson, Henry Bruere, Sherburne G. Hopkins and E. L. Doheny.

JENKINS SUBMITS EVIDENCE.

Hands Statement to Mexico City Embassy—Altendorf Deported.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 18.—William O. Jenkins, former United States Consular Agent at Puebla, Mexico, today placed before the American Embassy in this city additional testimony regarding his reported kidnapping in October, 1919, by Mexican bandits led by Federico Cordoba.

This evidence is said to clear him of the charge of perjury now pending. The new testimony is alleged to be a repudiation by Indian witnesses of their statements made at former hearings, when they claimed to have seen Jenkins at the Hacienda de Santa Lucia, State of Puebla, on Oct. 22, 1919, in company with Cordoba and on friendly terms with the bandit chieftain and others of his band.

Jenkins says he now expects an early decision by the Federal District Court at Puebla, acquitting him of the perjury charge. He denies any intention of bringing a civil suit against the Mexican Government in connection with his case, and maintains that he still legally holds the office of United States Consular Agent.

Dr. Paul B. Altendorf, Polish born but claiming United States citizenship because of alleged services rendered the United States Military Intelligence Department, left Mexico City this morning for Juarez to be deported as "a pernicious foreigner" under Article XXXIII of the Constitution. Dr. Altendorf, who was guarded by two Mexican army officers, bore what purported to be an American Legion membership card bearing the number 148 and the name "John Frazer Bryan Post, No. 19, New York." It was dated Dec. 4, 1919, and expired July, 1920, but Dr. Altendorf asserted that he had renewed it for another year.

FIND WOMAN'S BODY, MUTILATED, IN RIVER

HER IDENTITY A PUZZLE

New York Police Join with Those of Neighboring Cities in Effort to Find Slayer.

Every available detective of New York and Jersey City was put to work last night to unravel the mystery surrounding the identity and the death of a young woman whose torso was found floating in the Hudson River, off Communipaw, Jersey City. The head, the arms and legs had been crudely sawed off. A few bits of red flannel clinging to a piece of twine tied about the torso furnished the police with their only clue.

An autopsy this morning may reveal whether the young woman had been poisoned before the body was mutilated. The head had been severed at the collar bone, the legs at the hips and the arms close to the shoulder. The bone of one of the legs had been sawed part way through and then broken off, but the other leg had been completely sawed off, as were the head and arms.

In the opinion of Dr. Arthur Haskins, Medical Examiner of Hudson County, who made a superficial examination, the body had been in the water between two and six weeks. Except at the points of amputation there was no cut or wound on the torso.

The body was found on Pier 5, Central Railroad of New Jersey, which is about opposite the Battery, at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, by William Hauser of Elizabeth, N. J., a railroad employe. He summoned a policeman and the torso was fished out of the water and taken to Pryor's Morgue.

The preliminary examination did not at once reveal that the head, arms and legs had been sawed off, and the authorities at first decided that the woman had been the victim of an accident.

Dr. Haskins said he believed the woman was probably five feet, four inches tall and weighed about 130 pounds. She had been a mother, the physician said.

"I will have the autopsy tomorrow at the morgue," he said. "I don't believe the mutilation of the body was the work of medical students; the job is entirely too crude. The head, arms and legs were sawed off in such a manner that I am certain no surgeon had any part in the work. One of the thigh bones is splintered and it would not be difficult, if the leg were recovered, to fit it in place. I don't think, however, it would be possible to identify the arms.

"The torso had been in the water not more than six weeks, probably not more than two weeks. It is extremely difficult, however, to tell how long. It may have been in deep water until very recently, accounting for its comparatively good condition. The body apparently had not been lying close to the surface for any great length of time."

The police are searching for the missing parts of the body. The waters near Pier 5, were dragged. The Missing Persons Bureau of New York Police Headquarters was notified and asked to continue the search on this side of the river. Authorities of other cities also are on the lookout.

Nothing, however, to establish the identity of the woman has been reported. Detectives are hopeful that the autopsy may reveal some scar or birthmark, or that the disappearance of some woman may be reported and lead to identification. A detective will be stationed at the morgue today to question all persons who seek to identify the body.

Acting Chief of Police Leonard said he thought the body had been carried down the Hudson River with the current, but another theory advanced was that it had been sent down the East River and followed the course of the silt which the East River sweeps over to the Jersey shore, keeping dredgers busy on that side.

The police believe the torso was wrapped in a blanket, or red flannel cloth before it was pitched into the river.

SAYS AMERICA HAS 12 LEAGUE VOTES

Roosevelt Declares He Himself Had Two Until Last Week, Referring to Minor Republics.

BUTTE, Mon., Aug. 18.—President Wilson "put one over" on Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain in the distribution of voting strength in the League of Nations, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, declared in an address here today.

"The Republicans are playing a shell game on the American people," the nominee said, because "they are still busy circulating the story that England has six votes to America's one. It is just the other way. As a matter of fact, the United States has about twelve votes in the Assembly.

"Until last week I had two of them myself, and now Secretary Daniels has them. You know I have had something to do with the running of a couple of little republics. The facts are that I wrote Haiti's Constitution myself, and, if I do say it, I think it a pretty good Constitution."

Mr. Roosevelt said that Haiti, Santo Domingo, Panama, Cuba and Central American countries, which had at least twelve votes in the League's Assembly, all regarded Uncle Sam as a guardian and big brother, and that this country practically would have their votes in the League.

11 'REDS' HERE FROM WEST.

Party Added to 45 at Ellis Island Awaiting Deportation.

Eleven aliens, described as anarchists, arrived yesterday at Ellis Island to await deportation to their native land under the act of October, 1918, which provides for the deportation of all anarchists who believe in the overthrow of government by force and all extremists who preach the doctrine of revolution by violence. One of the party is a German, who was interned during the war as a dangerous enemy alien. He has two children with him, 6 and 8 years old.

The eleven "Reds" were placed in the detention quarters with forty-five other radicals now awaiting deportation. Harry R. Landis, Inspector in charge of the Chicago immigration territory, said that most of the eleven came from Cleveland. He added that there was no let up in the West in the crusade against anarchists.

Marine Corps Aviator Killed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Second Lieutenant Samuel P. MacNeill, of the Marine Corps, was instantly killed at Carlstrom Field, Arcadia, Fla., today, when the airplane in which he was flying went into a tail spin 600 feet from the ground, according to a report to Marine Corps Headquarters. Lieutenant MacNeill's parents reside at Wauwatosa, Wis.

Prohibition Agent Freed.

The case against Herbert L. Lane, a prohibition enforcement agent, charged with failure to make an arrest for a violation of the prohibition law committed in his presence, was dismissed yesterday by Commissioner McCabe, in Brooklyn. It had been charged by agents of the Department of Justice that Mr. Lane knew that his brother, William Lane, at Nostrand and Tilden Avenues, Brooklyn, was selling what the agents allege was liquor.

Swift Indictment After Saratoga Arrests; Alleged Gamblers Found in Adirondacks

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The arrest of Julius C. Formel, together with Charles White, said to be known as "Gold Tooth Moore," at the hamlet of Friends' Lake in the Adirondacks, today was followed by their speedy indictment here as "common gamblers" by the Extraordinary Grand Jury investigating alleged gambling conditions in Saratoga.

The two men are charged with being the proprietors of one of the places raided last Sunday by officers led by Wyman S. Bascom, who is representing the Attorney General in the investigation. A further charge is made against Formel, that he was the proprietor of a gambling house in this city last year. The arrest was made at Formel's Summer home.

When arraigned before Justice Van Kirk, in the Supreme Court, Formel was released on $2,000 bail furnished by his father. White, in default of bail, was in the county jail tonight.

Replying to a request for "moderate bail" made by counsel for the men, Justice Van Kirk referred to the cases of seven persons, arrested in the raid on Sunday, who have fled the county and are still missing.

"It was unfortunate," he said, "that when bail was fixed at a rather moderate amount these persons got away."

The indictments today are the first since the Extraordinary Grand Jury convened. Formel was indicted last Fall by a Saratoga County Grand Jury following the complaint of the Chamber of Commerce that the county authorities had been dilatory in bringing him to trial. Mr. Bascom was authorized by Lieutenant Governor Walker to prosecute his trial on the earlier indictment at the present term of court.

SAYS JAPAN IS LIKE A BOILING TEAKETTLE

HERE ON INDUSTRIAL SURVEY

Accompanied by Son of Nippon's Richest Man—Charges Missionaries Cause Misunderstanding.

Japan must get more territory to take care of her great population, according to Professor B. Shigehara Kimura of the Imperial College of Commerce of Tokio, who arrived yesterday at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Here on a mission which he described as a "survey of American industrial and educational methods," Professor Kimura is accompanied by Takasumi Mitsui, son of Baron Mitsui, Japan's richest man, and the latter's nephew, Takaatsu Mitsui. The young men are students at the Japanese School for Peers, and their trip here is in connection with their duties.

"The Japanese," said Professor Kimura, "are in need of expansion. The islands of Japan are so densely populated that they are like a tea kettle filled with boiling water and steam, and if they do not find a natural outlet they will have to force one.

"The Japanese look upon America as their leader. They have a tremendous respect for everything American, and they are willing to co-operate with American business in every way. They are anxious to lend their aid to the financiers of this country in developing China or any of the Eastern countries. China seems to be the most natural outlet for this development. The Japanese do not seek to take possession of China, but merely desire to aid her to develop her natural resources.

"The Japanese have been very much misunderstood in America. I feel that some amicable understanding, some common ground, between the two nations, and a co-operation in mutual undertakings and enterprises would be to the advantage of both. It is the earnest wish of all my people that there should be only the warmest feeling and a spirit of co-operation with this great country, for which we have so much reverence in Japan.

"While I am a Christian, I feel that the missionaries who go to Japan, and particularly to Korea at the present time, are building up a wall of misunderstanding, instead of helping to make relations better between my country and yours. The early missionaries were bent merely on the moral and religious improvement of the people, which was an excellent thing and brought great results. But the missionaries of today are mixing in the political life. This causes unpleasant feeling on both sides.

"In Korea the missionaries have built up an extensive school system, and the Government of Korea has endeavored to co-operate with them to get the best results. But these efforts have been misunderstood, and bad feeling seems to have arisen. Thus your missionaries have grown to have unpleasant feelings toward the Korean Government, and return to this country with bad reports, helping in the growth of misunderstanding in the United States."

In a digression from things political and economic the Professor spoke of the origin of the Japanese national dress. He said it had come from the South Sea Islands. The fashion, as he traced it, was brought to Japan years ago by Fiji Islanders.

LLOYD GEORGE ON TRIP.

Premier Goes to Switzerland for Postponed Vacation.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Premier Lloyd George left here this morning for Lucerne, Switzerland, for a vacation which was postponed from last week owing to the Russo-Polish crisis.

The Premier was accompanied by a party of twelve, including some members of his family, Lord Riddell and Sir Maurice Hankey, Secretary to the Committee on Imperial Defense.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain will arrive at Boulogne today on the way to Switzerland. He will pass through Paris without stopping.

The Earl of Derby, British Ambassador to France, will meet Mr. Lloyd George during his trip through France to discuss with him the diplomatic situation.

STABS GIRL, ATTACKS WIFE.

Jersey Glassblower Kills Himself When Neighbors Surround Home.

HAMMONTON, N. J., Aug. 18.—John Dayton, a glassblower, stabbed Ethel Daly, 23 years old, when she refused to allow him to enter her home here today, attempted to attack his wife at his own home and finally blew off the top of his head with a shotgun when neighbors surrounded his home.

The wounded girl will recover. Mrs. Dayton escaped by taking refuge in a neighbor's home. The police say that Dayton had been trying unsuccessfully to force his attentions upon Miss Daly.

5,000 IMMIGRANTS NOW COMING DAILY

Increasing Inflow Has More Than Balanced Tide of Outgoers.

800,000 CAME IN 12 MONTHS

Almost Six Times as Many as in the Previous Year—Record is 1,285,349, in 1907.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—More than 5,000 immigrants are arriving daily at Ellis Island, the Department of Labor announced today in reporting that the tide of emigration which set in after the armistice had been more than balanced by the increasing inflow of immigrants.

Only the lack of transportation facilities and the difficulties of immigration from Central Europe, officials of the Department of Labor said, have prevented the outstripping of all previous records during the last year.

Despite these unfavorable conditions, approximately 800,000 immigrants arrived in the United States during the twelve months ending June 30, as compared with 141,132 during the corresponding period the year before and the record of 1,285,349 in 1907.

Foreign steamship companies have reported to the immigration authorities that all available accommodations for a year in advance have been booked by prospective immigrants.

CLOUDBURST FLOODS 12 NEW YORK TOWNS

Bridges Swept Away, Railroads Washed Out and Great Damage Done in Southern Tier.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Twelve towns were inundated, three bridges swept away, the railroad tracks of the Lackawanna and Delaware & Hudson railroads torn up, and property damage of hundreds of thousands of dollars done as a result of a terrific cloudburst which followed an erratic course over the southern tier this afternoon and tonight.

In Lisle and Killowog tonight the water is reaching the first story windows of residences in some sections, and many homes are marooned, isolated in darkness and by lack of rowboats for help.

Wrecking crews were sent out by the Lackawanna from Syracuse and Binghamton, and found in one place the tracks hanging over fifteen feet of air.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Following a cloudburst a wall of water swept through Liberty, in the Sullivan County Valley, early today, driving thousands of native and Summer residents to the hills.

Homes and store buildings were inundated, with the crest of the high water reaching to the second floor in several places. Highways were washed out and thousands of dollars' worth of property was destroyed.

Automobiles were pressed into service to carry residents to safety.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 18.—Three inches of rain fell during the latter part of the afternoon and evening of Monday in the vicinity of the two reservoirs which supply the towns of Greenwich and Port Chester, N. Y.

Two and one-half inches fell inside of three hours. Never before has this occurred in the town's history. Many thousand dollars' worth of damage has been done to gardens, hundreds of acres of corn and potatoes being ruined.

Town Commissioner of Highways Pierpont Minor has received numerous complaints from outlying sections of the town where roads have become impassable in many places. At Riversville, near the Pickhardt estate, a gully was dug out to such a depth that it would hide a cart and oxen from view. Considerable damage was done to the highways within the borough.

Rumanian Prince Coming Sunday.

Carol, Crown Prince of Rumania, who is to pass through New York on the way home from the Far East, is expected to arrive here next Sunday, it was said yesterday by Tileston Wells, Rumanian Consul. His suite, numbering about twelve persons, will include the Rumanian Minister to Athens, M. Filodor, and the Chief of the Prince's military establishment, General Constantine Gavenescu. Prince Carol will sail for Europe on Aug. 28.

Women's Legion of Poland

Next Sunday The New York Times Rotogravure Picture Section will reproduce a series of pictures of Poland's "Battalion of Death," a regiment of patriotic women who volunteered in Warsaw's most critical hour to fight for their country. Many are girls of eighteen to twenty years of age. One picture shows these dauntless soldiers in their first drill; two in their barracks at Warsaw; the fourth resting after a strenuous march.

ARMENIAN PREMIER HOPEFUL FOR FUTURE

Situation in Near East Clearing, Says British Parliament Member, Just Returned.

REDS ARE CHIEF MENACE

Williams Deplores Surrender of Batum-Baku Line—Says Position Was Precarious.

According to Anuerin Williams, a British Member of Parliament and a prominent member of the Lord Mayor of London's Relief Committee, who arrived yesterday from Liverpool on the liner Mobile, operated by the White Star Line, conditions in the Near East, and especially Armenia, are gradually clearing up to a solution. The committee with which he is connected has been co-operating with the American Near East Committee in Syria and Asia Minor. In talking with the reporters at the pier Mr. Williams said:

"I had a talk with ex-Premier Alexander Khatissian of Armenia just before leaving England, and he is very hopeful of the situation in the Armenian Republic.

"Britain has been sending large quantities of arms and ammunition to the Armenians to assist them to defend themselves against Turks and Bolsheviki, and, with grain and foodstuffs now being furnished by the Americans, the country should be able to weather the Winter and get through to the harvest of next year.

"Khatissian is preparing an appeal to all the signatories of the Peace Treaty calling on them to help Armenia to enforce the terms of the treaty as applied to Armenia, just as soon as President Wilson shall have fixed the boundaries of the Armenian Republic. I believe we shall be able to put enough pressure upon Mustapha Kemal to compel the Turks to give up to the Armenians the territory assigned to them by President Wilson.

The principal danger to the security of the Near East seems to be from the Bolshevists, Mr. Williams believes. He feels that the advance of the Red forces from the Soviet Republic of Azerbaidjan and the movements of General Kouropatkin's army in Persia are serious.

"A number of us in England were very much against the removal of British troops from Transcaucasia and the surrender of the Batum-Baku Railway Line and the oil wells of Baku," he continued. "We urged the British Government to retain troops in Transcaucasia to keep order. But the military authorities claimed that they were in a very precarious position, from which they might easily be ousted by the Bolsheviki."

Mr. Williams is visiting William Van R. Whitehall at Pelham Manor, but expects to go to Cedar Edge, Col., in a few days to attend the wedding of his son to a Colorado girl.

Other passengers arriving on the Mobile included Walter L. George, an English writer who has come over to deliver a series of lectures in the United States and Canada; Augustus Clarke, art dealer of Fifth Avenue, who said that antiques were scarce and very dear in Europe, and several Japanese delegates to the International Seamen's Conference at Genoa, who said that the forty-eight-hour week for seamen nearly passed, and that the congress had done a great deal to better living conditions for men afloat in all parts of the world.

The Mobile was commanded by Captain H. F. David, who had charge of the Justicia when she was attacked by submarines for twelve hours in a running fight before they succeeded in torpedoing her, and carried 63 first, 387 second and 524 third class passengers. She was formerly the Hamburg-American liner Cleveland and has been thoroughly refitted for service as a passenger liner since she was used as a transport during the war.

H. L. ICKES DESERTS HARDING AS 'UNFIT'

Ex-Progressive Leader and Illinois Republican Delegate Comes Out for Cox.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Harold L. Ickes, one of the organizers of the Progressive Party in Illinois, who was an Illinois delegate at large to the convention which nominated Senator Harding for President and voted against making the nomination unanimous, announced today that he could not support Harding.

"Holding as I do that my duties and obligations as a citizen are paramount to my duties and obligations as a party man, I have concluded to support the Democratic national ticket in this campaign," said Mr. Ickes, in a signed statement. "I shall continue to affiliate with the Republican Party, but I cannot in good conscience support for President a candidate who was not the real choice of his party and whom I regard as unworthy and unfit to be the Chief Executive of this nation by the tests of ability, public policies, official record and independence of character."

Mr. Ickes declared the primaries showed that the Republican Party did not want Harding as its candidate, and that his nomination was "a distinct shock to the progressive thought of the country."

"Senator Harding had an opportunity to repair the bad impression that his nomination created and his play-acting in the McKinley rôle kept alive by a clear-cut and ringing speech of acceptance that would have lined him up squarely as a forward-looking, progressively-minded man," Mr. Ickes continued. "But once more he failed signally. His speech shows that he it not even satisfied to stand pat. He proclaims himself a reactionary. He would turn back the hands of the clock and satisfy the aspirations of men's souls by talking of a full stomach. No more uninspired and uninspiring utterance from a public man is of record in American political history.

"What Senator Harding believes in is not party government, but boss control. He has the Mark Hanna conception of party. He looks upon the Republican Senate cabal as the Republican hosts and deceives himself that when Senators Smoot and Watson and Lodge, Murray Crane, James Hemingway and Col. Harvey met privately in a room in the Blackstone Hotel at 2 o'clock in the morning to decide upon him as the candidate and to determine his policies the Republican party was assembled together for solemn deliberation."

Mr. Ickes said he could not indorse Governor Cox's attitude on the League of Nations, being a supporter of Senator Johnson in that respect, but he could not tell what Harding's real position was on the League.

"Governor Cox's record is a distinctly progressive record," said Mr. Ickes. "That record proves that he looks upon public office as an opportunity for public service. He is standing in this campaign upon what he has achieved along progressive lines for the public welfare. His eyes are to the front, fixed on the future. He is not wabbling. And he is running as James M. Cox; he is not masquerading as a second edition of Grover Cleveland or a substitute Andrew Jackson."

Mr. Ickes added that Franklin D. Roosevelt's nomination emphasized the progressive character of the Democratic ticket.

Ohio Limits Rate Rise in State; Roads to Take Federal Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 18.—The Ohio Public Utilities Commission refused today to permit railroad lines in the State to raise passenger rates 20 per cent. and milk rates and excess baggage charges 20 per cent.; and to place a 50 per cent. surcharge on Pullman space rates, as in the recent order of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Alfred P. Thom, general counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, announces that in the event of the refusal of any State commission to increase intrastate rates to the level of interstate rates, appeal will be made to the Interstate Commerce Commission to overrule the State body.

MRS. BOOLE ENTERS THE G. O. P. PRIMARY

SHE FILES AT LAST MINUTE

Fights for Six Other Offices Indicated—List of Entries for Four Leading Parties.

Mrs. Ella A. Boole, for seventeen years a mission and temperance worker and now the candidate for United States Senator for this State on the Prohibition ticket, is going to fight for the Republican nomination against Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., who is a candidate for re-election. Mrs. Boole, whose designating petitions were filed a minute before the time limit—midnight on Tuesday—says that she has been urged to take this course by a great number of persons who wish to register a protest against Senator Wadsworth for his attitude on suffrage and prohibition.

Mrs. Boole is a widow, living at 575 Fifth Street, Brooklyn. She has twice been President of the State organization of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, and was for six years Secretary of the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. She will have a campaign manager and headquarters in this city. Her unheralded entry into the fight will make the Republican Senatorial contest a three-cornered one, with George Henry Payne as the third candidate.

Mrs. Boole during the last few years has spoken in nearly every city and town in the State, according to her supporters, and she expects to make a vigorous State-wide campaign for the Republican indorsement. Her petitions contained 3,400 verified names from all parts of the State.

There will be six contests in the Republican primaries and one in the Democratic primaries, if none of the candidates withdraws between now and Aug. 27. A complete list of the candidates for State offices follows, the first name, where two or more are mentioned, being the party designee:

REPUBLICAN—For Governor—Nathan L. Miller, Syracuse; State Senator George F. Thompson, Niagara. Lieutenant Governor—Jeremiah Wood, Lynbrook; William B. Bennett, New York. Secretary of State—John J. Lyons, New York; ex-State Senator Robert R. Lawson, Brooklyn. Controller—James A. Wendell, Fort Plain; William Liebermann, Brooklyn. State Treasurer—N. Monroe Marshall, Malone; Theodore B. Taylor, New York; John P. Donohue, Putnam. State Engineer—Frank M. Williams, Goshen. Associate Judges of the Court of Appeals—Emery A. Chase, Catskill; Frederick E. Crane, Brooklyn. United States Senator—James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Mount Morris; Ella A. Boole, Brooklyn; George Henry Payne, New York.

DEMOCRATIC—For Governor—Alfred E. Smith, New York. Lieutenant Governor—George P. Fitts, McLean. Secretary of State—Harriet May Mills, Syracuse. Controller—Charles W. Berry, Brooklyn. Treasurer—John F. Healey, New Rochelle. Attorney General—Frank H. Mott, Jamestown. State Engineer—Paul McLoud, Montezuma. Associated Judges of the Court of Appeals—Abram I. Elkus, New York; Frederick E. Crane, Brooklyn. United States Senator—Harry C. Walker, Binghamton; George R. Lunn, Schenectady.

SOCIALIST—For Governor—Joseph D. Cannon, New York; Lieutenant Governor—Jessie W. Hughan, Brooklyn. Secretary of State—Charles W. Noonan, Albany. Controller—A. Phillip Randolph, New York. Treasurer—Hattie F. Krueger, Buffalo. Attorney General—Darwin J. Mesorole, Brooklyn. State Engineer—Vladimir Karapetoff, Ithaca. Associate Judges of the Court of Appeals—Hezekiah D. Wilcox, Elmira; Leon A. Malkiel, New York. United States Senator—Jacob Panken, New York.

PROHIBITION—For Governor—D. Leigh Colvin, New York. Lieutenant Governor—Edward G. Deitrich, Syracuse. Secretary of State—Irene B. Taylor, Schenectady. State Treasurer—John McKee, Brooklyn. Attorney General—William M. H. Burr, Rochester. Controller—William C. Gray, Utica. State Engineer—Arthur S. Light, Rochester. Associate Judges of the Court of Appeals—Francis E. Baldwin, Elmira; Coteridge A. A. Hart, Peekskill. United States Senator—Ella A. Boole, Brooklyn.

PALMER TO STUMP FOR COX.

Attorney General Here to Arrange for Speaking Tour.

Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer, Joseph F. Guffey, Democratic National Committeeman for Pennsylvania, and Bruce F. Sterling, Democratic State Chairman in Pennsylvania, came to New York yesterday for a conference with George White, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, and to arrange for a speaking tour by the Attorney General in the interest of Cox and Roosevelt.

"It looks great," Mr. Palmer said, following the conference. "The people are beginning to size up the two candidates, and Governor Cox is gaining daily. His strong campaign is winning many votes. I have met many Republicans and independents who have decided to cast their ballots for Cox and Roosevelt.

"The issues are shaping up as they were in 1916. The question of peace or war is still the dominant issue. There is a great moral issue involved, and I believe that the stand of the Democratic candidates will attract many voters outside of the party."

Mr. Guffey and Mr. Sterling told Chairman White there was a strong feeling in Pennsylvania that the State would turn its vote to Cox and Roosevelt.

Among other visitors at Democratic headquarters was Senator Owen of Oklahoma.

Indicted for Hospital Theft.

George W. Wason, former Treasurer of the Samaritan Hospital, Brooklyn, accused of misappropriating funds of that institution, was indicted for grand larceny in the first degree by the Kings County Grand Jury yesterday. Wason is charged with the specific thefts of $1,000 in March and $2,250 in December, 1919. He was arraigned before County Judge McMahon and bail was fixed at $20,000 after he had pleaded not guilty. He was unable to give bond.

PLEADS FOR FUSION TO BEAT SOCIALISTS

TELLS OF SOVIET LEANINGS

Charges Many Leaders of Socialist Organization Favor "Red" Rule.

BEGS FOR SPEEDY ACTION

Republicans and Democrats Must Defeat Ousted Assemblymen, Says Orth.

Charles D. Orth, President of the National Security League, yesterday sent letters to the Democratic and Republican County Chairmen in the Bronx and Brooklyn, urging them to "place country above party" and reconsider their decision not to choose fusion candidates to run against three of the ousted Socialist Assemblymen—DeWitt in the Third and Orr in the Fourth Assembly Districts in the Bronx and Solomon in the Twenty-third Assembly District in Brooklyn.

"I note with the keenest regret in the newspapers that the attempts for fusion against the Socialist candidates have thus far failed," wrote Mr. Orth.

"During the investigation of the Socialist Party in Albany, it developed that the Socialists must and do put loyalty to their party above loyalty to the country and its laws. Surely the majority of the people in your county take the opposite view. They certainly are willing to put loyalty to the country above loyalty to any party, and they therefore would be glad to have the opportunity of voicing their patriotism by voting for suitable candidates for office, irrespective of party affiliations.

"The Socialist Party in your county forms a minority and it would seem pathetic under present conditions to allow this minority, composed partially of disloyal and largely of misguided citizens again to elect members of the Legislature.

"Permit me to call your attention to a cartoon which appeared in Monday's New York Call, which represented the bird of freedom flying over Warsaw and calling to citizens of Warsaw, as well as to laboring men all over the word, to arise and seize power.

"A few days ago Brooklyn awoke one morning to find elevated pillars, billboards, &c., covered with placards asking the citizens to arise and seize the Government and establish a Soviet rule.

"While the Socialist Party does not favor Soviet rule in its platform, many of its leaders and spokesmen advocate just that. The majority of voters in your county certainly do not want Soviet rule in this country, and I wish to urge upon you not only the necessity for fusion against this vicious minority party, but also want to point out to you that it is only fair to the voters that the old party organizations should enable the majority, who are desirous of doing so, to elect loyal Americans as members of the Legislature."

If the five ousted Socialists appear in Albany on Sept. 20 as members of the Assembly at the special session called by Governor Smith, they again will be ousted, in the opinion of up-State Republican leaders who were in Albany yesterday, among them Senate Leader J. Henry Walters. It is believed that the plans for dealing with the Socialists in case they are re-elected will be decided upon at a Republican caucus on Sept. 19. It was said that the plan probably would be to adopt a resolution reaffirming the action of the Assembly taken on April 1, when the five were ousted.

GREET COOLIDGE AT NEWTON

Harding and Johnson Send Messages to Republican Meeting.

NEWTON, Mass., Aug. 18.—The Democratic Administration of the last eight years was arraigned by Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky, who was the principal speaker today at a mass meeting of the Associated Republican Clubs of Massachusetts at Norumbega Park in honor of Governor Coolidge, the Republican nomineee for Vice President.

Governor Coolidge presided and in a brief address said the United States in this campaign was confronted with a crisis which had as its issue the restoration of America "to the good graces and confidence of nations abroad," and the establishment of "an orderly Government at home under the Constitution." He paid high tribute to Senator Harding, the Presidential nominee.

Messages of congratulation were read from leaders in many States, including Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, and Senator Harding.

Senator Harding's message said:

"Senator Lodge made a notable contribution toward preservation of independence and nationality during the anxious months through which we have recently passed, and there will be a renewed assurance with Governor Coolidge presiding over the Senate while Senator Lodge continues his intensely American leadership."

VENABLE PROBABLY BEATEN.

Returns Indicate Mississippi Representative Has Lost Renomination.

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 18.—Four of the five Democratic Representatives seeking renomination were successful in yesterday's primary, according to returns compiled by the Jackson Daily News. Representatives Candler in the First District, Lowry in the Second, Sisson in the Fourth, and Quinn in the Seventh apparently had safe majorities, while the defeat of Venable in the Fifth was indicated.

Venable was opposed by Ross Collins, former Attorney General of Mississippi and a bitter opponent of the present National Administration.

ANDERSON WRITES HAYES.

Wants Archbishop to State Position on Candidates Indorsed by League.

William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, sent an open letter yesterday to Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes of the Roman Catholic diocese asking the Archbishop whether statements in The Tablet, a Roman Catholic publication, reflected the opinion of Archbishop Hayes with regard to the alleged opposition of Catholics to candidates for public office who have the indorsement of the Anti-Saloon League.

Two Airplanes at Dawson.

DAWSON, Yukon, Aug. 18.—Airplanes Nos. 2 and 4 of the United States Army New York to Nome expedition arrived here yesterday afternoon from Whitehorse.

The two other planes were detained at Whitehorse, one of them having been slightly damaged in attempting to hop off.

Cummins Seriously Ill.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 18.—The condition of United States Senator A. B. Cummins, who has been in poor health, was reported serious among his friends today.

He is suffering from an enlarged aorta, it is said.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Under sluggish dealings stocks lost ground again yesterday, the effect of bearish operations being most noticeable in the sugar and railroad equipment groups. The market did not, however, disclose any determined short sales and a moderate covering movement in the last hour leveled out some of the earlier weak spots. It could be argued that the action of call money would have brought out more selling for the short account had the market not been carried in the last fortnight's decline to an average price position which told of an oversold condition for the time being. After standing loans were renewed at 7 per cent., the rate moved up to 9 per cent., the highest of the month. The scale of dealings indicated a decidedly moderate public participation. There was nothing new in this, but it develops now and then, when professional traders are carrying on the bulk of trading, the short account becomes so far expanded that those with short lines are unwilling to go much further and stand ready to run when events unfavorable to their position occur.

Such events were not forthcoming yesterday and the Polish success in clearing the "Danzig corridor" of Russian Soviet troops, carrying the offensive beyond the mere protection of Warsaw, had no reflection in stock market quotations. The decline of sugar shares supplied, perhaps, a truer indication of the current trading attitude than any other development. Presumably, the drive at these stocks was coupled with information showing the lowering tendency of sugar prices, and a similar impression of other price fields colored market operations. The downward movement of quotations of many kinds of products, largely centred in those of daily importance in the lives of the people, is emphasized in mercantile and industrial comment none the less as the Autumn period approaches. The steel trade, according to the weekly surveys, is feeling the effect of cancelations, although the interchange of contracts continues to lighten the process of receding orders in particular directions and the uncertainty of higher railroad freight rate effects has installed some uncertainty into the longer outlook. Lessened automobile company buying is opening the way for the filling of orders for machinery and implement makers on a more generous scale than before. The steel companies evidently are not hastening to accept orders for last quarter delivery and for the fore part of next year until they can feel out the result of the freight award on costs. A reflection of this attitude seems likely to be found sooner or later in railroad purchases of cars and track material, for it is realized in the steel trade and in railroad quarters as well that new contracts cannot be hastily agreed upon before the new basis of costs and selling prices has been determined. A decline of cotton futures prices in yesterday's dealings disclosed a growth of uncertainty over the consuming markets during the Winter which apparently exceeded the direct impression from weather news showing that crop prospects were improving.

The time is drawing near when plans surrounding the maturity of France's portion of the Anglo-French loan will be of marked interest in the investment market. Since the middle of July the demand for bonds has gradually been improving as the market completed its adjustment to a 7½ to 8 per cent. yield basis. It is to be expected that the French Treasury will desire to refund as large a part of the obligation as conditions permit, thus putting off the day for the final liquidation of the loan to a period when the exchanges will make the operation less disadvantageous to France than at present. That would be nothing less than good business, for France would prefer to conserve her gold supply and intrust to her recovery in industry and commerce the problem of improving the position of the franc at New York. But the investment and credit markets here may regard the transaction from another angle, especially if a return in excess of the yield of sound bonds, comparable to a new French issue, is offered in the expected refunding plan. It goes without saying that the bankers will not favor any transaction which threatens to dislocate the money markets this Autumn, and, thus, it is idle speculation to guess about the size of the French offering. Credit and investment conditions will determine next month whether the loan is to be larger or smaller than estimates already made.

TO PAY $4,045,500 NOTES.

The Island Oil and Transport Corporation has a maturity of $4,045,500 to meet on Sept. 1. This comprises $2,773,500, first lien, 7 per cent. gold notes and $1,272,000, 2½-year, 7 per cent. notes. It was stated yesterday that both maturities will be paid off when they fall due. An interesting angle, however, was the report that any such part of the notes as could not be paid directly by Island Oil and Transport would be paid by A. B. Leach. When asked about this he merely replied that the notes would be paid and refused to make further comment.

The notes were put out originally through A. B. Leach & Co., and were sold for the purpose of financing improvements on the property of the company in Mexico which was obtained from the Metropolitan Petroleum Company. The money derived from the sale among other things provided working capital to build pipe lines to tap one of the big wells.

FRENCH TAXES MEET NEEDS, SAYS ENVOY

LEVIES ADJUSTED UPWARD

Recent Increases Will Bring Eight Billions Over Schedule Used in First Half of 1920.

Jean Parmentier, of the French Ministry of Finance, who is here in connection with the Anglo-French loan maturity in October, cited figures yesterday to offset the impression lately prevailing in parts of Europe and America that the tax schedules of France were not heavy enough to meet her needs. He stated that in 1913 the income of the French Republic from income and other taxes was 4,200,000,000 francs, while the tariffs existing up to July 1 of this year, plus additions which went into effect on that date, indicated a full return of 20,000,000,000 francs in the twelve months ending June 30 next year.

"The old schedules prevailing in the first half of 1920," said he, "would have returned 11,500,000,000 francs in the year, but the outlook was changed vastly when the new law went into effect. It is calculated that the increases provided by the July 1 regulations will amount to 1,300,000,000 francs in income taxes, 500,000,000 francs in so-called taxes on wealth, including the inheritance tax, while the newly installed tax on business turnovers, which amounts to 1 per cent. on all sales will return 5,400,000,000 francs in the year from the time they went into effect. Excise taxes will produce an increase of 950,000,000 francs, and through increased efficiency in the collection of taxes under old schedules it is estimated that 350,000,000 francs more money will be gathered in by the collectors than in 1919. The total of these increases, which seem assured from data carefully prepared, will be 8,500,000,000 francs over and above the 11,500,000,000 which had been promised before the tax laws were adjusted upward.

"France's income taxes are very heavy. There is a 10 per cent. tax on all incomes, to begin with, with a graduated scale that permits the Government to exact 50 per cent. of those incomes which exceed 500,000 francs annually. To emphasize the relative burden of France's taxation one needs but refer to the statement made not long ago by Austen Chamberlain, the British Government's financial leader, that the per capita tax in the United States was slightly more than £10, in England £22 6d, and in France, £17 16s 10d, the units of currency being converted into sterling at the par of exchange. The determination of France to tax adequately is made all the more impressive by the fact that her young men are still called up for three years' military training, using a long and important period of their productive lives."

Mr. Parmentier declined to comment on pending negotiations with J. P. Morgan & Co. and other bankers on matters pertaining to methods of meeting the loan maturity, of which France's share is $250,000,000. He was not in consultation with bankers yesterday. A rumor that gold was on its way from the Far East to New York, presumably for French account, was brought to Mr. Parmentier's attention, but he said that as far as he was informed there was no metal in the Far East which his Government could command. The gold to be sent in connection with the loan is expected to come from Paris.

At the meeting with financial reporters in the office of the French Financial Commission, 2 Rector Street, there were, besides Mr. Parmentier, Maurice Casenave, French High Commissioner at New York, and several French financial experts.

BUYS FRANTZ OIL COMPANY.

Elk Basin Consolidated Petroleum Company to Control Corporation.

The Elk Basin Consolidated Petroleum Company has purchased a controlling interest in the Frantz Oil Corporation. It was the latter company which brought in the first big oil well in Montana, which was located in the Cat Creek Field. The Frantz company controls leases on 24,000 acres in this field. The new well is reported to be flowing 1,800 barrels a day. It was brought in on May 15 with a flow of 250 barrels a day, and after an eight-inch casing was set flowed 1,500 barrels a day, this later increasing by 300 barrels a day.

The Frantz corporation has a joint interest with the Roxana Petroleum Company, a subsidiary of Royal Dutch, in 3,000 acres in the new Bellefourche structure in Southeastern Montana and has wells in the Salt Creek field.

3 CENTRAL LINES REPORT.

Two Show Increased Gross Incomes, with Net Earnings Off.

Annual reports for last year of the Michigan Central Railroad Company, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company, all associated in the New York Central Lines, were issued yesterday by the Controller of the New York Central. The report of the Michigan Central shows a total compensation accrued of $8,699,812, as compared with $8,248,956 in 1918. The gross income for 1919 was $9,557,999, an increase of $600,000 over the preceding year. After deductions from gross income, which was greater by $677,000 than in 1918, the net corporate income last year was $67,229, as compared with $547,857 in 1919. The dividends for the year were charged against accumulated surplus as compared with charging them against net income as in the previous report. Charging the dividends against net income, there would have been a deficit of $682,227, as compared with a deficit of $201,598 in the preceding year.

The Big Four report shows a gross income of $11,190,574, as compared with $10,772,277 in the preceding year. The net corporate income, however, was only $577,786, a decrease of $2,542,676. After dividends, sinking fund charges and investment in physical property there was a surplus for the year of $35,005, a decrease of $2,458,008 from the 1918 figures.

Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, in its report, shows a gross income of $10,171,599, an increase of $627,000. The net corporate income was $6,048,668, an increase of nearly $1,000,000 over 1918. After dividends the surplus last year was $2,450,108, an increase of $990,557 over the preceding year.

N. Y. CENTRAL BONDS READY

To Sell $25,000,000 Ten-Year Obligations at 7 Per Cent.

The long-awaited New York Central financing will be offered for public subscription today in the form of $25,000,000 ten-year 7 per cent. bonds by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., according to information obtained in the financial district yesterday. Proceeds from the sale of the issue will be used in part for the retirement of $15,000,000 6 per cent. collateral notes of the company which mature Sept. 15. The bonds will be offered at par.

The balance of proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used for other corporate purposes.

TO PROTECT OWNERS OF RUSSIAN BONDS

INVESTORS' NAMES SOUGHT

Committee Will Press Their Claims When Political Conditions Warrant.

A group of members of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce has formed a protective committee for holders of the Imperial Russian Government 5½ per cent. loan of 1926. This loan, which was an internal issue, was disposed of in this country to an amount roughly estimated between 100,000,000 and 200,000,000 rubles at the rate of exchange then existing of about 33 cents per ruble. Since the upheaval in Russia the ruble has depreciated to about 2 cents, and many appeals to the Chamber of Commerce in behalf of owners who look forward to the rehabilitation of Russia's finances resulted in the formation of the committee. The first step will be the collection of names of owners of the bonds and the amounts of their holdings. Thereafter the committee will watch developments, making ready to press their claims when conditions warrant such a movement.

The committee consists of W. C. Redfield, former Secretary of Commerce; S. R. Bertron, who was a member of the Root commission to Russia; C. B. Coleman, President of the Worthington Pump and Machinery Company; Peter S. Duryee, Vice President of the Mercantile Trust Company, and William H. Woodin, President of the American Car and Foundry Company. J. C. Traphagen, Treasurer of the Mercantile Trust Company, who spent more than a year in Russia, covering the Kerensky régime, is secretary to the committee. Mr. Traphagen said yesterday that no program had been outlined and that events would be shaped entirely by political happenings in Russia.

MILLION HOMES LACKING.

Senator Calder Committee Thus Informed—Hearing in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 18.—The Senate Committee on Production and Reconstruction, of which Senator W. M. Calder of New York is Chairman, held a hearing here today on the housing situation in Baltimore. Bankers and representatives of the Builders' Exchange, real estate, manufacturers' organizations and transportation and city officials testified as to local conditions.

Senator Calder said there was a shortage of at least one million homes in the United States as ascertained through questionnaires submitted to all the larger cities.

The committee's work will be summed up in a report to be submitted to the Senate next December.

Grain Corporation Cuts Capital.

The capital of the United States Grain Corporation was reduced yesterday from $150,000,000 to $50,000,000 at a special meeting of the Board of Directors. This action was taken in accordance with an executive order signed by President Wilson yesterday.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Decline Checked.

During most of yesterday the stock market showed continued weakness and prices in many instances were well below their close of the preceding day. The bears once more were active, but their operations did not bring quite the same degree of success as earlier in the week. In the last hour the market rallied and certain of the more active issues made good headway on short covering. Buying by the shorts served to halt, for the time being at least, the decline which has been in progress. Most people, however, were little disposed to predict that the market had hit bottom, although not a few considered that gains were in order as a result of short covering. The domination of the market by the professionals is such as to make the outside traders cautious, since the swings one way or the other may have no definite relation many times to the course of the news.

The Autumn Auto Industry.

Word from Syracuse yesterday was to the effect that the H. H. Franklin Company, which manufactures the Franklin automobile, had established a four day week schedule. This, it would be natural to infer, is the result of a falling off in future business. Such has been the case with most automobile companies recently, although few of them are admitting that the peak of the buying demand has passed. It was inevitable, however, that it should pass, since the public during most of this year has been taking autos on a scale never before approached. That could not continue. With a falling off in demand some are of the belief that consolidations in the automobile industry will be in order so that overhead may be cut down. There have already been rumblings of this and before the end of the year it may come to pass that mergers will actually have been established. The realization that the auto industry will probably not have such a heavy demand to supply during the next six months has led to some selling of the stocks and the bears have not been tardy in taking advantage of the situation.

Eastman Kodak Stock.

There was a sale of ten shares of Eastman Kodak stock on the big board yesterday at $533 a share. This is the first sale on the New York Stock Exchange in five years, the last previous sale having been in August, 1915, with the price $605 a share. Yesterday's price was, therefore, 72 points below that last recorded. It must be remembered, however, that in the space of five years holders of the stock have recovered in regular and extra dividends about $200 a share.

⁂

Aetna Explosives.

The plan of the Aetna Explosives Company to retire 25 per cent. of the common stock at $12 a share is held in abeyance for the time being. It is understood that the plan has been approved, but, following a meeting yesterday, it was stated that no announcement would be made for the present, as there were some details to be considered. It had been expected that formal announcement of the plan would be made after yesterday's meeting.

Mexican Oil Exports.

The improved conditions in Mexico with relation to oil production are indicated in the July export figures on shipments from that country. During the month 12,696,274 barrels of oil were sent to this country and Europe, this being the largest total ever recorded. In part the gain is no doubt due to the increased tankerage facilities, but production has also increased to offset the world shortage of petroleum. The record seems to set at rest fears that the Mexican supply of oil was endangered by the advent of salt water in one of the fields. Mexico's potential production is tremendous and estimates of the subsoil conditions can hardly be more than guesses. Generally speaking, the Mexican wells are of long life and production on a big scale can be expected for years to come.

Centralized Railroad Labor.

It has been known for some time that the railroad labor leaders would oppose with their full strength any move on the part of railroad managers to abolish the gains which labor was allowed by the Railroad Administration during the period of Federal control. In some quarters in the financial district yesterday there was a disposition to interpret the present situation as a ticklish one, but one that should be allowed to develop along natural lines. Particular emphasis is laid in railroad circles on the necessity for the re-establishment of the piecework basis in the railroad shops, and the managers have a good argument for their position. They refer to the almost immediate drop in the efficiency of workers when the Railroad Administration established the time basis in the shops. This ran all the way from a drop of 10 to a drop of 46 per cent. in efficiency, and while there has been considerable improvement reported recently this, it is said, can only go so far. In order to get real efficiency as measured by that prevailing before the time work basis was allowed piece work must come in again, in the opinion of many executives.

The State Rail Rate Situation.

While the majority of local railroad men and bankers were not inclined to commit themselves yesterday on what the outcome of the Second District Public Commission hearing on increased freight rates in New York will be, there was an apparent improvement in sentiment. No one, of course, would hazard a guess as to what the final decision of the Commissioners will be, but it was pointed out that there was no particular evidence of animus in the proceedings. In addition the announcement that several more State Commissions had approved the rate increases allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission was considered as a hopeful sign, the significance of which would not be lost upon the local regulators in their final decision on rates.

Coal vs. Commodity Price Gains.

That there has been a smaller advance in the prices for coal since pre-war times is the burden of the current bulletin issued by the Anthracite Bureau of Information in Philadelphia. The Bulletin says, in part: "Wholesale prices of commodity groups, as collected by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, United States Department of Labor, for the period just before the World War to March, 1920, show an interesting picture of commercial variations in the last six years. Taking the pre-war figures as 100, the wholesale prices as found by the Government to prevail in March, 1920, showed the following advances:

Commodity.	Increase Per Cent.
Textile and leather goods	218.9
Minerals and metals (excluding coal)	91.3
Bituminous coal	86.4
Foods, vegetable	191.0
Foods, animal	87.9
Anthracite coal	60.3

"Not only has anthracite advanced less during the period, but its advance has been devoid of heavy fluctuations which have marked almost everything else."

⁂

Short-Term Financing About Ended.

In the opinion of the head of one of the big banks in Wall Street short-term financing is about over for the immediate future, and issues which are floated in the last half of the year will probably be long-time paper, which will be put out on an attractive basis. He said that the big institutions are not inclined to reach for one-year and two-year issues, but are doing what they can to defer the maturities of new issues over a period ranging from ten to as much as twenty years. He said that there would probably be some new offerings of short-term issues, but that in the main most of the new issues of size would have longer life than has been the general rule in recent months.

The position of sound railroad bonds has thereby been strengthened.

We offer a broad list of such issues and particularly recommend the purchase of long term bonds to yield from

SHOWS SAFEGUARDS IN GERMAN SHIP DEAL

R. H. M. Robinson Discloses Terms of Contract with Hamburg-American Line.

U. S. GETS FIRST BUSINESS

Teuton Concern Can Put Vessels on Lanes Only Under Restrictions.

R. H. M. Robinson, Vice President of the American Ship and Commerce Corporation, in reply to inquiries yesterday, explained that American interests involved in the agreement between his company and the Hamburg-American Line for the reopening of that company's pre-war trade routes, are amply protected. This protection, he said, is contained in one part of the contract which provides that the American concern will furnish the first tonnage to be used in such channels and that not until the growth of trade in that lane merits it may the Hamburg-American Line place a similar amount of tonnage in the service. When each concern has a similar volume of tonnage engaged in the same lane, new tonnage to be added will first be provided by the American company and a similar amount by the German company later. In addition all new proposed lanes must be approved by the American company. The agreement runs for twenty years. In showing just how the plan will work, Mr. Robinson said yesterday:

"Each service under the agreement is to be considered as a separate and distinct unit, and the outstanding point in the agreement is that each service is an enterprise in which each party shall have the right to participate with an equal amount of tonnage. We will act as agents for the Hamburg-American Line in the United States ports and the Hamburg-American Line will act as agents for us in German ports, but each party may establish its own office in the country of the other to supervise the activities therein.

"As an example of our position under the agreement we will presume that the German interests proposed to us the reopening or the opening of a trade lane between Germany and China. Under the agreement we will furnish the first ships to be used in that lane. Say that the number is three. The agreement states that when, and if, trade develops to a point where additional tonnage is required to handle it, the Hamburg-American Line will have the right to put on their ship. If trade continues to develop, they may, under the agreement, put on another and still another, until their tonnage and ours is equal. If there is still a growth to be taken care of we provide the next ship and then the Hamburg-American provides one.

"Under such an arrangement we actually re-open the trade lane and have the advantage of sailing the first tonnage in that lane. If after a period of years we feel that the Hamburg-American Line is not acting fairly we are at perfect liberty to withdraw our tonnage. But it is my opinion that within those years we will have become so familiar with the lanes in which we are doing this business that we will be in a strong position to hold our own, no matter what the competition may be."

Mr. Robinson said that the company through it affiliation with the Harriman shipping interests has at its command some 396,000 deadweight tons of ships which it owns or controls, while it is operating some 200,000 deadweight tons of United States Shipping Board vessels. Of course all of this would not be available for use in the old Hamburg-American lanes, as a great deal of it is engaged in other services, such as the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company routes and coastwise and other lines.

When asked if the fact that the United States was still at war with Germany would not prevent immediate carrying out of the plan Mr. Robinson said that it was his impression that President Wilson had issued an order permitting the resumption of trade with Germany.

One reason why the details of the agreement have not been made public, Mr. Robinson said, was that it was not good business, while in addition such details are highly technical and many clauses might easily be confused with others and misunderstood.

It has been established in some shipping circles that the German interests may be able to furnish between 180,000 and 200,000 deadweight tons in connection with the agreement. At the same time there is some question as to what percentage of this will remain after the Reparations Commission finishes its work in connection with the Central Powers.

Union Oil Earns 86 Cents a Share.

The Union Oil Company of Delaware, for the first six months of this year, reports a net income of $1,187,378 after all charges and Federal taxes. This is equivalent to 86 cents a share on the capital stock.

Through subsidiaries, it serves electricity for power and light, gas or water and other public utility service, to 122 communities, including Galveston, El Paso, Ft. Worth and Waco, Tex.

These bonds, in addition to being a direct obligation of the Company, are secured by $2,000,000 First Lien 5% Bonds and $2,000,000 General Lien 8% Bonds, and are followed by $19,512,000 par value of dividend paying stocks.

Net earnings of the Company's properties, all of whose securities are pledged under the First Lien Mortgage, were $853,790 for the year ended June 30th, 1920, and total earnings available for interest charges (including those of controlled companies) were $1,837,527. Annual interest on all First Lien Bonds and Bond Secured Notes is $349,850.

Present money conditions alone are responsible for the liberal yield of these notes. Based on our careful analysis of the notes, prior to our own purchase, we recommend them for conservative investment. A circular more fully descriptive of the issue will be sent upon request.

COAST AND LAKE SHIP RATE RISE URGED

Sixty Concerns Join in Asking Board to Advance Freights 30 to 40 Per Cent.

SHIPPERS TO OPPOSE TODAY

Protest Hasty Notice of Public Hearing — Three Coast Lines Figure Loss $2,790,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Spokesmen for Great Lakes, coastwise and gulf carriers today urged the Shipping Board to grant applications involving approximately sixty steamship lines for rate increases, in conformity with advances already allowed to the railroads by the Interstate Commerce Commission. A majority of the lines are now operating at deficits which threaten their existence, Examiner H. E. Manghum was told by witnesses.

Shippers of freight on these and other lines are to be heard tomorrow. Owing to the short time until increased rail rates become effective, efforts are being made to expedite the hearings.

William J. Pitt, a Philadelphia manufacturer, and George P. Wilson, representing the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, made formal protest against the proceedings today on the ground that there had not been adequate notice for the shippers to appear. Both said they had not been advised of the hearings until this week.

A. D. Stebbins, President of the Merchants and Miners' Steamship Company, said his line showed a deficit of $791,552 in 1919. The Clyde Steamship Company, which he also represented, he said, had a 1919 deficit of $1,357,953. The Mallory Steamship Company, the witness said, had a loss of $643,165.

The deficit for his company during the first six months of 1920 Mr. Stebbins estimated at $694,196. Even with the granting of increased rates conforming to those of the rail carriers, he said, his company would virtually have no net revenue to invest in new tonnage.

Charles B. Hopper of Chicago, General Freight Agent of the Goodrich Steamship Lines, while not asking for increased passenger rates, urged the board to grant an average increase of 30 per cent. in freight rates. The company would operate at a loss this year otherwise, he said.

F. A. Stanley of the Great Lakes Transportation Corporation, urged a 40 per cent increase in freight rates. His company had a deficit of $117,115 during the first six months of this year, he said, compared with $3,099 for the like period in 1919. He estimated increased operating expenses during 1920 at $1,200,000.

L. G. Lewis of Detroit, Mich., General Passenger Agent of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company, favored a 20 per cent. advance in passenger rates and 40 per cent. on freight, while H. R. Rogers of the Cleveland & Buffalo Transportation Company, estimated that organization's expenses this year would surpass those of 1919 by 29 per cent.

J. M. Cleveland, Vice President of the Pere Marquette Line, wrote the board that his company would be compelled to discontinue service to the Ports of Arcadia, Onekama, Manistee and Pentwater, Mich., and handle all its tonnage through Ludington, Mich., with much slower service, unless increased rates were allowed.

Among others heard, Mr. Patterson asked that a 10 per cent. increase in rates be allowed the Panama Line, while Mr. Outerbridge favored a 30 per cent. increase in rates between Quebec and St. Thomas, as well as St. Croix.

Notice of protests against the applications of the steamship companies for higher freight rates were entered by shippers in advance of the hearing of their argument tomorrow before the board.

NEW INCOME TAX RULING.

Return of 7.60 on Philippine Certificates Held Exempt.

Salomon Brothers & Hutzler have received an opinion from Wayne Johnson, Solicitor of Internal Revenue, in which he says that a return of 7.60 per cent. on an issue of $10,000,000 Philippine Government 4 per cent. certificates of indebtedness purchased by the firm from the United States War Department at 96.59 and maturing in one year, is exempt from taxation under the Federal income tax law. He asserts, however, that certain conditions contained in his recent ruling in another case must be met. That ruling, as quoted in the inquiry made by Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, reads:

"Referring to your letter of Aug. 2, 1920, and in further reference to my letter of July 17, 1920, careful consideration has recently been given to the question whether tax should be asserted on profit derived from State and municipal securities purchased at a discount and held until maturity. The bureau is of the present opinion, and has so ruled, that such profit is not taxable where it clearly appears that the return from the investment in the hands of the taxpayer is due solely to the compensation received from the municipality in lieu of interest for the use of the taxpayer's money. In no case may such exemption exceed the total discount at which the securities were originally sold by the municipality."

ROAD TO REFUND NOTES.

New Chicago & Western Indiana Bonds Will Pay 7½ Per Cent.

In a circular which is being distributed to holders of Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad Company notes dated Sept. 1, 1917, and extended to Sept. 1, 1920, Howard G. Hetzler, President of the company, announces the terms proposed for a refunding of the issue. These comprise payment to the holder of each $1,000 note, $500 in cash and $500 in new fifteen-year 7½ per cent. collateral trust sinking fund bonds, and are dependent upon acceptance by not less than 86 per cent. of the outstanding $15,000,000 7 per cent. notes held by the company.

In addition to the notes mentioned, the company has $1,000,000 6 per cent. notes held by the Belt Railway Company of Chicago (an affiliated concern), which are secured by $1,250,000 of the same issue of refunding bonds as those behind the $15,000,000 notes. The circular explains that the Interstate Commerce Commission has promised a loan of $8,000,000 to the company to meet the notes, providing a similar amount is taken care of by the company.

Sinking fund arrangements have been made which should result in the retirement of the new issue of fifteen-year bonds in about thirteen years or sooner through the purchase of the issue by the company in the open market.

Havana Taxicab Drivers Join Strike.

HAVANA, Aug. 17.—A manifesto issued tonight by the Chauffeurs' Union of Cuba and the Union Syndicate of Chauffeurs, the most important unions of taxicab drivers in Havana, orders the men out on strike at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning. The call was issued in sympathy with the Havana Electric Street Railway Company's employes, who walked out nine days ago to enforce demands for a higher wage.

AUTO STEEL ORDERS BEING CANCELED

RISE IN PRICE DISCUSSED

Much 1921 Business Depends on Corporation's Decision Based on Rail Rate Increase.

Automobile manufacturers are beginning to cancel orders for steel, according to The Iron Age which asserts that this, in connection with the freight rate advances, has made for a less active market during the past week.

"Conflicting influences are at work and for the time the effort to forecast the effect of these on the new demand for steel in the remainder of the year has taken precedence over the movement of product out of the blockade at the mills.

"What action the Steel Corporation will take as to prices for its product in view of the freight advances is widely discussed. A considerable volume of business for 1921 waits on the decision, which involves not only the effects of the advance of many million dollars in the cost of a year's output of the corporation but also the duration of the present condition of insufficient supply of steel.

"The shipment of steel from mills is better on the whole, and the situation is expected to work easier, notwithstanding that Pittsburgh reports of improvement are qualified. Production results are more satisfactory, most Chicago district plants having gone back to the schedule prevailing before the Illinois-Indiana coal strike.

"The railroads and the implement manufacturers, who have been getting much less steel than they wanted, are expected to make up in tonnage, though not in kind, for the cancellations from Detroit and elsewhere. Thus far the automobile curtailment has been estimated at 25 to 30 per cent. A first result is a reduction of the premiums loong existing on sheet prices."

The Iron Trade Review says:

"Mixed considerations are being carefully weighed by iron and steel consumers at present in an effort to determine future buying policies. The possibility of higher prices because of the increased freight rates is being placed against the effect of the manifest slowing down in some lines of manufacture. Notably in the automobile field. The appearance of definite, though spotty, improvement in transportation conditions presents a further factor of primary market importance. The better movement of mill material is reflected by the fact that a leading Pittsburgh producer has been able to reduce its accumulation of finished and semi-finished material by 65,000 tons, or about 12 per cent. A large Pittsburgh independent interest attained the unusual record in July of shipping out more tonnage than in any month in its history. The largest part of this tonnage was handled by truck."

PLANS $50,000,000 OIL DEVELOPMENT

Atlantic Gulf and West Indies to Spend $35,000,000 for New Tankers.

The Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies Steamship Lines, which is associated with the building of a pipe line to carry petroleum between Havre and Paris, is, according to information obtained yesterday, planning to expend between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000 in connection with the development of its oil properties. More than half of this amount, or about $35,000,000, will be used to purchase tankers for the transportation of its Mexican oil. A fleet of fourteen tankers is already under construction. It is stated that no new financing is contemplated in connection with the big expenditure. The company is said to have available at the present time about $50,000,000 for the purposes contemplated. The company made large profits during the war and amassed a big surplus.

It is planned to expend about $10,000,000 on the development of its Mexican properties and from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000 will be expended in the construction of pipe lines. It is asserted that the major portion of the French undertaking, which calls for the construction of refineries, storage tanks and pipe lines, will be financed by Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies. About $2,000,000 will be spent on the development of properties in England, which have recently been acquired. In connection with the British project the Agwi Petroleum Corporation, Limited, has been formed with a capital of £1,000,000, and 65 per cent. of the stock is owned by Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies. Recently 466 acres of ground were purchased at Southampton, England, and on this property a topping plant will be erected.

The development work in Mexico is being carried on on an extensive scale.

NATION'S EXPENSES FALLING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Government expenditures for July fell off by more than $1,500,000,000 compared with June, according to the monthly statement issued today by the Treasury.

Ordinary expenditures for July, including $11,000,000 for the purchase of obligations of foreign Governments, amounted to $306,501,839, compared with $474,362,256 in June, which included only $3,000,000 for the purchase of foreign obligations.

Success!

SUCCESS in advertising is a relative term. There is no standard—some consider a certain number of inquiries as the peak of their success; others hold no brief for inquiries and study only the net results of the business over a definite period.

Advertising is successful if it does what you want it to do. And it will do what you want it to do if you employ the proper methods and counsel. In fixing your goal you must be guided by the amount of money appropriated, territory covered, service and capacity of your organization, and facility to follow up inquiries and new accounts.

Many years of experience in making financial advertising return a higher yield on the investment, enables us to intelligently plan with you for success. Consult us. No obligation.

COTTON LIST BREAKS AFTER EARLY RALLY

October and December at Lowest Ebb, Are Down 130 and 104 Points.

SPOTS FALL TO 35 CENTS

Cotton quotations crumbled yesterday after an early advance, the closing prices showing recessions from the high points of the trading period of 130 points in the October option, 104 in December, 109 in January, with abrupt reactions in the other months. Compared with Tuesday's final bid quotations, the last prices displayed a decline of 62 points in December, 73 in January, 65 in March, 84 in May and 75 in July. The initial rally appeared to be the product of short covering, although Liverpool advices hardly seemed to warrant an upturn here.

The break came from heavy Southern selling in large part, running parallel to an extensive reaction at New Orleans. There appeared to be no new influences at work and the weekly Government weather report disclosed conditions about as had been expected.

The Government agency recorded a lack of sunshine in nearly all parts of the cotton belt, with excessive rainfall in a few places. Plant deterioration over large areas was reported except in northern Arkansas and parts of Texas and Oklahoma, with accompanying factor boll rot where moisture was particularly heavy. Traders seemed to think that favorable progress of the crop in Oklahoma and Texas counteracted damage in the Atlantic and East Gulf states, but it was more probable that trade conditions had greater influence on trading than the weather report.

A fall of 100 points in the local spot quotation to 35 cents was indicative of a lack of demand possible of interpretation in uncertain plans by spinners. The Southern spot market declined rather sharply. A renewed fall of the foreign exchanges, carrying the sterling rate down nearly 3 cents during the day, was not encouraging to speculators who direct their operations partly by expectations based on the export movement.

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Day.
Oct	29.86	30.05	28.62	28.75@28.85	29.58

WHEAT RISES SLIGHTLY.

Light Receipts and Limited Selling Cause Increase.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Light receipts and a limited selling pressure at the start today caused wheat prices to open ½c to ⅝c higher, with December $2.39 and March $2.41. Prices hovered around here for the first hour, after which the market attracted attention and became firmer.

Trade continued light, although there was a good shipping business under way in cash grain, and the market eased off, with final quotations ¼c to ½c above yesterday's finish, with December $2.39 to $2.39½ and March $2.40¾.

Winnipeg Grain Exchange Opens.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 18.—Open trading in wheat futures in Canada again became an actual fact this morning, when the Winnipeg Grain Exchange opened for business. Two months, October and December, were posted for future deliveries, and while there was a fair amount of business in the October delivery, there was little activity in December. Among the buyers were the largest export houses on the market.

The first selling was done by farmers and country dealers, who immediately took the opportunity to protect themselves against lower prices by hedging for October delivery.

Later in the day as the market progressed it was reported that the millers were buying for domestic uses, and there was a good volume of business around $2.70.

After opening at $1.65, the market quickly jumped to higher prices, the high of the day being $2.72, and closed 1½ cents lower at $2.70½.

10% Stock Dividend Declared.

The St. Joseph Lead Company has declared a 10 per cent. stock dividend payable to stockholders of record of Sept. 20. The regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share and an extra 25 cents a share were also declared, both payable Sept. 20 to stock of record Sept. 9.

PAY $30,000 AS 'PROFITEERS'

Fines Accruing to Government in Fight on Clothing Cost.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Nearly $30,000 in fines for profiteering in clothing has accrued to the Government in cases just decided in New York State, according to reports to the Department of Justice today. Individual fines ranged from $1,750 to $16,000, and included firms in Binghamton, Albany, Utica and Watertown.

Similar judgments against clothing dealers in various parts of the country are expected during the next month, officials said, on indictments now being brought to trial.

Belgian Railway Men Aid Bolsheviki

BRUSSELS, Aug. 18.—The Belgian State Railway Men's Syndicate has decided to prevent the transportation from or through Belgium of troops or munitions intended for Poland. This decision follows similar action taken by the Antwerp dockers.

READY—NOW
Investment Opportunities of Today
—the most thorough resume published or available on the RAILROAD and EQUIPMENT
situation. Simple—logical—clear, it gives the investor a complete understanding of the country's transportation status and problem. Besides, it explains in non-technical fashion the Transportation Act of 1920, and its effect on the future of the roads.
The investment opportunities in the standard dividend-paying rails and equipments are also clearly outlined. Practical suggestions are given to enable the investor to benefit through present conditions. Dividend return plus possibilities of market appreciation have determined the choice of the stock presented.
Every holder of rail and equipment stocks—every individual considering their purchase—and every person scanning the market for unusual investment opportunities, is cordially invited to write for this complete digest.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday.....8 per cent. for the best names
Tuesday.......8 per cent. for the best names
The quotations are for six months' paper.

Small Sales of Gray Goods.

No signs of an improvement in gray goods are seen, and what business is being done is limited to spots. There were some sales made yesterday of 60-64s at 16 cents for spot delivery and 60-48s were sold at 12½ cents. In the sheeting division, sales of 36-inch 4 yard 56-60s were made at 16 cents. Thirty-six inch 4.70 yard goods were taken at 14½ cents. Otherwise, the market was dull, with no indication of a brisker demand.

***

Airplane Propellers Offered.

A firm which bought a large number of airplane propellers from the Government is now offering them for decorative purposes at $35 each for single blade types and $50 for the double blade types. Samples are now being exhibited. The propellers are suggested for use as hall or mantel decorations. Clocks can also be mounted in the aperture of the propeller. The propellers are constructed of laminations of mahogany or walnut, rubbed to a mirror-like finish, varnished and tipped with copper sheathing. They run from eight to ten feet in length.

***

Good Call for Teak Furniture.

This past Summer has been one of the biggest for the sale of teakwood furniture that there has been for years, according to one in the trade. There seems to be no especial reason for this unless it is that people have the money to spend. Teak makes a good filling furniture for a house. Except for a very rare Chinese room, no one thinks of using anything in the nature of a set of teakwood furniture, but it fits in excellently for an occasional piece, which is what the average householder who has a house filled with furniture likes to get once in a while.

***

Change in Shoe Styles.

In the effort to stimulate business, and particularly on the higher priced lines, the shoe manufacturers have been preparing new styles. These will shortly be offered to the retailers. The chief change in women's boots is in their height, and the newest designs will be ten inches high. In slippers the manufacturers believe the tendency is toward the use of unusual colors and novel fastenings will be "played up." The manufacturers of women's shoes are co-operating with the dressmakers. The latter have introduced short skirts and consequently a vogue for higher shoes is promised.

***

Readjusted Woolen Prices.

In the readjustment of woolen prices for the Spring season piece goods buyers foresee some radical changes. Many sellers who put up their prices at every whisper of a market advance got their quotations into ranges considerably above where they belonged. Thus, it is said cassimeres of inferior quality were selling at $3.75 a yard when they should have been priced at $1 to $1.50 a yard less in comparison with the better makes. For this reason buyers do not expect extreme reductions on well made fabrics, but think that concessions on other materials may in some cases cut former values in half.

***

Small Fans Again on Sale.

Small fans are creeping into the market again. The Oriental paper ones in pretty colors and designs which could be found at all the department stores and in Chinese and Japanese shops at one time, during the war practically dropped out of sight. Almost no fans were shown except expensive ones of ostrich feathers for dress occasions. This year, there is a fairly good showing, though at higher prices than before, and next year they will be found in greater numbers. Most of the fans come from Canton, which is the centre for the manufacture of the old-time palm-leaf fan.

Contrasts in Apparel.

There will be great contrasts in wearing apparel this coming season. Garments and trimmings of the quietest colors are to be seen on the one hand and the most brilliant gayety on the other. Wreaths of flowers shown for hat trimming are of the latter order. In a single wreath will be combined every color of the rainbow, with metal threads of silver and gold, some of the petals and leaves being all of the metal, producing a brilliant effect. A few wreaths are of flowers in a single color, showing the metal threads. One of these of a soft warm blue is combined with silver. This is one of the quiet effects. Bunches of velvet grapes for hat trimmings are of a bright orange, but they are not as aggressive as it might seem, for the fruit is small.

Drug Prices Still Falling.

Prices of crude drugs continued to fall during the week, and no advances were registered in the dyestuffs market. The demand for fine chemicals, according to Drug and Chemical Markets, is at low ebb and few price changes were recorded. Among the drugs that declined were balsam Peru, bayberry bark, cuttlefish bone, celery seed, poppy seed, caraway and all mustards. Acid H, aniline salt, benzidine sulphate, dimethylaniline and paratoluidine were some of the dyes that receded in price. Producers, however, have advanced ammonia water, calcium chloride, sodium bisulphite and salsoda. Lower prices prevail for acetic anhydride and bromine. Bleaching powder, caustic soda and soda ash are reported scarce and strong.

Garment Research Work.

The Advisory Board of the Bureau of Factory Practice and Industrial Relations of the International Association of Garment Manufacturers will hold a meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the rooms of the association to formulate plans for the further development of its schedule of industrial research. Arthur Schwab, manager of the bureau, will report the results of his recent investigation of plants throughout the country. The Uniform Cost Accounting Committee of the association will also meet at the same time. The committee, which has been working out standardized cost accounting methods, will appoint a firm of accountants to consider the data received from members for the purpose of planning a system most adaptable to all interests.

DRESSES—Buyers, if you wish to make your purchases of tricotine dresses with safety and satisfaction come to tricotine dress headquarters and make your selections from a very extensive and wonderfully varied line, ranging in price from $9.75 to $35, right on the racks for immediate delivery. We particularly wish you to see the wonderful value in our tricotine dress at $9.75, which has become a "Buyword" among buyers who know. By the same token its success has developed a host of imitators who are offering a tricotine dress somewhat lower in price, but also somewhat lower in quality. On the contrary, our $9.75 dress is refreshingly original in design, faultless in workmanship, elaborately embroidered and fashioned from Dobson's guaranteed all-wool tricotine, No. 107. Value like this should justify the most critical buyer to come to our showroom to see them. Brodie Siegel Co., 52 West 27th.

DRESSES—For Autumn. No matter what the woman's buying attitude will be during the Fall and Winter season, Klif dresses will overcome all resistance and will score a big hit for two basic reasons: (a) They are exquisitely styled and admirably well made of the finest charmeuse, tricotine and satin; (b) we offer them to you at just cost plus 5%. Hence we say—for the most wonderful frocks at the most alluring prices, come to Klif Dress Co., 28 West 27th St.

DRESSES—$13.75; liberal orders placed on our dresses show an unmistakable appreciation of their splendid quality and attractive price; you'll find our showroom a busy place; buyers realize that our offerings are the result of a supreme effort to lower prices to a level attractive to consumers; call, you'll see for yourself. M. Kirschner & Sons, 16 East 33d.

PATENT APPLICATIONS GROW

Increase 19,000 in Year—Office Nets Its First Surplus.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Patent applications filed with the Patent Office during the last fiscal year showed the greatest increase in the history of the country, totaling 81,984, as compared with 62,755 for the preceding year.

The report of the Commissioner of Patents made public today by Secretary Payne also showed that business of the Patent Office was further swelled by an increase of about 10,000 in the number of applications for registration of trade-marks and labels.

Patents granted and trade-marks and labels registered totaled 47,409, an increase of 4,056 over the preceding year. For the first time since 1917 Patent Office receipts, including application fees, exceeded expenditures, the net surplus for the year being $2,615,000.

ANSWERS W. M. WOOD.

Manufacturer Resents What He Said on Clothing Prices.

Eli Strouse, President of the National Association of Clothiers, received no response yesterday to a telegram sent to William M. Wood of the American Woolen Company, calling upon the latter to correct a recent statement so as to absolve the clothing manufacturers and retailers of blame in connection with high prices. Mr. Strouse took exception to Mr. Wood's announcement that clothing, but not cloth, would be cheaper next Spring. This was characterized as a "most unwarranted statement, which can only add to an already much aggravated condition in our industry." Continuing, he said:

"By the unknowing public the inference might easily be drawn that clothing manufacturers and retailers generally have profiteered, and that the textile industry has no responsibility whatsoever for high prices of clothing.

"All branches of our industry have been met by economic conditions that have caused much higher costs and therefore require justifiably higher prices. A statement such as that reported as coming from you is unjust and not warranted under the circumstances and should be explained immediately.

"The manufacturers' Executive Committee passed resolutions recently asking an investigation by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States to the end that the public may have its findings and be informed of the true conditions.

"There is nothing in the situation that I can see that will contribute to lower prices for the Fall season about to open with the retailers, in view of the fact that all commitments have been made for Fall clothing, much of which is already manufactured and shipped on a basis of a much bigger cost than last season.

"As to the price of Spring clothing, that will all depend on the future trend of raw materials and the cost of same at their various sources and stages of manufacture, right through to the finished suit, and in this labor must do its share if the public is to have cheaper clothing for the Spring of 1921.

"Everything should be done now to keep the wheels of industry moving, and no statements made from any source calculated, even though unintentionally, to mislead the public. In my official capacity as President of the National Association of Clothiers, and in justice to the retailers and manufacturer alike, I cannot let your statement go unanswered or unchallenged and I feel constrained to send you this message and at the same time to say to you that I do not think that it is your intention to give the impression that either the retailer or manufacturer of clothing, generally, has it in his power to control the so-called high prices."

SAYS EUROPE WANTS FURS.

Head of Sales Company Asserts Dealers Expect Brisk Trade.

Increased numbers of European buyers of furs are expected in America, according to Norman H. Bacon, President of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation, who arrived in New York yesterday on the Mobile. He spent two and a half months in the principal fur centres of Europe, including London, Paris, The Hague, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Berlin and Leipsic.

In reviewing the situation, Mr. Bacon pointed out that European buyers had not taken any conspicuous part in the recent speculation among some fur dealers and consequently are in a strong financial position and ready to meet the growing demand for fur articles.

"While the fur trade in Europe is quiet at present," he said, "this is natural at this season of the year and the retailers are looking forward to a brisk Fall and Winter business. With the growth of confidence, which is now returning to the American trade, a resumption of business on a normal plane is close at hand. America must lead the way in fixing values. London, Paris and Leipsic are all looking to America. They are all in a comparatively strong situation as they were not large buyers at the high Winter prices, nor have they been so severely pressed by the restrictions of credits. Their confidence in the market can only be restored by the assurance of the absence of speculation.

"The trade can expect the entry of Europe as a purchaser to an extent that will be largely governed by the rates of exchange. Business in New York is showing a decided improvement compared with the last report which I received while I was in Europe and it is now apparent that the crisis in the fur trade is passed."

U. S. CARTRIDGE SILK CONTRACT IMPERILED

Government Considers Cancellation Because of Slowness of Fabric's Sale.

LITTLE HEADWAY IS MADE

Price Too High for Unsettled Condition of Market, Says Irving T. Bush.

Referring to a dispatch from Washington stating that cancellation of the War Department contracts with the Bush Terminal Company of this city for the disposal of 10,000,000 yards of cartridge cloth is a possibility because of the slow progress made by the company in selling the cloth, Irving T. Bush yesterday explained his company's position.

"While the Bush Terminal Company has an interest in the contract," said Mr. Bush, "with the United States Government for the disposal of the cartridge silk left over from the war, it is not charged with the responsibility of selling the merchandise. The sales campaign has been entirely in the hands of the McLane Silk Company, which is one of the parties to the contract with the Government. I do not know how much of the silk has been sold, but, in view of the conditions of the silk market during the last few months, I should judge the amount is not large.

"I have several times expressed the opinion to the officials in Washington having to do with the contract that the price fixed by the Government was too high to permit the sale of the silk under present conditions, and I have stated that the chief interest of the Bush Terminal Company is to render some service to the Government and we are ready to retire from the contract any time it seems desirable from the Government's standpoint.

"The authorities in Washington understand our position and, I am quite certain, recognize that little headway could be made in view of the unsettled conditions in the whole textile market. I am quite certain that they do not blame either this company or the McLane Silk Company for conditions which they recognize are entirely beyond our control."

Following the contract to sell the cartridge silks a style show indicating the many uses to which the silk could be put was held in the Bush Terminal Building. Previously the Government had negotiated with various concerns in the silk industry to convert the war material into goods suitable for civilian use. Doubt was expressed in several quarters that this could be succesfully done, although when the silk was finally placed on sale some buyers were satisfied that they could use it. The wholesale prices, however, ranged from $1.67½ to $3.50 a yard and were considered rather high. But, in view of the converting costs, no way was seen to bring them down unless the War Department reduced its price.

RULES ON STOCK DIVIDENDS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—A ruling was handed down today by Paul F. Myers, Acting Commissioner of Internal Revenue, which is intended to meet the Supreme Court decision in the case of Eisner vs. Macomber, in which the court held that stock dividends were not a taxable income. The Government maintains in the ruling its position that, under certain conditions, the tax attaches even in the case of stock dividends.

The ruling, which was addressed to Collectors of Internal Revenue and others concerned, is as follows:

"Stock received as a dividend does not constitute taxable income to the stockholder, but any profit derived by the stockholder from the sale of such stock is taxable income to him. For the purpose of ascertaining the gain or loss derived from the sale of such stock, or from the sale of the stock with respect to which it is issued, the cost (used to include also, where required, the fair market value as of March 1, 1913) of both the old and new shares is to be determined in accordance with the following rules:

"(1) Where the stock issued as a dividend is all of substantially the same character or preference as the stock upon which the stock dividend is paid, the cost of each share of both the old and new stock will be the quotient of the cost, or fair market value as of March 1, 1913, if acquired prior to that date, of the old shares of stock divided by the total number of the old and new shares.

"(2) Where the stock issued as a dividend is in whole or in part of a character or preference materially different from the stock upon which the stock dividend is paid, cost, or fair market value as of March 1, 1913, if acquired prior to that date, of the old shares of stock shall be divided between such old stock and the new stock, or classes of new stock, in proportion, as nearly as may be, to the respective values of each class of stock, old and new, at the time the new shares of stock are issued, and the cost of each share of stock will be the quotient of the cost of the class to which such share belongs divided by the number of shares in that class.

"(3) Where the stock with respect to which a stock dividend is issued was purchased at different times, and at different prices, and the identity of the lots cannot be determined, any sale of the original stock will be charged to the earlier purchase of stocks (See Article 39), and any sale of dividend stock issued with respect to such stock will be presumed to have been made from the stock issued with respect to the earliest purchased stock, to the amount of the dividend chargeable to such stock."

BIG ALTERATIONS PLANNED.

McKenzie, Voorhees & Gmelin, architects, have filed plans for making extensive alterations to the three-story exchange building of the New York Telephone Company at the northwest corner of Convent Avenue and 146th Street. The alterations, in the main, consist of adding one story and building a four-story rear extension, at an estimated cost of $600,000.

The six-story factory at 446 to 454 West Thirty-first Street is to be enlarged to a twelve-story building for the Castle Realty Company, at an estimated cost of $250,000. George F. Pelham is the architect.

Plans have also been filed for installing a swimming pool on the ground floor of the two-story and gallery church and making into a two-story gallery and parich house the church building of the Roman Catholic Church of the Ascension, at 12 to 16 West 108th Street, at an estimated cost of $30,000. W. A. Anthony is the architect.

Recent Buyers.

The Dormond Realty Company, Simon Myers, President, is the buyer of the three-story dwelling at 51 West 97th Street, sold recently by Norma Winch.

Margaret J. Kenrick is the buyer of the five-story apartment bought recently by Alfred M. Rau through the Haggstrom-Callen Company.

Albany Flats in New Deal.

The old Albany Apartments, occupying the block front on the west side of Broadway, between Fifty-first and Fifty-second Streets, are to be taken over by the 1,657 Broadway Corporation, T. L. Cunningham, President, formed at Albany, with a capital of $12,500. The two other Directors are A. L. and F. L. Cook.

The property consists of a five-story structure with stores, on a plot fronting 201 feet on Broadway and 108 feet on each street. Last January the Melville Shoe Corporation, under the title of the R-W Realty Corporation, secured a lease of the property from the Emery estate for twenty-one years, with the privilege of renewals, the aggregate rental approximating several millions.

TENANTS PURCHASE HARLEM HOUSES

BUYERS ON THE HEIGHTS

Other Properties Acquired on the Upper West Side and the East Side.

Seven private houses grouped at the southeast corner of Lexington Avenue and 118th Street were bought by tenants yesterday, further emphasizing the steady growth of the home ownership movement in New York City.

Similar deals were closed in other parts of the city, notably on the upper west side, where there has been a well-maintained demand for private houses for a long time.

The Greenwich Savings Bank was the seller of the Harlem group. Each house on the Lexington Avenue frontage is three stories in height and covers a lot 16.8 by 67.9. Dr. Francis Johnson bought No. 1,885, Peter Spengler No. 1,887, Nellie Clancy No. 1,889, and Dr. John A. Beuermann No. 1,891. The same buyer also purchased the abutting dwelling at 152 East 118th Street, also three stories in height and covering a lot 25 by 100.11.

The house at No. 1893 Lexington avenue was bought by Mrs. E. Hamann and the corner, No. 1895, by Henry Hof. Bastine & Co. negotiated the various transactions.

Porter & Co. sold for Lillie M. Knapp to Laura E. Walker the three-story dwelling at 224 West 132d Street.

Shaw & Co. sold for Irving Miller 12 East 127th Street, a three-story dwelling, 20 by 99.11.

Ryan & Co. sold for John P. Martin of Yonkers, N. Y., the three-story dwelling on lot 18.9 by 100, at 628 West 158th Street, held at $18,000. The buyer is Mrs. E. Krull, who will occupy.

Antonio Pagano bought from Maria S. Simpson the three-story house, 18 by 98.9, at 359 West Thirtieth Street.

The two four-story dwellings, on plot 49.6 by 99.11, at 322 and 324 West 145th Street have been sold by the Service Realty Company to Anna Cutlove and Lena Levinstein.

Lillias Piper bought from H. A. Rubenstein the three-story dwelling, 20 by 100.5, at 64 West Fifty-second Street.

Hannah C. Peterson bought from Walter J. Joyce the three story dwelling, 16.8 by 58, at 57 Prospect Place, near Forty-third Street.

The Upholsterers' Holding Corporation bought from August F. Schmid 230 East Fifty-eighth Street, a three-story dwelling, 20 by 100.5.

Erastus B. Treat sold to Eugene H. Hickox 948 St. Nicholas Avenue, a three-story dwelling, 16.7 by 59.5.

Nady Brody bought from Dora Weisinger 128 West 120th Street, a three-story dwelling, 19 by 100.11.

The two three-story dwellings, on plot 33.4 by 94.11, at 661 and 663 West 187th Street have been purchased by Andrew Guidone and another from Lizzie Van Boskerck and another, executrices.

Places $130,000 Loan.

Charles B. Van Valen placed for Henry Allen a loan of $130,000 on 119 Fulton Street, running through to 50 Ann Street. The plot is improved with a new seven-story store and office building. Mr. Allen had intended to occupy the building previous to his purchase of his present location at 136 William Street.

TENEMENTS IN DEMAND.

Small Investors Active on Both East and West Sides.

Small tenements were an important feature of yesterday's realty market, the majority of the properties being purchased by investors. On the west side Minnie Rutheiser sold to Palzor Feinstein 650 West 171st Street, a five-story apartment building, on a plot 71.6 by 95.

The five-story apartment house, on a plot 57 by 100, at 503 and 505 West 178th Street, has been purchased by Ray Streep from Gustave Halpern.

The five-story flat, 25 by 98.9, at 454 West Twenty-seventh Street, has been sold by Henrietta Cahn to Albert Strunsky.

Among the more important east side sales were the following: Jacob Metsch sold to William H. Brew the four-story flat, 21 by 84, at 204 East Thirty-eighth Street.

The six-story tenement, on a plot 37.6 by 100.11, at 205 East 103d Street, has been purchased by Morris and Bessie Utkewitz from Libby Sobel.

The two and one six-story tenements, on a plot 100 by 92, at 335 to 341 East Sixteenth Street, have been sold by Edward H. Landon to the 335 West Sixteenth Street Corporation.

D. Glaser sold to Joseph Hamerslag the five-story flat, 24.9 by 92.1, at 625 East Sixth Street.

R. Angell resold for a client of E. Fixman, attorney, to Samuel Horowitz, the five-story front and four-story rear tenements at 50 Ridge Street, 25 by 100, near Delancey Street. The buyer will modernize the property. The seller recently acquired the property from Amelia M. Bauchle.

Adds to Realty Holdings.

The Pictorial Review has added another parcel to its holdings on West Thirty-ninth Street, just west of Seventh Avenue. The publishing company acquired in the name of Herman B. Goodstein, who has acted for the concern in previous realty deals, from Margaret Orton and others the three-story building at 228 West Thirty-ninth Street, 20.7 by 98.9. It adjoins the older Pictorial Review Building at 216 to 226 West Thirty-ninth Street. The new structure of the Review is on the Seventh Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street corner.

The Dormond Realty Company, Simon Myers President, resold through Hall J. How & Co. to the Setag Realty and Trading Company the two-story business building at 128 West Fifty-second Street, on a lot 25 by 100.5. The sellers recently acquired the property from the Columbia Trust Company.

New $1,500,000 Bronx School.

The Board of Education has approved plans for a new elementary school to be erected at the corner of Dawson Street and Rogers Place, the Bronx, to cost $1,500,000.

The building will accommodate 3,000 children, having forty-eight classrooms, and will contain a playground and gymnasium. The auditorium will seat 900 persons and will be one of the largest in the Bronx.

NEW GOLD STREET PROJECT.

Tall Building Planned for Offices and Clubrooms.

A sixteen-story reinforced concrete building is to be constructed at 98 to 102 Gold Street and 49 to 53 Frankfort Street, southeast corner, by the Hide and Leather Realty Company, Louis J. Robertson, President, which has awarded the general contract to Thompson Binger, Inc. It will cover an irregular plot of 69.10 by 74.5 feet and will be 189 feet high. The cost has been estimated at $525,000.

The first six floors will be used for office purposes, and the sixth to fifteenth floors will be used for lofts and offices. The Hide and Leather Club will take over the sixteenth floor for clubrooms.

Brooklyn House Buyers.

Edward Kegel sold the two-family brick house at 167 East Third Street, near Caton Avenue, for Edward Foster and Anna Foster to a client for investment.

J. Lacov sold for Oscar Sherman to Yetta Wisser for occupancy a two-family house with garage at 1,778 Forty-ninth Street. The plot is 37.6 by 100, being the northwest corner of Eighteenth Avenue. The property was held at $26,500.

Baffa & Dixon sold for Rieber & Millerman a plot at the corner of Lee Avenue and Wallabout Street, containing about 12,000 square feet, to the Kings Land Company, which is preparing plans for the erection of a garage.

Queens Borough Transactions.

F. W. Scutt & Co. sold a new residence at Addisleigh to S. Travers Smith, of Patchogue, L. I.; also two lots on the north side of Fulton Street, between Avalon and Hilldale avenues, Jamaica, to M. Diezendorf, who will erect a business building.

The Lewis H. May Co. has resold for the Four "S" Corporation the Marsden property at the northwest corner of Franklin and Cornaga avenues, Far Rockaway, to H. Bloch. The property consists of a two and one-half-story dwelling, on a plot 117 by 104, and was held at $20,000.

Clinton Trading Corporation sold the former I. S. Remson development known as Harbor Haven, on Jamaica Bay. It is understood that the purchasers intend making numerous improvements.

Sales in the Bronx.

The Tremont Realty Agency sold for Gussie Gross the two-family house at 1,304 Shakespeare Avenue and also for Jennie E. Wiley the one-family house at 1,741 Sedgwick Avenue.

Patrick Holland resold the dwelling at 313 East 136th Street to Mary Walsh of Stamford, Conn., who will occupy.

S. KLIEGER, INC., manufacturer and dealer in meat products at 118 East 112th St., has made an assignment to Peter Alpern. The company was incorporated in 1919. Fannie Klieger is President.

SAMUEL ROSENBERG—Judge Mayer has appointed William Weiss receiver for Samuel Rosenberg, doing business as Universal Silk Underwear Company at 38 West Twenty-first Street. Liabilities are given at $5,000 and assets at $2,000.

EDWIN N. APPLETON, INC., broker and dealer in paper stock at 280 Broadway and 34 Beach Street, has filed schedules showing liabilities of $89,114 and assets of $53,745, consisting of stock, $43,340; fixtures, $250; accounts, $8,372; claim against an express company for goods lost in transit, $1,768, and cash in bank, $15. Appleton, Inc., published military books. Among those who are in the list of creditors are: Herman A. Metz, $47,637, for money loaned; Quinn & Boden, Rahway, $3,130; McConville Printing Company, $10,534; Army and Navy Register, Washington, $513; United States Infantry Association, Washington, $23; Navy and Marine Press, $27; American Scout, $50; Camp Officers' Exchange, Camp Upton, $93; Wireless Press, $27.

JOSEPH WEISS, dealer in dry goods at 1,534 Second Avenue, has filed schedules showing liabilities of $9,684 and as assets, stock, $2,500, and fixtures, $500, which have been sold at auction for $1,100.

EDWARD KRUGMAN, Inc.—Judge Mayer has confirmed a composition of Edward Krugman, Inc., manufacturer of waists at 42 East Thirty-fourth Street, with creditors at 25 cents on the dollar, payable 5 cents cash and 20 cents in notes at three, five, seven and nine months.

SAMUEL ELBERGER—Judge Mayer has confirmed a composition of Samuel Elberger, trading as the Fidelity Waist Company at 148 West Twenty-fourth Street, with creditors at 30 cents on the dollar, payable 15 cents cash and 15 cents in notes at three, six and twelve months.

CHARLES M. KATZ—Judge Mayer has confirmed a composition of Charles M. Katz, trading as the Lafayette Fashion Shop, at 25 cents on the dollar, payable 15 cents cash and 10 cents in notes at six months.

MILLER & SCHENCK—Judge Mayer has confirmed a composition of Miller & Schenck, dealers in women's apparel at 58 West 125th Street and 2,196 Third Avenue, with creditors at 25 cents on the dollar.

DISCHARGES FROM BANKRUPTCY.

Judge Mayer, in the United States District Court, yesterday, granted discharges to these bankrupts: Meyer Mintz, of 64 East Eighth Street and 71 Goerck Street, who had a contract with the United States Government for khaki pants; David Levy, business broker, 1,476 Broadway; Jacob H. Baron, hairdresser, of 49 East Twenty-eighth Street; John H. C. Dodt, 401 Tremont Avenue; David H. Zell, as the North American Leather Goods Company, 532 Broadway, and George H. Lundy of Kingston.

EVA G. FITZWATERS—Judge Mayer has granted a motion for the receiver of Eva G. Fitzwaters, doing business as the Gray Tone Shop, to accept the bill of Mabel Carter to purchase the assets for 25 cents on the dollar of liabilities.

APARTMENTS in Suites of 6 and 7 rooms are offered on the TENANT-OWNERSHIP PLAN from $11,500 to $17,500. On the payment of 5 YEARS' RENTAL in advance Tenant-Owners can "purchase" a one-twelfth ownership with every possible assurance of no assessments or rental during this period.

Your investment will increase as the mortgages are reduced from the income derived from the rented apartments. In after years, your apartment may be sold or rented as desired.

One-half of the available apartments have already been sold to a conservative group of tenant-owners.

RENTS are REASONABLE.

MORTGAGES run for 10 years.

OCEAN FREIGHTS DROP AS EXPORTS SLUMP

Freight managers of several Atlantic steamship lines said yesterday that the falling off in exports, owing to the high rate of exchange against Europe, had caused a big drop in rates and they would go still lower. The United States Shipping Board has laid up 300 of its vessels because the rates for freight are so low that the steamships cannot be operated at a profit. In spite of the fall in freights they are still considerably higher than they were before the war, but the margin for profit, after paying the operating expenses, is narrow, the manager said.

Oscar Cauchois, general manager of the French Line, declined yesterday to confirm or deny a printed statement circulated among exporters and shippers that it did not work with other lines and was prepared to cut rates.

Managers of other steamship lines said that the French Line always worked independently in the freight trade in and out of New York and cut the rates or increased them when the managers of the company felt like it.

The steamship lines, with their present high wages, cost of fuel and upkeep generally, do not wish for any rate-cutting war to come along just as they are getting in this year's abundant crops.

Flour is being carried to Europe now at 45 cents per 100 pounds, while it cost a dollar for the same transportation six months ago. The freight rates on all foodstuffs have been lowered. Steel rates have dropped from $16 to $8 per ton.

Managers of the International Mercantile Marine Co., 9 Broadway, said there was no rate war, as it would be a suicidal course for the steamships to take. They said the rates were getting back to normal condition, where they were before the war in 1914.

Regan Indictment Dismissed.

Judge Wadhams in General Sessions dismissed an indictment yesterday against Peter Regan, whose correct name is said to be James Ryan, charging attempted forgery by indorsing travelers' checks valued at $250, which he had obtained from Robert G. Hamilton of San Francisco. Regan was waiting a second trial, a jury having disagreed in the first. Hamilton, a former employee of the Federal Government, failed to appear. Regan is said to be a brother of a New York police lieutenant.

MERCER

When the holes are many, the ruts deep, and the road shocks severe what feature of design does most to minimize the jar to human nerves? A chassis of the proper height.

When the coach builder undertakes to design a body for the utmost passenger comfort what foundation does he need above all others? A chassis of the proper height.

A chassis of the proper height for these purposes will always be a chassis with a low centre of gravity, which, strange to say, is a consideration only rarely valued at full weight in designing cars of the Mercer class.

The Mercer centre of gravity is low. Watch the Mercer hug a rough road surface. Watch its action when the streets are wet. Study its lines, test its seating comfort.
